I. Summary:

SJR 1510 proposes an amendment to the Florida Constitution to allow the Legislature to provide the same homestead exemption and Save Our Homes benefits for additional properties subject to residential leases of 6 months or more which are owned by homesteaders already receiving those benefits on their permanent residences.

The Revenue Estimating Conference has not adopted an impact estimate for this bill.

If adopted by the Legislature, the proposed amendment will be submitted to Florida’s electors for approval or rejection at the next general election in November 2026.

If approved by at least 60 percent of the electors, the proposed amendment will take effect on January 1, 2027.

II. Present Situation:

General Overview of Property Taxation

The ad valorem tax or “property tax” is an annual tax levied by counties, municipalities, school districts, and some special districts. The tax is based on the taxable value of a property as of January 1 of each year.¹ The property appraiser annually determines the “just value”² of property

¹ Both real property and tangible personal property are subject to tax. Section 192.001(12), F.S., defines “real property” as land, buildings, fixtures, and all other improvements to land. Section 192.001(11)(d), F.S., defines “tangible personal property” as all goods, chattels, and other articles of value capable of manual possession and whose chief value is intrinsic to the article itself.

² Property must be valued at “just value” for purposes of property taxation, unless the Florida Constitution provides otherwise. FLA. CONST. Art VII, s. 4. Just value has been interpreted by the courts to mean the fair market value that a willing buyer would pay a willing seller for the property in an arm’s-length transaction. See, e.g., Walter v. Schuler, 176 So. 2d 81 within the taxing authority and then applies relevant exclusions, assessment limitations, and exemptions to determine the property's "taxable value."³ The state constitution prohibits the state from levying ad valorem taxes⁴ and it limits the Legislature's authority to provide for property valuations at less than just value, unless expressly authorized.⁵

Homestead Property Tax Exemptions

Every person having legal or equitable title to real estate and who maintains a permanent residence on the real estate is deemed to establish homestead property. Homestead property is eligible for a $25,000 tax exemption applicable to all ad valorem tax levies, including levies by school districts.⁶ An additional exemption applies to homestead property value between $50,000 and $75,000. This exemption is adjusted annually for inflation from the 2024 value of $25,000 and does not apply to ad valorem taxes levied by school districts.⁷

Section 196.012(17), F.S., defines permanent residence to mean the "place where a person has his or her true, fixed, and permanent home and principal establishment to which, whenever absent, he or she has the intention of returning. A person may have only one permanent residence at a time. . . ."

Save Our Homes Homestead Assessment Limitation and Portability

In 1992, Florida voters approved the Save Our Homes amendment to the Florida Constitution.⁸ The Save Our Homes assessment limitation limits the amount that a homestead property's assessed value may increase annually to the lesser of 3 percent or the percentage increase in the Consumer Price Index.⁹ The accumulated difference between the assessed value and the just value is the Save Our Homes benefit. The Save Our Homes assessment limitation is considered portable because a homestead property owner may transfer this benefit when moving from one homestead property to another.¹⁰

Rental of Homestead Property

Section 196.012(13), F.S., provides that " '[r]eal estate used and owned as a homestead' means real property to the extent provided in s. 6(a), Art. VII of the State Constitution, but less any portion thereof used for commercial purposes, with the title of such property being recorded in the official records of the county in which the property is located. Property rented for more than 6 months is presumed to be used for commercial purposes.”¹¹

Both the homestead property tax exemption and the Save Our Homes assessment limitation may be lost by a property owner that abandons homestead property. Failure to maintain a homestead property as a permanent residence may constitute abandonment under certain circumstances.¹² Section 196.061(1), F.S., describes when renting a homestead property constitutes abandonment:

“The rental of all or substantially all of a dwelling previously claimed to be a homestead for tax purposes shall constitute the abandonment of such dwelling as a homestead, and the abandonment continues until the dwelling is physically occupied by the owner. However, such abandonment of the homestead after January 1 of any year does not affect the homestead exemption for tax purposes for that particular year unless the property is rented for more than 30 days per calendar year for 2 consecutive years.”

Assessment of Nonhomestead Property

Sections 4(g) and (h), Art. VII, of the Florida Constitution were created in January 2008, when Florida electors voted to provide an assessment limitation for residential real property containing nine or fewer units, and for all real property not subject to other specified classes or uses, respectively. For all levies, with the exception of school levies, the assessed value of property in each of these two categories may not be increased annually by more than 10 percent of the assessment in the prior year.¹³

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The joint resolution proposes an amendment to section 6, Article VII of the Florida Constitution to allow the Legislature to provide the same homestead exemption and Save Our Homes benefits for additional properties subject to residential leases of 6 months or more which are owned by homesteaders already receiving those benefits on their permanent residences.

The same person must hold legal and equitable property to the homestead and the leased property, and the lease must be written and in effect on January 1 of the taxable year.

The Legislature is also authorized to provide that if a property receiving these benefits becomes ineligible for them for reasons other than a change of ownership or control, the property must be assessed in the same manner as residential real property containing nine or fewer units, unless the property is assessed as homestead for that year.

The joint resolution proposes an amendment to Article XII to provide that the exemptions and assessment limitation will apply beginning with the 2027 tax roll.

¹¹ See also Florida Administrative Code Rule 12D-7.013(5): “Property used as a residence and also used by the owner as a place of business does not lose its homestead character. The two uses should be separated with that portion used as a residence being granted the exemption and the remainder being taxed.”

¹² See ss. 196.031 and 193.155, F.S.

¹³ These constitutional provisions are implemented in ss. 193.1554 and 193.1555, F.S., respectively.

If adopted by the Legislature, the proposed amendment will be submitted to Florida's electors for approval or rejection at the next general election in November 2026.

If approved by at least 60 percent of the electors, the proposed amendment will take effect on January 1, 2027.

The Division of Elections (division) within the Department of State pays for publication costs to advertise all constitutional amendments in both English and Spanish,¹⁶ typically paid from non-recurring General Revenue funds.¹⁷ Accurate cost estimates for the next constitutional amendment advertising cannot be determined until the total number of amendments to be advertised is known and updated quotes are obtained from newspapers.

There is an unknown additional cost for the printing and distributing of the constitutional amendments, in poster or booklet form, in English and Spanish, for each of the 67 Supervisors of Elections to post or make available at each polling room or each voting site, as required by s. 101.171, F.S.
