12 abuse material” represents the nature of the sexually abusive
13 content, emphasizing that the child is a victim of such content.
14 Changing the term “child pornography” to “child sexual abuse 15 material” is not intended to change or alter in any other way
16 the definition of the term or the elements of any offense
17 relating to child pornography.

18 (2) Any prior judicial interpretation or finding from state 19 or federal case law relating to child pornography must be 20 applied in the same manner to any offense relating to child
21 sexual abuse material.

22 (3) This section applies to any law that uses the term 23 “child sexual abuse material,” including in this chapter and 24 chapters 39, 92, 435, 456, 775, 827, 836, 903, 948, and 960.
