COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 410 exempts from public records copying and inspection requirements personal identifying and location information of current and former private investigators licensed by the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (DACS).

Specifically, the bill exempts from public disclosure the following information:

- The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and photographs of current and former private investigators licensed by the DACS.
- The names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of the spouses and children of current or former private investigators licensed by the DACS.
- The names and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the children of current or former private investigators licensed by the DACS.

The exemption applies to information held by an agency before, on, or after July 1, 2026. It is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and will be repealed on October 2, 2031, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

The bill provides a statement of public necessity as required by the State Constitution. Because the bill creates a new public records exemption, it requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting in each house of the Legislature for final passage.

The bill may increase costs minimally for state and local government agencies.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2026.

II. Present Situation:

Access to Public Records - Generally

The State Constitution provides that the public has the right to inspect or copy records made or received in connection with official governmental business.¹ The right to inspect or copy applies to the official business of any public body, officer, or employee of the state, including all three branches of state government, local governmental entities, and any person acting on behalf of the government.²

Additional requirements and exemptions related to public records are found in various statutes and rules, depending on the branch of government involved. For instance, s. 11.0431, F.S., provides public access requirements for legislative records. Relevant exemptions are codified in s. 11.0431(2)-(3), F.S., and adopted in the rules of each house of the legislature.³ Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.420 governs public access to judicial branch records.⁴ Lastly, ch. 119, F.S., known as the Public Records Act, provides requirements for public records held by executive agencies.

Executive Agency Records – The Public Records Act

The Public Records Act provides that all state, county and municipal records are open for personal inspection and copying by any person, and that providing access to public records is a duty of each agency.⁵

Section 119.011(12), F.S., defines “public records” to include:

[a]ll documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connections with the transaction of official business by any agency.

⁵ Section 119.01(1), F.S. Section 119.011(2), F.S., defines “agency” as “any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency.”

The Florida Supreme Court has interpreted this definition to encompass all materials made or received by an agency in connection with official business that are used to “perpetuate, communicate, or formalize knowledge of some type.”⁶

The Florida Statutes specify conditions under which public access to public records must be provided. The Public Records Act guarantees every person’s right to inspect and copy any public record at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record.⁷ A violation of the Public Records Act may result in civil or criminal liability.⁸

The Legislature may exempt public records from public access requirements by passing a general law by a two-thirds vote of both the House and the Senate.⁹ The exemption must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the exemption.¹⁰

General exemptions from the public records requirements are contained in the Public Records Act.¹¹ Specific exemptions are often placed in the substantive statutes relating to a particular agency or program.¹²

When creating a public records exemption, the Legislature may provide that a record is “exempt” or “confidential and exempt.” There is a difference between records the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and those which the Legislature has determined to be exempt from the Public Records Act and confidential.¹³ Records designated as “confidential and exempt” are not subject to inspection by the public and may only be released under the circumstances defined by statute.¹⁴ Records designated as “exempt” may be released at the discretion of the records custodian under certain circumstances.¹⁵

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The provisions of s. 119.15, F.S., known as the Open Government Sunset Review Act¹⁶ (the Act), prescribe a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended¹⁷ public records or open meetings exemptions, with specified exceptions.¹⁸ The Act requires the repeal of such exemption on October 2 of the fifth year after its creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.¹⁹

The Act provides that a public records or open meetings exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose and is no broader than is necessary.²⁰ An exemption serves an identifiable purpose if the Legislature finds that the purpose of the exemption outweighs open government policy and cannot be accomplished without the exemption and it meets one of the following purposes:

- It allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, and administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption;²¹
- It protects sensitive, personal information, the release of which would be defamatory, cause unwarranted damage to the good name or reputation of the individual, or would jeopardize the individual's safety. If this public purpose is cited as the basis of an exemption, however, only personal identifying information is exempt;²² or
- It protects information of a confidential nature concerning entities, such as trade or business secrets.²³

The Act also requires specified questions to be considered during the review process.²⁴ In examining an exemption, the Act directs the Legislature to question the purpose and necessity of reenacting the exemption.

If the exemption is continued and expanded, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are again required.²⁵ If the exemption is continued without substantive changes or if the exemption is continued and narrowed, then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds ¹⁷ An exemption is considered to be substantially amended if it is expanded to include more records or information or to include meetings as well as records. Section 119.15(4)(b), F.S.

¹⁸ Section 119.15(2)(a) and (b), F.S., provides that exemptions required by federal law or applicable solely to the Legislature or the State Court System are not subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act.

- Whom does the exemption uniquely affect, as opposed to the general public?
- What is the identifiable public purpose or goal of the exemption?
- Can the information contained in the records or discussed in the meeting be readily obtained by alternative means? If so, how?
- Is the record or meeting protected by another exemption?
- Are there multiple exemptions for the same type of record or meeting that it would be appropriate to merge?

Private Investigators

The Division of Licensing within the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (DACS) oversees the regulation of licensing of private investigative services.²⁷ As of October 31, 2025, the Division has issued 6,929 private investigator licenses.²⁸

A “private investigator” is defined as any individual who, for consideration, advertises as providing or performs private investigation. The term does not include an informant who, on a one-time or limited basis, as a result of a unique expertise, ability, vocation, or special access and who provides information or services that would otherwise be included in a private investigation.²⁹ A “private investigation” is defined as an investigation to obtain information on any of the following matters:

- Crime or wrongs done or threatened against the United States or any state or territory of the United States, when operating under express written authority of the government official responsible for authorizing such investigation.
- The identity, habits, conduct, movements, whereabouts, affiliations, associations, transactions, reputation, or character of any society, person, or group of persons.
- The credibility of witnesses or other persons.
- The whereabouts of missing persons, owners of unclaimed property or escheated property, or heirs to estates.
- The location or recovery of lost or stolen property.
- The causes and origin of, or responsibility for, fires, libels, slanders, losses, accidents, damage, or injuries to real or personal property.
- The business of securing evidence to be used before investigating committees or boards of award or arbitration or in the trial of civil or criminal cases, and the preparation thereof.³⁰

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 119.071(4), F.S., to exempt certain information relating to current and former private investigators and their spouses and children from public records disclosure requirements. The following information will be exempt from public records disclosure:

- The home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and photographs of current and former private investigators licensed by the DACS.
- The names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, photographs, and places of employment of the spouses and children of current and former private investigators licensed by the DACS.
- The names and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the children of current and former private investigators licensed by the DACS.

²⁹ Section 493.6101(16), F.S.

³⁰ Section 493.6101(17), F.S.

Pursuant to s. 119.071(4)(d)6., F.S., the exemption applies to information held by an agency before, on, or after July 1, 2026.

The new exemption is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act and will be repealed on October 2, 2031, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2 provides the public necessity statement, as required by the State Constitution. The public necessity statement provides that private investigators routinely engage in sensitive work that may involve uncovering fraud, locating missing persons, or assisting in criminal and civil matters. Private investigators often encounter individuals with strong motives to retaliate or cause harm. Public access to a private investigator's home address or personal information could expose private investigators and their families to threats, harassment, stalking, or physical violence. Exempting such information from public records requirements is a reasonable and necessary measure to ensure the security and privacy of private investigators and their families.

Section 3 provides that the bill takes effect on July 1, 2026.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None identified.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for final passage of a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements. This bill enacts a new exemption for current and former private investigators, thus, the bill requires a two-thirds vote to be enacted.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires a bill creating or expanding an exemption to the public records requirements to state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption. Section 2 of the bill contains a statement of public necessity for the exemption.

Breadth of Exemption

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution requires an exemption to the public records requirements to be no broader than necessary to accomplish the stated purpose of the law. The purpose of the law is to protect current and former private investigators. This bill exempts only records pertaining to current and former private investigators from the public records requirements. The exemption does not appear to be broader than necessary to accomplish the purpose of the law.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None identified.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None identified.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

None identified.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None identified.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The private sector will be subject to the costs associated with an agency's review and redactions of exempt records in response to a public records request.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may increase costs minimally for agencies that hold records containing personal identifying information of current and former private investigators and their spouses and children, because staff responsible for complying with public records requests may need training related to the new public record exemption. Additionally, agencies may incur costs associated with redacting the exempt information prior to releasing a record. However, the costs should be absorbed as part of the day-to-day responsibilities.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 119.071 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

The CS moves the public record exemption for private investigators from s. 119.071(4), F.S., relating to agency personnel, to s. 119.071(5), F.S., which provides public record exemptions for various types of personal information. Private investigators are licensed by the DACS and are not agency personnel.

- B. Amendments:

None.
