PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Major Carlyle Gargis, Salvation Army of Lee, Hendry, and Glades Counties, Fort Myers:

Gracious and loving Father of all creation, as we gather together in the people’s house, we turn our thoughts and prayers to you as our elected representatives—the members of the Florida Senate—come together this day.

These members of the Florida Senate have answered the call of public service for governance of this wonderful state community—a community diverse yet united in so many ways. Continue to guide our leaders during these times. Unite them in your love for our most precious resource—the people of this great state. Continue to inspire them with your spirit to guide and invest in the future of our young people with education. As in all things, we also turn to you to answer the needs of the vulnerable, the elderly in need, and those in need of your healing touch. Please comfort all of those who have suffered loss. Continue to inspire this body as we continue to provide a land of prosperity, opportunity, and liberty for all Floridians. We have many challenges Lord, but the answers and solutions to these challenges can only be answered with your grace and wisdom.

Finally, bless and guide our servant leaders of this state—our Governor and the members of the Florida Senate and their colleagues of the Florida House. In your name we pray for these things and for those thoughts and prayers we hold in our hearts. Amen.

SR 1116—A resolution recognizing February 28, 2022, as “Rare Disease Day” in Florida.

WHEREAS, the National Institutes of Health reports that there are nearly 7,000 diseases and conditions that affect fewer than 200,000 Americans, meaning that they are considered rare, and

WHEREAS, while each of these diseases may affect small numbers of people, rare diseases as a group affect nearly 30 million Americans, 50 percent of whom are children, and

WHEREAS, many rare diseases are serious and debilitating conditions that have a significant impact on the lives of those affected, and

WHEREAS, while the Food and Drug Administration has approved drugs and biologics for more than 1,000 rare disease indications, millions of Americans have rare diseases for which there is no approved treatment, and

WHEREAS, individuals and families affected by rare diseases often experience problems, such as diagnosis delay, difficulty finding a medical expert, and lack of access to treatments or ancillary services, and

WHEREAS, while the public is familiar with some rare diseases, such as muscular dystrophy and amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, better known as Lou Gehrig’s disease, and is sympathetic to those affected, many patients and families affected by lesser-known rare diseases bear a large share of the burden of funding research and raising public awareness to support the search for treatments, and

WHEREAS, thousands of Floridians are among those affected by rare diseases, since nearly 1 in 10 Americans has a rare disease, and were given a voice in 2021 with the establishment in this state of the Rare Disease Advisory Council, and

WHEREAS, the Orphan Drug Act, championed in Congress by Florida Representative Gus Bilirakis, has encouraged and promoted the discovery and development of biopharmaceuticals designed to treat and potentially cure rare diseases, and

WHEREAS, many of the world’s leading academic institutions, academic medical centers, biotech companies, and pharmaceutical companies that are conducting research and seeking cures for rare diseases are doing so in this state, NOW, THEREFORE,

WHEREAS, with more than a century of United States citizenship, the main goal of the Jones Act, to augment the bond with the people of Puerto Rico, has clearly been achieved, as more than 5 million Puerto Ricans now reside stateside, and

WHEREAS, according to the United States Census Bureau, there were more than 1.1 million people of Puerto Rican heritage residing in Florida in 2018, and

WHEREAS, as residents of Florida, Puerto Ricans actively participate in public affairs, make significant cultural, political, and social contributions, and enhance the well-being of this state and its residents, and
