—was read the second time by title.

Pursuant to Rule 7.1, there being no objection, consideration of the following late-filed amendment was allowed:

Amendment 1 (652166) (with title amendment)—Delete lines 68-102 and insert:

interest of the child, including, but not limited to, a reasonable plan for transitioning custody.

Section 5. Subsections (4), (6), and (7) of section 751.05, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

751.05 Order granting temporary or concurrent custody.—

(4) The order granting:

(a) Concurrent custody of the minor child may not eliminate or diminish the custodial rights of the child’s parent or parents. The order must expressly state that the grant of custody does not affect the ability of the child’s parent or parents to obtain physical custody of the child at any time, except that the court may approve provisions requested in the petition which are related to the best interest of the child, including a reasonable transition plan that provides for a return of custody back to the child’s parent or parents.

(b) Temporary custody of the minor child to the petitioner may include provisions requested in the petition which are related to the best interest of the child, providing for a return of custody back to the parent or parents, and may also grant visitation rights to the child’s parent or parents, if it is in the best interest of the child.

(6) At any time, either or both of the child’s parents may petition the court to modify or terminate the order granting temporary custody.

(a) The court may modify an order granting temporary custody if the parties consent or if modification is in the best interest of the child.

(b) The court shall terminate the order upon a finding that the parent is a fit parent, or by consent of the parties, except that the court may require the parties to comply with provisions approved in the order which are related to a reasonable plan for transitioning custody before terminating the order.

(c) If the order granting temporary custody was entered after a finding that the child’s parent or parents are unfit and the child has been in the temporary custody of an extended family member for a period of time the court determines to be significant, the court may, on its own motion, establish reasonable conditions, which are in the best interests of the child, for transitioning the child back to the custody of the child’s parent or parents. In determining such reasonable conditions, the court shall consider all of the following:

1. The length of time the child lived or resided with the extended family member.
2. The child’s developmental stage.
3. The length of time reasonably needed to complete the transition.

The court may modify an order granting temporary custody if the parties consent or if modification is in the best interest of the child.

(7) At any time, the petitioner or either or both of the child’s parents may move the court to terminate the order granting concurrent custody.

(a) The court shall terminate the order upon a finding that either or both of the child’s parents object to the order, except that the court may require the parties to comply with provisions approved in the order which are related to a reasonable plan for transitioning custody before terminating the order.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 15-17 and insert: the court to order on its own motion the transitioning of a child back to the custody of his or her parents in such proceedings under certain circumstances; requiring the court to consider specified factors when entering such order; authorizing courts to require parties to comply with provisions approved in the order which relate to a reasonable plan for transitioning custody before terminating the order; providing an effective date.
