The bill amends s. 379.4015, F.S., to make multiple corresponding and substantive changes to enhance certain penalties related to certain reptiles. Specifically, the bill amends:

- Section 379.4015(2)(a)2. and 3., F.S., to specifically exclude venomous reptiles and nonnative venomous reptiles from certain Level Two violations.

There is no reported Fiscal Impact from the bill. See Section V. Fiscal Impact.

The bill becomes effective July 1, 2023.

II. Present Situation:

Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) is responsible for regulating, managing, protecting, and conserving the state's fish and wildlife resources.<sup>7</sup> FWC is governed by a board of seven members who are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Florida Senate.<sup>8</sup> Under Article IV, Section 9 of the Florida Constitution, FWC has the authority to exercise the regulatory and executive powers of the state with respect to wild animal life, fresh water aquatic life, and marine life.

Nonnative Reptiles in Florida

Many nonnative species in Florida do not cause problems in the state, however some can become invasive.<sup>9</sup> Invasive species are nonnative species that cause harm to the economy, environment, or human health.<sup>10</sup> In many cases, invasive species may threaten native species, biodiversity, ecosystem services, recreation, water resources, agricultural and forest production, cultural resources, economies and property values, public safety, and infrastructure.<sup>11</sup>

<sup>4</sup> A second degree misdemeanor is punishable by up to 60 days in the county jail and a $500 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

<sup>5</sup> A first degree misdemeanor is punishable by up to 1 year in the county jail and a $1,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

<sup>6</sup> A third degree felony is punishable by up to five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. Sections 775.082 and 775.083, F.S.

Nonnative reptiles in Florida include many species of crocodylians, turtles, snakes, geckos, iguanas and relatives, monitors, skinks and girdled lizards, and whiptails and wall lizards.<sup>12</sup> Scientists estimated in 2015 that there were at least 63 established species of nonnative reptiles and amphibians in Florida, including 48 species of lizards, 4 frogs, 5 turtles, 5 snakes, and 1 crocodylian.<sup>13</sup>

Early invasive reptiles in Florida included small-bodied lizards and frogs that were early-maturing insectivores and were strongly associated with people and disturbed habitats.<sup>14</sup> These were mostly introduced through cargo and included the Cuban tree frog, brown anole, northern curly-tailed lizard, and Mediterranean gecko. Newer invasive reptiles tend to be large-bodied lizards and snakes. They are relatively early-maturing prolific breeders, are predators of vertebrate prey, and they thrive in a wide range of habitats. These newer invasive reptiles were mostly introduced through the pet trade and include the Burmese python, black spiny-tailed iguana, Argentine black and white tegu, and Nile monitor.<sup>15</sup>

Native Venomous Reptiles in Florida

There are six venomous reptiles – all snakes – native to Florida.<sup>16</sup> These snakes are the pygmy rattlesnake, eastern diamondback rattlesnake, timber (or canebrake) rattlesnake, cottonmouth, copperhead, and eastern coral snake. Distributions of these snakes in Florida are as follows:

- Cottonmouths and eastern diamondback rattlesnakes are found throughout the state;
- Pygmy rattlesnakes are distributed throughout the state except for the Florida Keys;
- Eastern coral snakes are found throughout the state except for the southern Keys; and
- Timber rattlesnakes and copperheads are only found in parts of the Panhandle.<sup>17</sup>

Florida Regulations of Captive Reptiles

Under Florida statute, no person may capture, keep, possess, or exhibit any poisonous or venomous reptile or reptile of concern without first having obtained a special permit or license from FWC.<sup>18</sup> It is unlawful for any person, whether licensed or not, to capture, keep, possess, or exhibit any venomous reptile or reptile of concern in any manner not approved as safe, secure, and proper. FWC may inspect venomous reptiles or reptiles of concern that are held in captivity to determine whether they are safely and properly penned. If they are not safely and properly penned, the situation must be corrected within 30 days or the violator risks license or permit revocation.

The Florida Statutes prohibit keeping, possessing, importing into the state, selling, bartering, trading, or breeding the following species except for educational, research, eradication, or control purposes:

- Burmese or Indian python (Python molurus),
- Reticulated python (Python reticulatus),
- Northern African python (Python sebae),
- Southern African python (Python natalensis),
- Amethystine or scrub python (Morelia amethystinus),
- Green Anaconda (Eunectes murinus),
- Nile monitor (Varanus niloticus),
- Green iguana (Iguana iguana),
- Tegú lizard (any species of the genera Salvator or Tupinambis), and
- Any other reptile FWC designates as a conditional or prohibited species.<sup>19</sup>

A person who holds a permit issued before July 1, 2010, to legally possess one of the species listed above may possess such reptile for the remainder of its life.<sup>20</sup> If the reptile outlives the person, the reptile may be legally transferred to another entity holding a permit authorizing possession of the reptile for the remainder of its life.<sup>21</sup>

If FWC designates a species of reptile as a conditional or prohibited species after July 1, 2010, FWC may authorize the personal possession of that newly designated species by those licensed to possess it before the effective date of the species' designation.<sup>22</sup>

Currently, FWC does not list reptiles of concern, and former reptiles of concern have been listed as prohibited species since April 29, 2021.<sup>23</sup> The conditional nonnative species list only contains one reptile, the red-eared slider (Trachemys scripta elegans).<sup>24</sup>

Venomous Reptile Permit

The venomous reptile permit issued by FWC authorizes personal possession and exhibition of the venomous reptile family for which the permittee is approved.<sup>25</sup> The permit costs $100. To qualify for a venomous reptile permit, an applicant must meet certain experience requirements, must be at least 18 years old, and must not have been convicted of:

- A violation of captive wildlife regulations;
- A violation involving the illegal commercialization of wildlife;
- A violation involving cruelty to animals; or
- A violation involving importation of animals within three years of the date of application.

Applicants must also provide two references from individuals with firsthand knowledge of their experience. The individuals must be licensed by FWC for venomous reptiles of the same family for which the applicant is seeking authorization or must be a representative of a professional organization or governmental institution which deals directly with venomous reptiles.

Additional permits are required for the importation of nonnative venomous reptiles and the sale of all venomous reptiles.<sup>26</sup>
