PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rabbi Moshe Matz, Agudath Israel of Florida, Aventura:

Thank you for the honor of allowing me to begin this legislative session with a prayer. In Jewish tradition, we have three formal prayer services a day. The afternoon prayer, known as Mincha, which translates as an offering, allows us to pause in the middle of a hectic and busy day to contemplate and focus on the hand of G-d guiding our lives.

This prayer begins with the recitation of Psalm 145: “A song of praise by David, I will exalt you, my G-d, the King, and I will bless your name forever and ever.”

The purpose of blessing G-d’s name at all times is to constantly remind us that all is in his hands, and we are responsible to live our lives by fulfilling his will.

We pray that we have the humility, clarity of vision, and purpose to always remember the necessary role we play to bring the light of G-d upon the nation. We stay strong and steadfast in protecting the freedom of us all to worship and practice our faith without fear or coercion.

Thank you for your dedicated service. May G-d bless this chamber, may G-d bless our beautiful state, and may G-d protect and keep safe and healthy the great people of the United States of America.

THE PRESIDENT PRESIDING

Senator Diaz moved the following amendment:

Amendment 1 (258916) (with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 760.27, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

760.27 Prohibited discrimination in housing provided to persons with a disability or disability-related need for an emotional support animal.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) “Emotional support animal” means an animal that does not require training to do work, perform tasks, provide assistance, or provide therapeutic emotional support by virtue of its presence which alleviates one or more identified symptoms or effects of a person's disability.

(b) “Housing provider” means any person or entity engaging in conduct covered by the federal Fair Housing Act or s. 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, including the owner or lessor of a dwelling.

(2) REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION REQUESTS.—To the extent required by federal law, rule, or regulation, it is unlawful to discriminate in the provision of housing to a person with a disability or disability-related need for, and who has or at any time obtains, an emotional support animal. A person with a disability or a disability-related need must, upon the person's request and approval by a housing provider, be allowed to keep such animal in his or her dwelling as a reasonable accommodation in housing, and such person may not be required to pay extra compensation for such animal. Unless otherwise prohibited by federal law, rule, or regulation, a housing provider may:

(a) Deny a reasonable accommodation request for an emotional support animal if such animal poses a direct threat to the safety or health of others or poses a direct threat of physical damage to the property of others, which threat cannot be reduced or eliminated by another reasonable accommodation.

(b) If a person's disability is not readily apparent, request reliable information that reasonably supports that the person has a disability. Supporting information may include:

1. A determination of disability from any federal, state, or local government agency.
2. Receipt of disability benefits or services from any federal, state, or local government agency.
3. Proof of eligibility for housing assistance or a housing voucher received because of a disability.
4. Information from a health care practitioner, as defined in s. 456.001; a telehealth provider, as defined in s. 456.47; or any other similarly licensed or certified practitioner or provider in good standing with his or her profession's regulatory body in another state but only if such out-of-state practitioner has provided in-person care or services to the tenant on at least one occasion. Such information is reliable if the practitioner or provider has personal knowledge of the person's disability and is acting within the scope of his or her practice to provide the supporting information.
5. Information from any other source that the housing provider reasonably determines to be reliable in accordance with the federal Fair Housing Act and s. 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

(c) If a person's disability-related need for an emotional support animal is not readily apparent, request reliable information that reasonably supports the person's need for the particular emotional support animal being requested. Supporting information may include:

1. Information identifying the particular assistance or therapeutic emotional support provided by the specific animal from a health care practitioner, as defined in s. 456.001; a telehealth provider, as defined in s. 456.47; or any other similarly licensed or certified practitioner or provider in good standing with his or her profession's regulatory body in another state. Such information is reliable if the practitioner or provider has personal knowledge of the person's disability and is acting within the scope of his or her practice to provide the supporting information.
2. Information from any other source that the housing provider reasonably determines to be reliable in accordance with the federal Fair Housing Act and s. 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.
- (d) If a person requests to keep more than one emotional support animal, request information regarding the specific need for each animal.
- (e) Require proof of compliance with state and local requirements for licensing and vaccinating each emotional support animal.

(3) REQUEST LIMITATIONS.—

(a) Notwithstanding the authority to request information under subsection (2), a housing provider may not request information that discloses the diagnosis or severity of a tenant's disability or any medical records relating to the disability. However, a tenant may disclose such information or medical records to the housing provider at his or her discretion.

(b) A housing provider may develop and make available to tenants a routine method for receiving and processing reasonable accommodation requests for emotional support animals; however, a housing provider may not require the use of a specific form or notarized statement, or deny a request solely because a tenant did not follow the housing provider's routine method.

(c) An emotional support animal registration of any kind, including, but not limited to, an identification card, patch, certificate, or similar registration obtained from the Internet is not, by itself, sufficient information to reliably establish that a person has a disability or disability-related need for an emotional support animal.

(4) LIABILITY.—A person with a disability or disability-related need is liable for any damage done to the premises or to another person on the premises by his or her emotional support animal.

(5) APPLICABILITY.—This section does not apply to a service animal as defined in s. 413.08.

Section 2. Paragraph (b) of subsection (6) of section 413.08, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

413.08 Rights and responsibilities of an individual with a disability; use of a service animal; prohibited discrimination in public employment, public accommodations, and housing accommodations; penalties.—

(6) An individual with a disability is entitled to rent, lease, or purchase, as other members of the general public, any housing accommodations offered for rent, lease, or other compensation in this state, subject to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike to all persons.

(b) An individual with a disability who has a service animal or who obtains a service animal is entitled to full and equal access to all housing accommodations provided for in this section, and such individual ~~a person~~ may not be required to pay extra compensation for such animal. However, such individual ~~a person~~ is liable for any damage done to the premises or to another individual ~~person~~ on the premises by the animal. A housing accommodation may request proof of compliance with vaccination requirements. This paragraph does not apply to an emotional support animal as defined in s. 760.27.
