The following prayer was offered by Pastor Joel Romelus, Made for More Ministries, Gainesville:

Almighty God, we approach you with hearts filled with humility and genuine gratitude. We recognize that all that is good and beautiful flows from you, inspiring us to pause and stand in awe of your magnificence. As we gather before the commencement of this session, we take a moment to express our deep appreciation for the countless blessings you have bestowed upon us, our families, our communities, our state, and nation. We are profoundly thankful for the undeserved gifts you've granted and for being everything we need and more.

Now, Father, we echo the prayer of Solomon, seeking wisdom to lead your people, for only you hold the keys to the future. May the discussions, deliberations, and decisions within these chambers be guided by a sincere desire to bless the generations that will follow us. Grant us all, and all those here, wisdom and strength to navigate the challenging decisions, and instill in them a profound sense of peace and serenity to surrender that which is beyond their control to you. May your love and light resonate as the drumbeat and driving force behind all of our endeavors this day and forevermore. We praise you, we honor you, we love you, acknowledging that yours is the kingdom, the power, and the glory forever and ever. Amen.

(b) A social media platform shall:

1. Terminate any account held by an account holder younger than 14 years of age, including accounts that the social media platform treats or categorizes as belonging to an account holder who is likely younger than 14 years of age for purposes of targeting content or advertising, and provide 90 days for an account holder to dispute such termination. (5) Any knowing or reckless violation of subsection (2), subsection (3), or, if in effect, subsection (4) is deemed an unfair and deceptive trade practice actionable under part II of this chapter solely by the department against a social media platform. If the department has reason to believe that a social media platform is in violation of subsection (2), subsection (3), or, if in effect, subsection (4), the department, as the enforcing authority, may bring an action against such platform for an unfair or deceptive act or practice. For the purpose of bringing an action pursuant to this section, ss. 501.211 and 501.212 do not apply. In addition to other remedies under part II of this chapter, the department may collect a civil penalty of up to $50,000 per violation and reasonable attorney fees and court costs. When the social media platform's failure to comply with subsection (2), subsection (3), or, if in effect, subsection (4) is a consistent pattern of knowing or reckless conduct, punitive damages may be assessed against the social media platform.

(6)(a) A social media platform that knowingly or recklessly violates subsection (2), subsection (3), or, if in effect, subsection (4) is liable to the minor account holder, including court costs and reasonable attorney fees as ordered by the court. (b) A civil action for a claim under this subsection must be brought within 1 year from the date the complainant knew, or reasonably should have known, of the alleged violation.

(c) Any action brought under this subsection may only be brought on behalf of a minor account holder.

(7) For purposes of bringing an action under this section, a social media platform that allows a minor account holder younger than 14 years of age or a minor account holder who is 14 or 15 years of age to create an account on such platform is considered to be both engaged in substantial and not isolated activities within this state and operating, conducting, engaging in, or carrying on a business and doing business in this state, and is therefore subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state.

(8) If a social media platform allows an account holder to use the social media platform, the parties have entered into a contract.

(9) This section does not preclude any other available remedy at law or equity.

(10)(a) If, by its own inquiry or as a result of complaints, the department has reason to believe that an entity or person has engaged in, or is engaging in, an act or practice that violates this section, the department may administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses or matter, and collect evidence. Within 5 days, excluding weekends and legal holidays, after the service of a subpoena or at any time before the return date specified therein, whichever is longer, the party served may file in the circuit court in the county in which it resides or in which it transacts business and serve upon the enforcing authority a petition for an order modifying or setting aside the subpoena. The petitioner may raise any objection or privilege which would be available upon service of such subpoena in a civil action. The subpoena shall inform the party served of its rights under this subsection.

(b) If the matter that the department seeks to obtain by subpoena is located outside the state, the entity or person subpoenaed may make it available to the department or its representative to examine the matter at the place where it is located. The department may designate representatives, including officials of the state in which the matter is located, to inspect the matter on its behalf, and may respond to similar requests from officials of other states.

(c) Upon failure of an entity or person without lawful excuse to obey a subpoena and upon reasonable notice to all persons affected, the department may apply to the circuit court for an order compelling compliance.

(d) The department may request that an entity or person that refuses to comply with a subpoena on the ground that testimony or matter may incriminate the entity or person be ordered by the court to provide the testimony or matter. Except in a prosecution for perjury, an entity or individual that complies with a court order to provide testimony or matter after asserting a valid privilege against self-incrimination shall not have the testimony or matter so provided, or evidence derived therefrom, received against the entity or person in any criminal investigation or proceeding.

(e) Any entity or person upon whom a subpoena is served pursuant to this section shall comply with the terms thereof unless otherwise provided by order of the court. Any entity or person that fails to appear with the intent to avoid, evade, or prevent compliance in whole or in part with any investigation under this part or who removes from any place, conceals, withholds, mutilates, alters, or destroys, or by any other means falsifies any documentary material in the possession, custody, or control of any entity or person subject to any such subpoena, or knowingly conceals any relevant information with the intent to avoid, evade, or prevent compliance shall be liable for a civil penalty of not more than $5,000 per week in violation, reasonable attorney's fees, and costs.

(11) The department may adopt rules to implement this section.

In addition to any other remedy under part II of this chapter, the department may collect a civil penalty of up to $50,000 per violation and reasonable attorney fees and court costs. When the commercial entity's failure to comply with subsection (2) or subsection (3) is a consistent pattern of conduct of the commercial entity, punitive damages may be assessed against the commercial entity.

(b) A third party that performs age verification for a commercial entity in violation of s. 501.1738 is deemed to have committed an unfair and deceptive trade practice actionable under part II of this chapter solely by the department against such third party. (c) A commercial entity that violates subsection (2) for failing to prohibit access or prohibit a minor from future access to material harmful to minors after a report of unauthorized or unlawful access is liable to the minor for such access, including court costs and reasonable attorney fees as ordered by the court. Claimants may be awarded up to $10,000 in damages. A civil action for a claim under this paragraph must be brought within 1 year from the date the complainant knew, or reasonably should have known, of the alleged violation.

(6) For purposes of bringing an action under subsection (5), a commercial entity that publishes or distributes material harmful to minors on a website or application, if the website or application contains a substantial portion of material harmful to minors and such website or application is available to be accessed in this state, is considered to be both engaged in substantial and not isolated activities within this state and operating, conducting, engaging in, or carrying on a business and doing business in this state, and is therefore subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state.

(7) This section does not preclude any other available remedy at law or equity.

(8)(a) If, by its own inquiry or as a result of complaints, the department has reason to believe that an entity or person has engaged in, or is engaging in, an act or practice that violates this section, the department may administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses or matter, and collect evidence. Within 5 days, excluding weekends and legal holidays, after the service of a subpoena or at any time before the return date specified therein, whichever is longer, the party served may file in the circuit court in the county in which it resides or in which it transacts business and serve upon the enforcing authority a petition for an order modifying or setting aside the subpoena. Any entity or person that fails to appear with the intent to avoid, evade, or prevent compliance in whole or in part with any investigation under this part or that removes from any place, conceals, withholds, mutilates, alters, or destroys, or by any other means falsifies any documentary material in the possession, custody, or control of any entity or person subject to any such subpoena, or knowingly conceals any relevant information with the intent to avoid, evade, or prevent compliance, shall be liable for a civil penalty of not more than $5,000 per week in violation, reasonable attorney’s fees, and costs.

On motion by Senator Mayfield, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks by Senator Hutson were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Hutson: I think Senator Book said it best before her speech, "This is difficult to do." Before I start my speech, real quick, I want to address the issue of wandering around. Everything in this process is a negotiation so don't ever forget that. When some of your bills are on the fence or there's other issues at play—normally, Madam President had me working on issues across the sides of the aisle that were important—it's so much in negotiation. I just filed a late-filed amendment right before my speech on another bill to try to land that plane. Again, before I start, I appreciate all of your kind words—everything you said. I've always lived my life like this up here in this body. Whether you're a freshman Republican or a freshman Democrat—every one of you should have input in this process, every single one of you. We were all elected by the same number of people so if you came up here to fight, your voice should matter.

Madam President, this is so tough that I kind of thought about not writing a speech whatsoever. I kind of dreaded it because I felt like if I didn't write a speech, this would never happen—this day would never come. I'll tell you, I'd rather do an elections bill ten times over right now before having to give this speech.

I'd like to say, Madam President, tempus fugit, time flies—12 years of service. I first want to thank my constituents, those back in St. Johns, Volusia, Putnam, and Flagler Counties. Every year, or every general election, those counties came through for me—each county, each individual, each constituent. I don't take that lightly. The elected officials that endorsed me back home and believed in me at such a young age—as was said, I was 27 years old when I got to the House—I want to thank them. The party chairs and other organizations that rallied their base, the influential local leaders and their businesses that supported me, thank you each and every one of you for allowing me to serve in this process.

To my parents, thank you for allowing me to serve as well and giving me the time to come up here as needed. Most of you don't realize this but the first couple of photos were of my younger brother and me. It was around that time that my mom married my father, and he legally adopted me and gave me the last name Hutson. It's one of the best things that ever happened to us, and I thank you guys for that. He taught me the value of family and hard work. My father worked every day of his life since he was 15 years old. If you think I work hard up here, you don't know how hard I have it back home. This is more like a vacation. He is the true business leader and patriarch of our family. Dad, I talked to all the other siblings. It's time for me to retire here and you're turning 80 this year; if I can retire from here, it's time for you to retire as well. He also told me if you say something, you keep your word. Dad, hopefully you and I can come to an agreement after this and we can keep our words.

I want to thank my wife and kids. Tanya, you have stood by my side through thick and thin—14 years of campaigning, 12 years of service, and four kids, one for each major election. Many of you don't know this, but Tanya's two favorite words in this process are term limits. I love you so much, and I can't wait to spend an entire year with you after over a decade of not being able to do so.

To my kids, Taylor, Tyler, Turner, and Tucker, despite my best attempts to rush back to cheer, football, soccer, birthdays, and spring breaks, I just want to say that I'm so sorry I've missed so much of your lives. There's one thing I've learned—that I can never give you back the valuable time we should have shared, but I promise you all this—Daddy's coming home.

I'd like to thank my staff. My father always told me that success will come if you surround yourself with good people. Both past and present, I've had some wonderful staff. Two—which y'all would know—Matt and Danielle have been with me from the beginning—all 12 years. I appreciate you two so much. I'd also like to thank the other staff—the President's staff, the staff in the Majority Office, the Committee staff, and the Sergeant's Office. They truly make this place work. I think it was said that I treat them with respect. Get to know this staff. We have one of the best staffs out there—they will move heaven and earth for you, and you can learn a lot of things because they've been here—some of them a lot longer than I have.

Madam President, I'm going to say more about you when it's your turn, but I just want to say thank you so much for believing in me. You let me chair Fiscal Policy, which some Senators have been calling "Physical Policy." I have not corrected them because at times, it got a little physical. That committee—as people said, would take eight to ten hours—and hats off to my vice chair and the Rules Chair because if there were times that I had to go out to either use the restroom or get on a call, you guys would take over. Madam President, I don't know if you know this, but the last committee we had, when I opened it up for questions and answers—and I think it was Senator Burton and Senator Jones talking back and forth—I actually ran into the bathroom and came back, and they were still going at it. At the time, I told my staff director, "See, this committee would run itself if I just let it happen."

You also believed in me with your priorities—some great priorities we have passed, and I was proud to take those on for you. Not only yours, but you also believed in my priorities. We talked about vocational education for so long, and because of you, not only did we pass one of the most expansive vocational education bills, we put $100 million in the budget, for which I'm forever grateful. Chancellor Diaz is here. He told me everybody wants a piece of it, and he keeps getting in the budget, so I'm glad that's happened.

I've been here longer than most; I'm the Dean under the age of 40. I don't know if that's ever going to happen again. I'd like to bequeath some knowledge on you and explain some differences between the Senate and the House. Everybody always asks what's the big difference. The first story when I was here, we had a special session on gaming. Gaming, if you remember, was seven bills. I was fortunate enough to be the sponsor for seven of them. As we spent 12 hours, or I believe it was 10 on this floor, you got to have lunch. You all got to have dinner. I got to sit here and do questions and answers and ultimately debate on the bills. The House had seven bills as well, a sponsor, with a co-sponsor splitting the bills up by two. Madam President, when asked what’s the difference between a Senator and a House member, it takes 14 of them to do what one of us can do. All House members want to be Senators one day. They toss and turn in their dreams and lose sleep just thinking about it. Senators go to sleep at night peacefully because our dreams have already come true. Lastly, and this is the most important one, everyone over there in the House truly believes if they don’t pass one bill, they will never win reelection. Remember that when you’re negotiating. All jokes aside, the House is a great place, and we couldn’t do our jobs without them. I have so many good friends over there that I served with, and I can’t thank them enough. The Speaker, Speaker Renner, the Appropriations Chair, Tom Leek, and my own representative, Cyndi Stevenson. I can’t thank them enough for their friendship. It has been a wonderful pleasure to serve alongside them.

When I came in there, there was kind of a hierarchy in Northeast Florida for the Senate—John Thrasher obviously was the biggest name. Then, it was passed to Rob Bradley and passed to Senator Bean. Ultimately, this was my year to be the Northeast Florida Senate champion. Hopefully, I lived up to that for our constituents. I’m grateful to say passing it to Senators Bradley and Yarborough, Northeast Florida is going to be in a good place.

Before I close, I want to leave you with one story, the story of Achilles. I took Latin in high school and fell in love with stories. The one of Achilles goes something like this. There was a prophecy that if he went to war, he would be a great warrior and his legend would be told forever; but if he stayed home, he would live a long life, and no one would know who he was. His mother tried to change his fate and dipped him into the River of Styx holding his Achilles, the one place he was vulnerable. Of course, Achilles heard the prophecy and he chose the path of war, and the rest is history. We all know the stories, because they have been told to this day, and will forever be told. I have lived my life by this story, whether it’s sports, work, or the Florida Senate. I wake up every day ready to fight, and you should too—fight for yourselves, fight for each other, fight over policy, and fight over amendments. Fight every single day like it is your last, because one day it will be. Don’t fight because of each other. Don’t fight because of your party, or because you’re worried about your next move. Fight every day for your constituents. Fight for them because they put you up here, and that’s who keeps you up here. If you don’t wake up and fight every day for them, then why the heck are you here? If you’re not willing to stand up every day to fight for what you believe in and for the people that voted for you, you just need to go home. After saying that, I know every single one of you in this room is willing to fight. I’m so proud to have fought alongside each and every one of you and others every single year. I fought so hard on every issue because, like Achilles, when I am gone, I don’t want to ever be forgotten.

Madam President, I thank you once again, and I’ll close with this—“veni, vidi, vici.”

On motion by Senator Mayfield, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks by Senator Perry were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Perry: You know, I was thinking I met Senator Pizzo when he first came in. He would carry around these statute books—you still do that all the time. We’d come to Criminal Justice, and he’d have those statute books. I went back to my office one day for a Zoom call. I took a picture of my laptop up on the statute books, and I said, “Hey, I use my statute books as well.” Senator Broxson, when I showed him the Corvette that one time—it’s a two-seater—he said, “Oh, man, a car that you and all your friends can ride around in.”

First, my mom is 90 years old, and lives alone still. She couldn't make it up here, but I want to thank her, my brother, and two sisters as well. There are a lot of people and I'm going to go down the list—some of their names have been mentioned but I'm just going to go down it again. Kayla Lott, Skylar Swanson, Robbie Vogan, Kinley Morgan, Megan Ramba, Keenen Vernon, Jessica Caruso, and Sarah Massey were all former staff. They were also on the campaigns. As a matter of fact, some of the staff that worked my campaign—you talk about tough districts and running. We won because of them and Red Bull. Kayla got me hooked on Red Bull because we just worked all the time—seven days a week. You guys are great. Thank you so much for that, specifically, on the campaign. Keena Little is also one of the comptrollers at my business. On behalf of all the 140+ team members at Perry Roofing, thanks for coming out here. Marlon Bruce, Nick Lehera, and Luis Rodriguez. Luis is a public defender now. I met him as a student. He came and volunteered. You know how some students volunteer, and they don't really do anything. This guy worked and worked and worked. He produced videos—I wish I could pull up some of those old videos that he made. He did a bad lip-reading when we were in the House—it was the funniest thing ever. Anyway, these are talented, talented people that have helped out. Back up, Keenen Vernon—when he worked for me, he was also getting his Ph.D., simultaneously. If you do any one of those, that could be pretty tough. Thanks for what you do.

You know, there are a lot of lobbyists here. I can tell you that besides working on a professional level, we have become friends. You come, and you tell the truth most of the time. Sometimes, there's the rest of the story—we don't quite get the rest of the story. You guys have been great.

We had a film—you saw that from people from the School of Music. This is a little bit different but we're going to have a little video at the end. I'll tell you why that happened. We were going to do a music video. We have a staff member, an intern, Leila, who came up with her own video that we were going to do. We couldn't decide which one, so she'd come up with the whole thing. She's here, and we're going to do that later.

Sergeant's Office, Damien Kelly, thank you. I'll tell you a story. If you go in my office, you're going to see a giant wardrobe, a giant leather couch, and a bunch of other stuff. They were so big, they couldn't even move them. They had to take them out, put them in storage, and take them back. They had to go through the Capitol freight elevators. They were that big. I came up, and Sam had to move something after they got it all set up. I joked around with him, and asked him what time to come back and move. He didn't like that too much. We're standing outside the Knott Building, and there are people out there. I'm walking in that back entrance. I go up to Sam, and I said, "Sam." He goes, "No." There are people standing around wondering, and I shuffle off. I don't know how a Senator goes up to the Sergeant and gets a "No" before I got a word out. But, thanks for what you do.

I've worked with a lot of professional staff over the years—great, great people. It's been an education—Appropriations—that is a very complicated budget. It is so complicated, but this group did so well, helping me out, always making me think I was making the decisions. That was a key thing that they have. Thanks for what you've done.

Tracy and staff, we come in here, and it's kind of all scripted out—to choreograph that is a lot of work behind the scenes that make us look good—a lot of effort. Thank you and your staff on that.

A special class in 2010 when I was first elected—we came in with a group of people—the ones that are still in the Senate now are Ben Albritton, Dennis Baxley, Lori Berman, Jim Boyd, Jason Brodeur, Doug Broxson, Gayle Harrell, Kathleen Passidomo, and Travis Hutson. It's a special thing to come in with a group of people all the way back 14 years ago. Y'all mean a lot to me, and it's just a great group. Having three presiding officers in a row—I don't know of any other class that has done that. That's what we have in the Class of 2010, the Senate—Wilton Simpson, Richard Corcoran, Manny Diaz, Ray Rodrigues, and Jeff Clemens. Jimmy Patronis, you know, when I first was elected—I was a freshman—I didn't know that he played little pranks on people. I'm a freshman, I'm sitting over there in the House, and a page comes up to me and hands me a little note that says the Speaker wants to see you. Dean Cannon is running the show. I run around the corner, I'm standing there waiting for him and he sees me, waves me up. I run up. "Hey, what's up?" He goes, "What's up?" I said, "What do you need?" That was Jimmy. Well, it happened that two days before, we had a Representative that had to resign. There was some texting that went on that was inappropriate. That night, after Jimmy pranked me, we were at a basketball game at FSU and they had boxes up there. I'm thinking how can I get him back. I borrowed his phone. I said, "Hey, I got to call my wife, and my phone is dead. Can I borrow your phone?" He said, "Sure." He hands me his phone, and I walked outside. I changed my contact to this other person's contact information. I thought well, that's pretty easy, so I took Representative Brodeur's phone and a few other people, and changed all their contact information. The next morning, we're in session, and I pulled my phone out. I start texting the same kind of text—they weren't too graphic. The first thing I see is Jimmy Patronis up in the gallery watching me sending these. I see him going, "Oh, my God." He's looking around, and then Representative Brodeur starts looking around and Representative Crisafulli. He's the only one that didn't know at the end of the day that I had done this. I go to this office, and I said, "Hey, Steve, those texts—that was me." He looks at me and says, "Why did you do that?" I said, "You gave me your phone." He just stared at me and walked back into his office. I got back on Jimmy a little bit on that.

I do want to recognize my current staff—Suzy McGuire, workaholic Chief of Staff. My district is not as big as Senators Bradley's and Simon's, but it's still pretty big. It would take you two hours to go from one end to the other. If it's Tuesday night, and we've got a meeting, she can be an hour and a half from home. She's there with me just constantly working. Tony Serge came from Hooper's office. We have some similar backgrounds. Both of us made some bad decisions when we were younger, but he worked those things out, got his Master's at FSU here, and has just been a tremendous help. Damon Vitale—I hired him because I needed somebody in Ocala to put up large signs. We always win the large sign war against our opponent. I needed somebody. He's introduced as former military, a master sergeant, a big burly guy. I said, "Here's a guy that can put signs up, and can do other things." The most creative guy that you'll ever meet. If you've seen t-shirts, if you've seen posters, he can create that quickly. Danny Burgess was feeling a little down the other day. There was a gift basket and I called Damon. I said, "Danny needs some help." He was feeling down, and Damon made that, and things are looking up. Little things are looking up. Gigi Hernandez does constituent services and other things—she is just the best at taking care of people. Leila is my intern from the University of Florida—just one of the most talented, smart people, a deep thinker. We have some strange, deep conversations about different things in our office. This came from my daughter. "What kind of appliance would you be in the kitchen?" Questions like that we deal with. Remember when you see this last video it's a little out of order. We don't normally do this. We have another video, and because she created it the same way we had to do it. Thank you for that, and representing the University of Florida.

Joe Gruters, my roommate, is a great guy. It's funny, we were talking the other day, I was telling him about it. I did the roof on this building 33 years ago. A young man reroofed this building, never thought I'd be inside. Funny story—well, I thought it was a funny story. We came here for the preconstruction, so I have my project manager, my superintendent, and my job foreman. We're meeting in some building, one of the rooms here. We did the Senate Building, the House Building, we did the tower here, and most of the roofs. The old roofs were flat gravel roofs, asphalt gravel. This one they sprayed foam on, it was eight inches thick and if you tear it up, it comes out in chunks. I'm in here, in this room, and they had Capitol Police because there'd be safety concerns getting in and out. We had the architects and all the roof consultants sitting at this conference table. They said, "What are you going to do when you tear that off to contain all that product? It is so lightweight and up to 224 feet." I thought quick and said, "Okay, I'm going to paint orange and blue squares, and I'm going to let it blow over the campus." I had one little chuckle and had the rest of these people looking at me. I said "No, we got a plan." Joe and I were talking about some of these things. That was a tight schedule. We had to mobilize seven days after session, and we would be done seven days prior to session starting the next year, so a big project 33 years ago.

My family, we won't cry, will we? That's not allowed. When my daughters started in this process, they were 8 and 11—a long time ago—they grow up and you certainly miss things. You know, volleyball tournaments, spring breaks, you miss a lot of things. I think the trade-off is them growing up in the process. My very first commercial was not me, not my wife; it was these two young girls doing it. We were in a kind of a ranch thing where they did the commercial, and that's one of the reasons we won. The only time Amy and I were in the commercial, the four of us are walking to a field. I remember two weeks later, I knew this guy in Gainesville—he said, “Man, I saw that commercial with you and your three daughters.” I said, “No, I got two daughters.” Amanda just graduated a year and a half ago from the University of Florida with honors and got her Master’s in Business and Information Systems; she works at KPMG in Atlanta. Alexis is in her fourth year of medical school. She graduated with honors from University of Florida in biochemistry. Obviously, they take after their mother.

My wife, when we first started dating, I ran for county commissioner back in 1992. She got the political bug and was campaigning all the time. She wasn’t registered to vote, so I had to get her registered to vote. I was her first vote. As a matter of fact, when my daughters turned 18, I was their first vote—they got to bubble me in; that was neat. We got in the process in 2010, and we were talking as a group. We don’t want the process to change us; we want to be the same after we go through this. Having Amy as a wife helps. Our first election, you’re working seven days a week, and you’re running off adrenaline. We had a victory party when they announced that we won. TV20 was there, and they did an interview with me. I’m coming back inside this big party we had, and telling Amy something. She goes, “Remember what day it is—Tuesday. Garbage day is tomorrow, get the garbage up to the road.” That’s my response after getting interviewed, and she keeps me there. Once we are up here in the House, and those big double brass doors open for you—I told Amy, “You know, in your wildest dreams, did you ever think it would be like this?” She goes, “Sorry to say, you’re not in my wildest dreams.” I don’t have to worry about changing much. Amy is one of the smartest, creative, and compassionate people you will ever meet.

I’ll close with this. People always ask you, “Why did you run?” They also ask, “What are you going to run for next?” Like two weeks, and people ask what are you going to do next. They ask you, why do you run? Steve Oelrich was a sheriff in Gainesville, and I helped him run one of his campaigns. He was also a State Senator. He called me up for lunch, and said, “You ought to run for the State House.” Larry Cretul was being termed out. I was just coming off the great recession, so I’d gone from 220 employees to about 70 employees. I was in debt, and my daughters were young. I said, “No.” He goes, “No, I really want you to think about it.” I did and, again, I didn’t want to. I liked being home, putting them to bed, praying with them at night. I just wanted to be a dad and be home, but he kept encouraging me to think about it. As I started soul-searching, the reason not to run became the compelling reason to run, which is blue-collar. Up on a roof while people are getting a different education, and learning different things about business and stuff. It was also, as a young guy starting a business, how difficult it is. Now, it is much more difficult today to start a business. I really looked at my daughters and their friends, and what they were going to grow up to do. What were they going to be able to do when they got older? If you grew up in Florida or any other state, or any city in the nation 50 years ago—when I was a kid—mom and pop, except for a couple, owned every business. Almost every single business was owned by mom and pop. In a 50-year period, we’ve changed, and young people just don’t have that opportunity. I met a group of pharmacy students at the University of Florida the other day, some of the brightest kids you’ll ever meet. They’re going to graduate to become pharmacists. Are they going to own their own pharmacy? No. Why is that? How—in a 50-year period—have we shifted so that young people aren’t going to be able to go out, achieve their dreams, and go change the world, which they want to do. They don’t want an inbox/outbox, paycheck, and go home. They want to go change the world, and I can promise you the problems that we face today, the problems we are going to face tomorrow—if the government is the answering solution, we’re in trouble. We need to let young people go out, and let them change the world. We’re going to do that, and so if you think about that regulatory and government regulation part that has created this big hurdle for these young people, that’s what motivated me to run, and that’s what I did. I remember reading Alexis de Tocqueville, if you ever read his book, Democracy in America—fascinating that he travels the United States. We had a revolution and a constitution. France had a revolution and a constitution, and another revolution and another constitution. Revolution is not what you want to go through. The United States was being—not perfect by any means—but we were stable in the economy. They sent Alexis over here to look and make observations. A fascinating book. One of the things he said was that it wasn’t the big things that happened in the United States; it was the enumerable small things happening everywhere. That’s what he quoted, and I’ll tell people all the time, if you go back to the mid-1800s, the mid-1900s, early 1900s, the most visited place in D.C. that people wanted to go wasn’t the White House, it wasn’t the Capitol, it was the Patent Office. That’s where everybody wanted to go in D.C. because all these things were happening there. One of the things is the bill that they’re going to present, I was going to do music/elementary education or the school of competitive academics. I already have the school music bill, but I did home-based businesses. I did that because I started my business in a home, my mom’s home, in her back bedroom. Even though she didn’t like me there much, that day when I got my second phone, we were big time. We got a double line there, but that’s what was important to me, to think about my opportunities, and to think about their opportunities. What I’m going to encourage you to do is think about not what big audacious things you can do, but what can you do to let the next generation do the big audacious things. So with that, thank you. The last thing a lot of people remember is bills, appropriations. I’m just going to remember you guys—your smiles and your affection to me. Thank you.

(b) During an active investigation, information made confidential and exempt pursuant to paragraph (a) may be disclosed by the department:

1. In the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities;

improper use or disposal of customer records, except that information made confidential and exempt by paragraph (c) may not be released pursuant to this subparagraph; or

3. To another governmental entity in the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities.

(c) Upon completion of an investigation or once an investigation ceases to be active, the following information held by the department shall remain confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution:

1. Information that is otherwise confidential or exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

2. Personal identifying information.

3. A computer forensic report.

4. Information that would otherwise reveal weaknesses in the data security of a social media platform.

5. Information that would disclose the proprietary information of a social media platform.

(d) For purposes of this section, the term “proprietary information” means information that:

1. Is owned or controlled by the social media platform.

2. Is intended to be private and is treated by the social media platform as private because disclosure would harm the social media platform or its business operations.

3. Has not been disclosed except as required by law or a private agreement that provides that the information will not be released to the public.

4. Is not publicly available or otherwise readily ascertainable through proper means from another source in the same configuration as received by the department.

5. Reveals competitive interests, the disclosure of which would impair the competitive advantage of the social media platform that is the subject of the information.

(e) This subsection is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2029, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that all information held by the Department of Legal Affairs pursuant to a notification of a violation of s. 501.1736, Florida Statutes, or an investigation of a violation of that section, be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution for the following reasons:

(1) A notification of a violation of s. 501.1736, Florida Statutes, may result in an investigation of such violation. The premature release of such information could frustrate or thwart the investigation and impair the ability of the department to effectively and efficiently administer s. 501.1736, Florida Statutes. In addition, release of such information before completion of an active investigation could jeopardize the ongoing investigation.

(2) Release of information that is otherwise confidential or exempt from public records requirements once an investigation is completed or ceases to be active would undo the specific statutory exemption protecting that information, thus clarifying that any protections currently afforded to such information are not removed.

(3) An investigation of a violation of s. 501.1736, Florida Statutes, is likely to result in the gathering of sensitive personal identifying information, which could include identification numbers, unique identifiers, professional or employment-related information, and personal financial information. Such information could be used for the purpose of identity theft. The release of such information could subject families to possible privacy violations, as it would reveal information of a sensitive personal nature.

(4) Notices received by the department and information generated during an investigation of a violation of s. 501.1736, Florida Statutes, are likely to contain proprietary information. Such information derives independent, economic value, actual or potential, from being generally unknown to, and not readily ascertainable by, other persons who might obtain economic value from its disclosure or use. Allowing public access to proprietary information through a public records request could destroy the value of the proprietary information and cause a financial loss to the social media platform. Release of such information could give business competitors an unfair advantage.

(5) Information held by the department may contain a computer forensic report or information that could reveal weaknesses in the data security of a social media platform. The release of this information could result in the identification of vulnerabilities in the cybersecurity system of the social media platform and be used to harm the social media platform and its clients.

(6) The harm that may result from the release of information held by the department pursuant to a notification or investigation of a violation of s. 501.1736, Florida Statutes, could impair the effective and efficient administration of the investigation and thus outweighs the public benefit that may be derived from the disclosure of the information.

Section 3. Present subsection (9) of section 501.1737, Florida Statutes, as created by HB 3 or similar legislation, 2024 Regular Session, is redesignated as subsection (10), and a new subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

501.1737 Age verification for online access to materials harmful to minors.—

(b) During an active investigation, information made confidential and exempt pursuant to paragraph (a) may be disclosed by the department:

1. In the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities;

2. For print, publication, or broadcast if the department determines that such release would assist in notifying the public or locating or identifying a person whom the department believes to be a victim of an improper use or disposal of customer records, except that information made confidential and exempt by paragraph (c) may not be released pursuant to this subparagraph; or

3. To another governmental entity in the furtherance of its official duties and responsibilities.

(c) Upon completion of an investigation or once an investigation ceases to be active, the following information held by the department shall remain confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution:

1. Information that is otherwise confidential or exempt from s. 119.07(1) or s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

2. Personal identifying information.

3. A computer forensic report.

4. Information that would otherwise reveal weaknesses in the data security of the commercial entity.

Section 4. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that all information held by the Department of Legal Affairs pursuant to a notification of a violation of s. 501.1737, Florida Statutes, or an investigation of a violation of that section, be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution for the following reasons:

Section 1. Subsection (14) is added to section 474.202, Florida Statutes, to read:

474.202 Definitions.—As used in this chapter:

(14) “Veterinary telehealth” means the use of synchronous or asynchronous telecommunications technology by a telehealth provider to provide health care services, including, but not limited to, assessment, diagnosis, consultation, treatment, and monitoring of a patient; transfer of medical data; patient and professional health-related education; public health services; and health administration.

Section 2. Section 474.2021, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

474.2021 Veterinary telehealth.—

(1) This section may be cited as the “Providing Equity in Telehealth Services Act.”

(2) A veterinarian who holds a current license to practice veterinary medicine in this state may practice veterinary telehealth.

(3) The board has jurisdiction over a veterinarian practicing veterinary telehealth, regardless of where the veterinarian's physical office is located. The practice of veterinary medicine is deemed to occur when the veterinarian, the patient, or both are located within this state at the time the veterinarian practices veterinary telehealth.

(4) A veterinarian practicing veterinary telehealth:

(a) May not engage in the practice of veterinary telehealth unless it is within the context of a veterinarian/client/patient relationship;

(b) Shall practice in a manner consistent with his or her scope of practice and the prevailing professional standard of practice for a veterinarian who provides in-person veterinary services to patients in this state and shall employ sound, professional judgment to determine whether using veterinary telehealth is an appropriate method for delivering medical advice or treatment to the patient;

(c) May use veterinary telehealth to perform an initial patient evaluation to establish the veterinarian/client/patient relationship if the evaluation is conducted using synchronous, audiovisual communication. The evaluation may not be performed using audio only communications, text messaging, questionnaires, chatbots, or other similar means. If a veterinarian practicing telehealth conducts a patient evaluation sufficient to diagnose and treat the patient, the veterinarian is not required to research a patient's medical history or conduct a physical examination of the patient before using veterinary telehealth to provide a veterinary health care service to the patient;

(d) If the initial patient evaluation is performed using veterinary telehealth, must provide the client with a statement containing the veterinarian's name, license number, and contact information and the contact information for at least one physical veterinary clinic in the vicinity of the patient's location and instructions for how to receive patient follow-up care or assistance if the veterinarian and client are unable to communicate because of a technological or equipment failure or if there is an adverse reaction to treatment, and inform the client that, if medication is prescribed, the client may obtain a prescription that may be filled at the pharmacy of his or her choice. The veterinarian shall obtain from the client a signed and dated statement indicating the client has received the required information before practicing veterinary telehealth;

(e) Shall prescribe all drugs and medications in accordance with all federal and state laws and the following requirements:

1. A veterinarian practicing veterinary telehealth may order, prescribe, or make available medicinal drugs or drugs specifically approved for use in animals by the United States Food and Drug Administration, the use of which conforms to the approved labeling. Prescriptions based solely on a telehealth evaluation may be issued for up to 1 month for products labeled solely for flea and tick control and up to 14 days of treatment for other animal drugs. Prescriptions based solely on a telehealth evaluation may not be renewed without an in-person examination.

2. A veterinarian practicing veterinary telehealth may not order, prescribe, or make available medicinal drugs or drugs as defined in s. 465.003 approved by the United States Food and Drug Administration for human use or compounded antibacterial, antifungal, antiviral, or antiparasitic medications, unless the veterinarian has conducted an in-person physical examination of the animal or made medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal is kept.

3. A veterinarian may not use veterinary telehealth to prescribe a controlled substance as defined in chapter 893 unless the veterinarian has conducted an in-person physical examination of the animal or made medically appropriate and timely visits within the past year to the premises where the animal is kept.

4. A veterinarian practicing veterinary telehealth may not prescribe a drug or other medication for use on a horse engaged in racing or training at a facility under the jurisdiction of the Florida Gaming Control Commission or on a horse that is a covered horse as defined in the federal Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act, 15 U.S.C. ss. 3051 et seq.;

(f) Shall be familiar with available veterinary resources, including emergency resources, near the patient's location and be able to provide the client with a list of nearby veterinarians who may be able to see the patient in person upon the request of the client;

(g) Shall keep, maintain, and make available a summary of the patient record as provided in s. 474.2165; and

(h) May not use veterinary telehealth to issue an international or interstate travel certificate or a certificate of veterinary inspection.

(5) A veterinarian personally acquainted with the caring and keeping of an animal or group of animals on food-producing animal operations on land classified as agricultural pursuant to s. 193.461 who has recently seen the animal or group of animals or has made medically appropriate and timely visits to the premises where the animal or group of animals is kept may practice veterinary telehealth for animals on such operations.

Section 3. Subsection (1) of section 474.2165, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

474.2165 Ownership and control of veterinary medical patient records; report or copies of records to be furnished.—

(1) As used in this section, the term "records owner" means any veterinarian who generates a medical record after making an a-physical examination of, or administering treatment or dispensing legend drugs to, any patient; any veterinarian to whom records are transferred by a previous records owner; or any veterinarian's employer, provided the employment contract or agreement between the employer and the veterinarian designates the employer as the records owner.

Section 4. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

And the title is amended as follows:

(3) This section does not require an independent special district governed by an appointed governing body to convert to an elected governing body.

Section 5. Section 189.0313, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

189.0313 Independent special districts; boundaries; exception.—Notwithstanding any special law or general law of local application to the contrary, the boundaries of an independent special district shall only be changed by general law or special act. SCR 7066—A concurrent resolution applying to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for the sole purpose of proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States stating that the United States Congress shall make no law applying to the citizens of the United States that does not also equally apply to all United States Representatives, United States Senators, and all members of the federal legislative branch.

WHEREAS, one of the fundamental underpinnings of a democracy is the rule of law; and

WHEREAS, in order for the rule of law to be respected and adhered to by the citizenry, it must be applied fairly and in an equal manner; and

WHEREAS, Section One of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution reads in part “...nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.”; and

WHEREAS, the United States Supreme Court has held that the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution requires equal protection under the laws of the federal government; and

WHEREAS, in spite of the Equal Protection Clause and the Due Process Clause within the Constitution, over time the United States Congress has chosen on a number of occasions to exempt its members and the federal legislative branch from the requirements of laws it has enacted that apply to all others throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, the United States Congress acknowledged this issue and decided to address it in part by passing the Congressional Accountability Act of 1995, which applied to Congress and its agencies to adhere to the requirements of several laws that it had previously exempted itself from; and

WHEREAS, at present, Congress and the federal legislative branch remain exempt from the requirements of many laws Congress has passed; and

WHEREAS, having laws passed by the United States Congress apply differently to the general public versus members of Congress and the federal legislative branch is a fundamental unfairness under the rule of law, and violates the spirit of the Constitution’s Equal Protection and Due Process Clauses; and

WHEREAS, under Article V of the United States Constitution, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, the Congress shall call a Constitutional Convention for the purpose of proposing amendments, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida, the House of Representatives Concurring:

That the Legislature of the State of Florida applies to Congress, under Article V of the Constitution of the United States, to call a convention limited to proposing an amendment to the Constitution which would prohibit the United States Congress from making any law applying to the citizens of the United States that does not also equally apply to all United States Representatives, United States Senators, and all members of the federal legislative branch; and

That this application constitutes a continuing application in accordance with Article V until the legislatures of at least two-thirds of the states have made applications on the same subject.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Legislature also proposes that the legislatures of the states comprising the United States apply to the Congress to call a constitutional convention for proposing such an amendment to the Constitution.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this concurrent resolution is revoked and withdrawn, nullified, and superseded to the same effect as if it had never been passed, and retroactive to the date of passage, if it is used for the purpose of calling a convention or used in support of conducting a convention to amend the Constitution of the United States with any agenda other than to propose an amendment to the Constitution which would prohibit the United States Congress from making any law applying to the citizens of the United States that does not also equally apply to all United States Representatives, United States Senators, and all members of the federal legislative branch.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this application be dispatched to the President of the United States, to the President of the United States Senate, to the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, to each member of the Florida delegation to the United States Congress, and to the presiding officer of each house of the legislature of each state.
