I. Summary:

SB 822 requires that condominium associations regulated under ch. 718, F.S., including multicondominiums, cooperative associations regulated under ch. 719, F.S., and homeowners' associations regulated under ch. 720, F.S., with total annual revenues of $500,000 or more must contract with a community association management firm (CAM firm).

The bill provides that each board member or officer of a multicondominium association, cooperative association, and homeowners' association that contracts with a CAM or a CAM firm has a duty to ensure that the CAM or a CAM firm is properly licensed before entering into a contract. The duty to ensure a CAM firm's licensure under the bill is comparable to the requirement under current law for board members and officers of a condominium association.

The bill takes effect January 1, 2027.

II. Present Situation:

Community Association Managers

Community association managers (CAMs) are regulated by the Regulatory Council of Community Association Managers within the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (department) pursuant to part VIII of ch. 468, F.S.

Section 468.431(2), F.S., defines "community association management" to mean:

any of the following practices requiring substantial specialized knowledge, judgment, and managerial skill when done for remuneration and when the association or associations served contain more than 10 units or have an annual budget or budgets in excess of $100,000: controlling or disbursing funds of a community association, preparing budgets or other financial documents for a community association, assisting in the noticing or conduct of community association meetings, and coordinating maintenance for the residential development and other day-to-day services involved with the operation of a community association.

The term “community association management firm” means a corporation, limited liability company, partnership, trust, association, sole proprietorship, or other similar organization engaging in the business of community association management for the purpose of providing any of the services described in s. 468.431(2), F.S.¹

A license is required to manage a community of more than 10 units or a budget of $100,000 or greater.² To be licensed as a CAM, a person must satisfactorily pass a licensure examination.³

A license is not required for persons who perform clerical or ministerial functions under the direct supervision and control of a licensed manager or who only perform the maintenance of a community association and do not assist in any of the management services.⁴

Sections 468.436 and 455.227(1), F.S., provide the grounds for suspending, revoking, or denying a CAM license, which include violations of part VIII of ch. 468, F.S, ch. 718, F.S., relating to condominium associations, ch. 719, F.S., relating to cooperative associations, and ch. 720, F.S., relating to homeowners’ associations. An applicant for a CAM license may also have a license denied because of a previous license revocation.⁵

Section 468.4334(1)(a), F.S., requires CAMs and CAM firms under a contract with a community association that is subject to the milestone inspection requirements in s. 553.899, F.S., to comply with that section as directed by the board of the association.

Section 718.111(3)(g), F.S., provides that all board members or officers of a condominium association that contracts with a CAM or a CAM firm have a duty to ensure that the CAM or a CAM firm is properly licensed before entering into a contract. Chapters 719 and 720, F.S., relating to cooperative and homeowners’ associations, respectively, do not provide a similar duty of care for board members and officers of those associations.

Condominium associations regulated under ch. 718, F.S., cooperative associations regulated under ch. 719, F.S., and homeowners’ associations regulated under ch. 720, F.S., are not required to contract with or otherwise engage the services of a CAM or CAM firm.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill requires condominium associations, including multicondominium associations,⁶ cooperative associations, and homeowners' associations with total annual revenues of $500,000 or more to contract with a CAM firm.

As also required by s. 468.432, F.S., under current law, the bill provides that a CAM firm must possess all applicable licenses required by part VIII of ch. 468, F.S.

The bill provides that each board member or officer of a multicondominium association, cooperative association, and homeowners' association that contracts with a CAM or a CAM firm has a duty to ensure that the CAM or a CAM firm is properly licensed before entering into a contract. The duty to ensure a CAM firm's licensure under the bill is comparable to the requirement under current law for board members and officers of a condominium association.
