Section 9. Section 627.0665, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

Section 10. Paragraph (a) of subsection (6) of section 627.351, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.351 Insurance risk apportionment plans.—

(6) CITIZENS PROPERTY INSURANCE CORPORATION.—

(a) The public purpose of this subsection is to ensure that there is an orderly market for property insurance for residents and businesses of this state.

1. The Legislature finds that private insurers are unwilling or unable to provide affordable property insurance coverage in this state to the extent sought and needed. The absence of affordable property insurance threatens the public health, safety, and welfare and likewise threatens the economic health of the state. The state therefore has a compelling public interest and a public purpose to assist in assuring that property in this ~~the~~ state is insured and that it is insured at affordable rates so as to facilitate the remediation, reconstruction, and replacement of damaged or destroyed property in order to reduce or avoid the negative effects otherwise resulting to the public health, safety, and welfare, to the economy of the state, and to the revenues of the state and local governments which are needed to provide for the public welfare. It is necessary, therefore, to provide affordable property insurance to applicants who are in good faith entitled to procure insurance through the voluntary market but are unable to do so. The Legislature intends, therefore, that affordable property insurance be provided and that it continue to be provided, as long as necessary, through Citizens Property Insurance Corporation, a government entity that is an integral part of the state, and that is not a private insurance company. To that end, the corporation shall strive to increase the availability of affordable property insurance in this state, while achieving efficiencies and economies, and while providing service to policyholders, applicants, and agents which is no less than the quality generally provided in the voluntary market, for the achievement of the foregoing public purposes. Because it is essential for this government entity to have the maximum financial resources to pay claims following a catastrophic hurricane, it is the intent of the Legislature that the corporation continue to be an integral part of the state and that the income of the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation and that interest on the debt obligations issued by the corporation be exempt from federal income taxation.

2. The Residential Property and Casualty Joint Underwriting Association originally created by this statute shall be known as the Citizens Property Insurance Corporation. The corporation shall provide insurance for residential and commercial property, for applicants who are entitled, but, in good faith, are unable to procure insurance through the voluntary market. The corporation shall operate pursuant to a plan of operation approved by order of the Financial Services Commission. The plan is subject to continuous review by the commission. The commission may, by order, withdraw approval of all or part of a plan if the commission determines that conditions have changed since approval was granted and that the purposes of the plan require changes in the plan. For the purposes of this subsection, residential coverage includes both personal lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by homeowner, mobile home owner, dwelling, tenant, condominium unit owner, and similar policies; and commercial lines residential coverage, which consists of the type of coverage provided by condominium association, apartment building, and similar policies.

3. With respect to coverage for personal lines residential structures:

a. Effective January 1, 2014, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $1 million or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $1 million or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2013, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term. The office shall approve the method used by the corporation for valuing the dwelling replacement cost for the purposes of this subparagraph. If a policyholder is insured by the corporation before being determined to be ineligible pursuant to this subparagraph and such policyholder files a lawsuit challenging the determination, the policyholder may remain insured by the corporation until the conclusion of the litigation.

b. Effective January 1, 2015, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $900,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $900,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2014, may continue to be covered by the corporation only until the end of the policy term.

c. Effective January 1, 2016, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $800,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $800,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2015, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term.

d. Effective January 1, 2017, a structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of $700,000 or more, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation. Such dwellings insured by the corporation on December 31, 2016, may continue to be covered by the corporation until the end of the policy term.

The requirements of sub-subparagraphs b.-d. do not apply in counties where the office determines there is not a reasonable degree of competition. In such counties a personal lines residential structure that has a dwelling replacement cost of less than $1 million, or a single condominium unit that has a combined dwelling and contents replacement cost of less than $1 million, is eligible for coverage by the corporation.

4. It is the intent of the Legislature that policyholders, applicants, and agents of the corporation receive service and treatment of the highest possible level but never less than that generally provided in the voluntary market. It is also intended that the corporation be held to service standards no less than those applied to insurers in the voluntary market by the office with respect to responsiveness, timeliness, customer courtesy, and overall dealings with policyholders, applicants, or agents of the corporation.

5.a. Effective January 1, 2009, a personal lines residential structure that is located in the "wind-borne debris region," as defined in s. 1609.2, International Building Code (2006), and that has an insured value on the structure of $750,000 or more is not eligible for coverage by the corporation unless the structure has opening protections as required under the Florida Building Code for a newly constructed residential structure in that area. A residential structure is deemed to comply with this sub-subparagraph if it has shutters or opening protections on all openings and if such opening protections complied with the Florida Building Code at the time they were installed.

b. Any major structure, as defined in s. 161.54(6)(a), that is newly constructed, or rebuilt, repaired, restored, or remodeled to increase the total square footage of finished area by more than 25 percent, pursuant to a permit applied for after July 1, 2015, is not eligible for coverage by the corporation if the structure is seaward of the coastal construction control line established pursuant to s. 161.053 or is within the Coastal Barrier Resources System as designated by 16 U.S.C. ss. 3501-3510.

6. With respect to wind-only coverage for commercial lines residential condominiums, ~~effective July 1, 2014,~~ a condominium ~~may~~ shall be deemed ineligible for coverage ~~when~~ if 50 percent or more of the units are rented more than eight times in a calendar year for a rental agreement period of less than 30 days.

Section 11. Subsection (1) of section 627.421, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.421 Delivery of policy.—

(1) Subject to the insurer's requirement as to payment of premium, every policy shall be mailed, delivered, or electronically transmitted to the insured or to the person entitled thereto not later than 60 days after the effectuation of coverage. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an insurer may allow a policyholder of personal lines insurance to affirmatively elect delivery of the policy documents, including, but not limited to, policies, endorsements, notices, or documents, by electronic means in lieu of delivery by mail. Electronic transmission of a policy for commercial risks, including, but not limited to, workers' compensation and employers' liability, commercial automobile liability, commercial automobile physical damage, commercial lines residential property, commercial nonresidential property, farmowners insurance, and the types of commercial lines risks set forth in s. 627.062(3)(d), constitutes delivery to the insured or to the person entitled to delivery, unless the insured or the person entitled to delivery communicates to the insurer in writing or electronically that he or she does not agree to delivery by electronic means. ~~Electronic transmission shall include a notice to the insured or to the person entitled to delivery of a policy of his or her right to receive the policy via United States mail rather than via electronic transmission. A paper copy of the policy shall be provided to the insured or to the person entitled to delivery at his or her request.~~

Section 12. Paragraph (d) of subsection (4) of section 627.701, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.701 Liability of insureds; coinsurance; deductibles.—

(d)1. A personal lines residential property insurance policy covering a risk valued at less than $500,000 may not have a hurricane deductible in excess of 10 percent of the policy dwelling limits, unless the following conditions are met:

a. The policyholder must personally write or type and provide to the insurer the following statement ~~in his or her own handwriting~~ and sign his or her name, which must also be signed by every other named insured on the policy, and dated: "I do not want the insurance on my home to pay for the first (specify dollar value) of damage from hurricanes. I will pay those costs. My insurance will not."

b. If the structure insured by the policy is subject to a mortgage or lien, the policyholder must provide the insurer with a written statement from the mortgageholder or lienholder indicating that the mortgageholder or lienholder approves the policyholder electing to have the specified deductible.

2. A deductible subject to the requirements of this paragraph applies for the term of the policy and for each renewal thereafter. Changes to the deductible percentage may be implemented only as of the date of renewal.

3. An insurer shall keep the original copy of the signed statement required by this paragraph, electronically or otherwise, and provide a copy to the policyholder providing the signed statement. A signed statement meeting the requirements of this paragraph creates a presumption that there was an informed, knowing election of coverage.

4. The commission shall adopt rules providing appropriate alternative methods for providing the statements required by this section for policyholders who have a handicapping or disabling condition that prevents them from providing a handwritten statement.

Section 13. Paragraph (a) of subsection (2) and subsection (3) of section 627.712, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

627.712 Residential windstorm coverage required; availability of exclusions for windstorm or contents.—

(2) A property insurer must make available, at the option of the policyholder, an exclusion of windstorm coverage.

(a) The coverage may be excluded only if:

1. When the policyholder is a natural person, the policyholder personally writes or types and provides to the insurer the following statement ~~in his or her own handwriting~~ and signs his or her name, which must also be signed by every other named insured on the policy, and dated: "I do not want the insurance on my (home/mobile home/condominium unit) to pay for damage from windstorms. I will pay those costs. My insurance will not."

2. When the policyholder is other than a natural person, the policyholder provides to the insurer on the policyholder's letterhead the following statement that must be signed by the policyholder's authorized representative and dated: "(Name of entity) does not want the insurance on its (type of structure) to pay for damage from windstorms. (Name of entity) will be responsible for these costs. (Name of entity's) insurance will not."

(3) An insurer issuing a residential property insurance policy, except for a condominium unit owner policy or a tenant policy, must make available, at the option of the policyholder, an exclusion of coverage for the contents. The coverage may be excluded only if the policyholder personally writes or types and provides to the insurer the following statement ~~in his or her own handwriting~~ and signs his or her signature, which must also be signed by every other named insured on the policy, and dated: "I do not want the insurance on my (home/mobile home) to pay for the costs to repair or replace any contents that are damaged. I will pay those costs. My insurance will not."

Section 14. Effective upon this act becoming a law, paragraph (b) of subsection (1) and paragraph (a) of subsection (9) of section 627.7152, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

627.7152 Assignment agreements.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(b) "Assignment agreement" means any instrument by which post-loss benefits under a residential property insurance policy or commercial property insurance policy, as that term is defined in s. 627.0625(1), are assigned or transferred, or acquired in any manner, in whole or in part, to or from a person providing services, including, but not limited to, services to inspect, protect, repair, restore, or replace property or to mitigate against further damage to the property. The term does not include any instrument by which a licensed public adjuster as defined in s. 626.854(1) receives any compensation, payment, commission, fee, or other thing of value for providing services under such licensure.

(9)(a) An assignee must provide the named insured, insurer, and the assignor, if not the named insured, with a written notice of intent to initiate litigation before filing suit under the policy. Such notice must be served at least 10 business days before filing suit, but not before the insurer has made a determination of coverage under s. 627.70131, by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the name and mailing address designated by the insurer in the policy forms or by electronic delivery to the e-mail address designated by the insurer in the policy forms at least 10 business days before filing suit, but may not be served before the insurer has made a determination of coverage under s. 627.70131. The notice must specify the damages in dispute, the amount claimed, and a presuit settlement demand. Concurrent with the notice, and as a precondition to filing suit, the assignee must provide the named insured, insurer, and the assignor, if not the named insured, a detailed written invoice or estimate of services, including itemized information on equipment, materials, and supplies; the number of labor hours; and, in the case of work performed, proof that the work has been performed in accordance with accepted industry standards.

Please bless and guide these legislators who have been chosen and elected to represent the people of our great state. Guide them to find the answers to the problems of our age, and may they enact laws that benefit the good of all people and not just the few. May they be models of justice, integrity, and service. 95.11, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

95.11 Limitations other than for the recovery of real property.—Actions other than for recovery of real property shall be commenced as follows:

(3) WITHIN FOUR YEARS.—

(c) An action founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property, ~~with the time running from 45 days after the date of actual possession by the owner, the date of completion of the improvement or the issuance of a certificate of occupancy,~~ the date of abandonment of construction if the improvement is not completed, ~~except as provided in subparagraphs 1.-5.~~

1. If the action involves a latent defect, the action must be commenced within 7 years, and the time begins to run 45 days after the completion of the improvement or the date of abandonment of construction if the improvement is not completed.

2. If the action alleges a latent defect to a single family residence and the person alleging the latent defect can show that the engineer, architect, or contractor or his or her employer fraudulently concealed the defect, the action may be commenced within 10 years after the time for commencing an action begins to run, provided that the action is commenced within 1 year after the discovery of the fraudulent concealment or within the time period in subparagraph 1.

3. If the action alleges a latent defect to an improvement other than a single family residence and the person alleging the latent defect can show that the engineer, architect, or contractor or his or her employer fraudulently concealed the defect, the action may be commenced at any time, provided that the action is commenced within 1 year after the discovery of the fraudulent concealment or within the time period in subparagraph 1.

4. If a single family residence is built by a professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor for speculation or for use as a model home, not for use as the person’s residence, and title is not transferred to an unrelated party for more than 45 days after the issuance of the certificate of occupancy or the closing or expiration of the building permit, the time begins to run from the date that title is transferred to an unrelated party.

5. ~~—or the date of completion of the contract or termination of the contract between the professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor and his or her employer, whichever date is latest, except that, when the action involves a latent defect, the time runs from the time the defect is discovered or should have been discovered with the exercise of due diligence. In any event, the action must be commenced within 10 years after the date of actual possession by the owner, the date of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy, the date of abandonment of construction if not completed, or the date of completion of the contract or termination of the contract between the professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor and his or her employer, whichever date is latest. However, Counterclaims, cross-claims, and third-party claims that arise out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence set out or attempted to be set out in a pleading may be commenced up to 1 year after the pleading to which such claims relate is served, even if such claims would otherwise be time barred.~~

6. As used in this paragraph, the term:

a. “Completion of an improvement” means issuance of the certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion for the improvement, or the closing as defined in s. 553.79(17)(a), or expiration of the building permit for the improvement if the improvement is not required to have a certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion.

b. “Single family residence” means a one-family, two-family, or three-family residence not exceeding two habitable stories above ground and no more than one uninhabitable story and accessory use structures made in connection with the residence. ~~With respect to actions founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property, if such construction is performed pursuant to a duly issued building permit and if a local enforcement agency, state enforcement agency, or special inspector, as those terms are defined in s. 553.71, has issued a final certificate of occupancy or certificate of completion, then as to the construction which is within the scope of such building permit and certificate, the correction of defects to completed work or repair of completed work, whether performed under warranty or otherwise, does not extend the period of time within which an action must be commenced. Completion of the contract means the later of the date of final performance of all the contracted services or the date that final payment~~ for such services becomes due without regard to the date final payment is made.

Section 2. Section 553.84, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(c) “Significant damage” means a level of adverse impact to a building, structure, or facility, or its system which results or could reasonably result in economic damage or loss that exceeds the common expectations, and the cost of restoring the damage or preventing such damage to the building, structure, or facility, or its system, would equal or exceed 25 percent of the market value of the building, structure, or facility, or its system, if built in accordance with the Florida Building Code. The term does not include Florida Building Code violations that are cosmetic, minimal, or inconsequential to the overall performance of a building, structure, or facility, or its system.

(2)(a) Notwithstanding any other remedies available and except as provided in paragraph (b), any person or party, in an individual capacity or on behalf of a class of persons or parties, damaged as a result of a violation of this part or a material violation of the Florida Building Code, has a cause of action in any court of competent jurisdiction against the person or party who committed the violation.

(b) This section does not authorize a cause of action against a ~~however, if the~~ person or party who obtained ~~obtains~~ the required building permits and any local government or public agency having with authority to enforce the Florida Building Code approved ~~approves~~ the plans and, ~~if the construction project passed~~ passes all required inspections under the code, and ~~if there is no personal injury or damage to property other than the property that is the subject of the permits, plans, and inspections, this section does not apply~~ unless the person or party knew or should have known that the violation existed.

Section 3. Present subsections (8) through (15) of section 558.004, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (9) through (16), respectively, a new subsection (8) is added to that section, and paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (1) and subsection (7) of that section are amended, to read:

558.004 Notice and opportunity to repair.—

(b)1. The notice of claim must include an inspection report that is verified pursuant to s. 92.525 by a contractor, engineer, building code inspector, or other inspector who has a state license and experience relevant to the type of construction that is the basis of the claim. The report must include all of the following:

a. A short statement describing the relevant experience and licenses of the person conducting the inspection.

b. A description of each alleged construction defect; a clear description of the location of the defect; and, if known, an explanation of the damage resulting from the defect.

c. Documentation of the defect with photographs or videos, and the results of any testing which pertain to the defect.

d. A description of how the inspection was conducted, including a description of any specialized equipment used during the inspection or of any tests conducted.

e. An explanation of whether or to what extent and how the property owner or person acting at the direction of the property owner inspected, maintained, repaired, or renovated a portion of the structure containing the alleged defect since the owner took possession of the structure.

2. The preparation of an inspection report in bad faith constitutes grounds for discipline by any relevant licensing board or agency.

3. ~~The claimant and the person preparing the inspection report do not have an describe in reasonable detail the nature of each alleged construction defect and, if known, the damage or loss resulting from the defect. Based upon at least a visual inspection by the claimant or its agents, the notice of claim must identify the location of each alleged construction defect sufficiently to enable the responding parties to locate the alleged defect without undue burden. The claimant has no obligation to perform destructive or other testing for purposes of this notice.~~

(c) The claimant shall endeavor to serve the notice of claim within 15 days after discovery of an alleged defect, but the failure to serve notice of claim within 15 days does not bar the filing of an action, subject to s. 558.003. This subsection does not preclude a claimant from filing an action sooner than 60 days, or 120 days as applicable, after service of written notice as expressly provided in subsection (6), subsection (7), or subsection (9) ~~(8)~~.

(7)(a) A claimant who receives a timely settlement offer must accept or reject the offer by serving written notice of such acceptance or rejection on the person making the offer within 45 days after receiving the settlement offer.

(b) If the claimant rejects the settlement offer, the claimant must include the reasons for rejecting the offer in the notice rejecting the offer. If the claimant believes that the settlement offer omitted reference to any portion of the claim or was unreasonable in any manner, the claimant must include in the notice the items that the claimant believes were omitted and state in detail all known reasons why the claimant believes the settlement offer is unreasonable.

(c) Upon receipt of a claimant’s notice of rejection and the reasons for such rejection, the person served with the rejection, within 15 days after receipt of the notice, may make a supplemental offer of repair or monetary payment, or both, to the claimant.

(d) If the claimant rejects a supplemental offer to repair the construction defect or to settle the claim by monetary payment or a combination of both, the claimant must serve written notice of the claimant’s rejection on the person making the supplemental offer. The notice must include all known reasons for the claimant’s rejection of the supplemental settlement offer.

(e) If a claimant initiates an action without first accepting or rejecting the offer or supplemental offer, the court shall stay the action upon timely motion until the claimant complies with this subsection.

(8) If a claimant accepts an offer made pursuant to paragraph (5)(b), paragraph (5)(c), or paragraph (5)(e) or a supplemental offer made pursuant to paragraph (7)(c), the claimant must, within 90 days after the acceptance, enter into a contract with one or more appropriately licensed contractors to complete the repairs necessary to remedy the alleged construction defect. The offeror or insurer shall pay directly to the contractor or contractors, from the accepted monetary payment, the amounts necessary to begin and to continue the repairs as the work is performed and expenses are incurred. The offeror or insurer may not require the claimant to advance payment for the repairs. The repairs must be completed within 12 months after the claimant enters into the contract for repairs, absent mutual agreement between the offeror or insurer and the claimant.

Section 4. Section 558.0046, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

558.0046 Duty to repair construction defect.—If a claimant receives compensation for an alleged construction defect from a contractor, a subcontractor, a supplier, a design professional, or an insurer, the claimant must repair the defect. A claimant who receives compensation and fails to fully repair the defect is liable to a purchaser of the property for any damages resulting from the failure to disclose the defect.

Section 5. (1) The amendments made by this act to s. 95.11(3)(c), Florida Statutes, apply to any action commenced on or after July 1, 2022, regardless of when the cause of action accrued. However, any action that would not have been barred under s. 95.11(3)(c), Florida Statutes, before the amendments made by this act to that section may be commenced before July 1, 2023. If such action is not commenced by July 1, 2023, and is barred by the amendments made by this act to s. 95.11(3)(c), Florida Statutes, the action is barred.

(2) Sections 2, 3, and 4 of this act apply to compensation for construction defects received on or after July 1, 2022, and to civil actions and proceedings for a construction defect or a building code violation which —was read the second time by title.

Pursuant to Rule 7.1, there being no objection, consideration of the following late-filed amendment was allowed:

Senator Hutson moved the following amendment which was adopted:

Amendment 1 (289912) (with title amendment)—Delete lines 191-428 and insert: repopulation of such habitats.

a. Each lead land managing agency shall:

(I) In consultation with the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission, consider in the management plan for all state lands under its management which are greater in size than 40 contiguous acres the feasibility of using a portion of the property as a gopher tortoise recipient site. If, during consultation with the commission, the lead land managing agency determines that the recipient site management is not in conflict with the primary management objects of the parcel, the management plan must contain a component or section prepared by a qualified wildlife biologist which assesses the feasibility of managing the site as a recipient site for gopher tortoises, consistent with the rules of the commission.

(II) Consult with the commission on feasibility assessments and implementation of gopher tortoise management.

b. State lands may be used as gopher tortoise recipient sites only if there are fewer than three permitted private recipient sites available for gopher tortoise relocations which are actively accepting gopher tortoise relocations. The commission shall work with each state land management agency to identify at least nine sites on state lands which are feasible for use as gopher tortoise recipient sites. The lead land management agencies of such identified sites must submit a gopher tortoise recipient site permit application to the commission by December 31, 2022, and the sites must be permitted and ready to accept relocated gopher tortoises by July 1, 2023. If the commission does not approve or deny a complete gopher tortoise recipient site permit application within 45 days after receipt of the application, the application shall be deemed approved.

c. ~~In addition,~~ The lead land managing agency of such state lands may use fees received from public or private entities for projects to offset adverse impacts to imperiled species or their habitat in order to restore, enhance, manage, repopulate, or acquire land and to implement land management plans developed under s. 253.034 or a land management prospectus developed and implemented under this chapter. Such fees shall be deposited into a foundation or fund created by each land management agency under s. 379.223, s. 589.012, or s. 259.032(9)(c), to be used solely to restore, manage, enhance, repopulate, or acquire imperiled species habitat.

12. There is a need to change the focus and direction of the state's major land acquisition programs and to extend funding and bonding capabilities, so that future generations may enjoy the natural resources of this state.

(b) The Legislature recognizes that acquisition of lands in fee simple is only one way to achieve the aforementioned goals and encourages the use of less-than-fee interests, other techniques, and the development of creative partnerships between governmental agencies and private landowners. Such partnerships may include those that advance the restoration, enhancement, management, or repopulation of imperiled species habitat on state lands as provided for in subparagraph (a)11. Easements acquired pursuant to s. 570.71(2)(a) and (b), land protection agreements, and nonstate funded tools such as rural land stewardship areas, sector planning, gopher tortoise recipient sites, and mitigation should be used, where appropriate, to bring environmentally sensitive tracts under an acceptable level of protection at a lower financial cost to the public, and to provide private landowners with the opportunity to enjoy and benefit from their property.

Section 2. Paragraphs (a) and (c) of subsection (1) of section 327.352, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

327.352 Tests for alcohol, chemical substances, or controlled substances; implied consent; refusal.—

(1)(a)1. The Legislature declares that the operation of a vessel is a privilege that must be exercised in a reasonable manner. In order to protect the public health and safety, it is essential that a lawful and effective means of reducing the incidence of boating while impaired or intoxicated be established. Therefore, a person who accepts the privilege extended by the laws of this state of operating a vessel within this state is, by operating such vessel, deemed to have given his or her consent to submit to an approved chemical test or physical test including, but not limited to, an infrared light test of his or her breath for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of his or her blood or breath if the person is lawfully arrested for any offense allegedly committed while the person was operating a vessel while under the influence of alcoholic beverages. The chemical or physical breath test must be incidental to a lawful arrest and administered at the request of a law enforcement officer who has reasonable cause to believe such person was operating the vessel within this state while under the influence of alcoholic beverages. The administration of a breath test does not preclude the administration of another type of test. The person shall be told that his or her failure to submit to any lawful test of his or her breath under this chapter will result in a civil penalty of $500, and ~~shall also be told~~ that if he or she refuses to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath and he or she has been previously fined under s. 327.35215 or ~~has previously had~~ his or her driving privilege has been previously driver license suspended for refusal to submit to any lawful test of his or her breath, urine, or blood, he or she commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, in addition to any other penalties provided by law. The refusal to submit to a chemical or physical breath test upon the request of a law enforcement officer as provided in this section is admissible into evidence in any criminal proceeding.

2. A person who accepts the privilege extended by the laws of this state of operating a vessel within this state is, by operating such vessel, deemed to have given his or her consent to submit to a urine test for the purpose of detecting the presence of chemical substances as set forth in s. 877.111 or controlled substances if the person is lawfully arrested for any offense allegedly committed while the person was operating a vessel while under the influence of chemical substances or controlled substances. The urine test must be incidental to a lawful arrest and administered at a detention facility or any other facility, mobile or otherwise, which is equipped to administer such tests at the request of a law enforcement officer who has reasonable cause to believe such person was operating a vessel within this state while under the influence of chemical substances or controlled substances. The urine test ~~must shall~~ be administered at a detention facility or any other facility, mobile or otherwise, which is equipped to administer such test in a reasonable manner that will ensure the accuracy of the specimen and maintain the privacy of the individual involved. The administration of a urine test does not preclude the administration of another type of test. The person shall be told that his or her failure to submit to any lawful test of his or her urine under this chapter will result in a civil penalty of $500, and ~~shall also be told~~ that if he or she refuses to submit to a lawful test of his or her urine and he or she has been previously fined under s. 327.35215 or ~~has previously had~~ his or her driving privilege has been previously driver license suspended for refusal to submit to any lawful test of his or her breath, urine, or blood, he or she commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, in addition to any other penalties provided by law. The refusal to submit to a urine test upon the request of a law enforcement officer as provided in this section is admissible into evidence in any criminal proceeding.

(c) A person who accepts the privilege extended by the laws of this state of operating a vessel within this state is, by operating such vessel, deemed to have given his or her consent to submit to an approved blood test for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of the blood or a blood test for the purpose of determining the presence of chemical substances or controlled substances as provided in this section if there is reasonable cause to believe the person was operating a vessel while under the influence of alcoholic beverages or chemical or controlled substances and the person appears for treatment at a hospital, clinic, or other medical facility and the administration of a breath or urine test is impractical or impossible. As used in this paragraph, the term "other medical facility" includes an ambulance or other medical emergency vehicle. The blood test ~~must shall~~ be performed in a reasonable manner. A person who is incapable of refusal by reason of unconsciousness or other mental or physical condition is deemed not to have withdrawn his or her consent to such test. A person who is capable of refusal shall be told that his or her failure to submit to such a blood test will result in a civil penalty of $500. The refusal to submit to a blood test upon the request of a law enforcement officer ~~is shall be~~ admissible in evidence in any criminal proceeding.

Section 3. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 327.35215, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

327.35215 Penalty for failure to submit to test.—

(1) A person ~~who is~~ lawfully arrested for an alleged violation of s. 327.35 and who refuses to submit to a blood test, breath test, or urine test pursuant to s. 327.352 is subject to a civil penalty of $500.

(2) When a person refuses to submit to a blood test, breath test, or urine test pursuant to s. 327.352, a law enforcement officer ~~who is~~ authorized to make arrests for violations of this chapter shall file with the clerk of the court, on a form provided by the ~~commission department~~, a certified statement that probable cause existed to arrest the person for a violation of s. 327.35 and that the person refused to submit to a test as required by s. 327.352. Along with the statement, the officer ~~shall~~ ~~must~~ also submit a sworn statement on a form provided by the ~~commission department~~ that the person has been advised of both the penalties for failure to submit to the blood, breath, or urine test and the procedure for requesting a hearing.

Section 4. Present paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section 327.371, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as paragraph (d), and a new paragraph (c) is added to that subsection, to read:

327.371 Human-powered vessels regulated.—

The teams must use their best efforts to make use of the adjacent area outside of the marked channel. The commission must be notified in writing of the details of any such competition, and the notification must include, but need not be limited to, the date, time, and location of the competition.*

327.4107 Vessels at risk of becoming derelict on waters of this state.—

(2) An officer of the commission or of a law enforcement agency specified in s. 327.70 may determine that a vessel is at risk of becoming derelict if any of the following conditions exist:

(f) The vessel is tied to an unlawful or unpermitted structure or mooring.

Section 6. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 327.46, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

327.46 Boating-restricted areas.—

(1) Boating-restricted areas, including, but not limited to, restrictions of vessel speeds and vessel traffic, may be established on the waters of this state for any purpose necessary to protect the safety of the public if such restrictions are necessary based on boating accidents, visibility, hazardous currents or water levels, vessel traffic congestion, or other navigational hazards or to protect seagrasses on privately owned submerged lands.

(b) Municipalities and counties may establish the following boating-restricted areas by ordinance, including, notwithstanding the prohibition in s. 327.60(2)(c), within the portion of the Florida Intracoastal Waterway within their jurisdiction:

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Elder Kurt Kelly, a former Representative of the Florida House, Ocala:

Psalm 91 says, “He who dwells in the shelter of the most high will rest in the shadow of the almighty.” Let’s pray. Father, before the deliberations begin today and all the issues that may come before this august body, we stop and rest in you. We thank you that you have called out these men and women from their homes; you’ve ordained them for the purpose of good government. I thank you for the President of the Senate, President Simpson, for his leadership and wisdom. Thank you for President Pro Tempore Aaron Bean, for his love and compassion for this state and for all who are here today. Lord, I pray that everything they do and say may glorify you. I also thank you for the citizens of this state. Thank you for allowing us just to be a part of this great State of Florida. And now I pray for the children and families of this state, that we would continue to work to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity and give you glory. We pray this in your most holy name. Amen.

1011.62 Funds for operation of schools.—If the annual allocation from the Florida Education Finance Program to each district for operation of schools is not determined in the annual appropriations act or the substantive bill implementing the annual appropriations act, it shall be determined as follows:

(15) FUNDING COMPRESSION AND HOLD HARMLESS ALLOCATION.—The Legislature may provide an annual funding compression and hold harmless allocation in the General Appropriations Act. The allocation is created to provide additional funding to school districts if the school district's total funds per FTE in the prior year were less than the statewide average or if the school district's district cost differential in the current year is less than the prior year. The total allocation shall be distributed to eligible school districts as follows:

(a) Using the most recent prior year FEP calculation for each eligible school district, subtract the total school district funds per FTE from the state average funds per FTE, not including any adjustments made pursuant to paragraph (17)(b). The resulting funds per FTE difference, or a portion thereof, as designated in the General Appropriations Act, shall then be multiplied by the school district's total unweighted FTE.

(b) Multiply the absolute value of the difference between the eligible school district's current year district cost differential and the prior year district cost differential by a hold harmless factor as designated in the General Appropriations Act. The result is the district cost differential hold harmless index. Multiply the index by the eligible school district's weighted FTE and by the base student allocation as designated in the General Appropriations Act.

(c) For each district, select the greater of the amounts calculated in paragraphs (a) and (b) and upon summation, if the total amount is greater than the amount included in the General Appropriations Act, the allocation shall be prorated to the appropriation amount based on each participating school district's share.

This subsection expires July 1, 2023 ~~2022~~.

(a) Annually, in an amount to be determined by the Legislature through the General Appropriations Act, there shall be added to the basic amount for current operation of the FEP qualified districts a sparsity supplement which shall be computed as follows:

except that districts with a sparsity index of 1,000 or less shall be computed as having a sparsity index of 1,000, and districts having a sparsity index of 7,308 and above shall be computed as having a sparsity factor of zero. A qualified district's full-time equivalent student membership shall equal or be less than that prescribed annually by the Legislature in the appropriations act. The amount prescribed annually by the Legislature shall be no less than 17,000, but no more than 30,000 ~~24,000~~.

(b) The district sparsity index shall be computed by dividing the total number of full-time equivalent students in all programs in the district by the number of senior high school centers in the district, not in excess of three, which centers are approved as permanent centers by a survey made by the Department of Education. For districts with a full-time equivalent student membership of at least 20,000, but no more than 30,000 ~~24,000~~, the index shall be computed by dividing the total number of full-time equivalent students in all programs by the number of permanent senior high school centers in the district, not in excess of four.

The new system, the Florida Health Care Connection (FX) system, must provide better integration with subsystems supporting Florida's Medicaid program; uniformity, consistency, and improved access to data; and compatibility with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Medicaid Information Technology Architecture (MITA) as the system matures and expands its functionality.

(2) For purposes of replacing FMMIS and the current Medicaid fiscal agent, the Agency for Health Care Administration shall:

(b) Comply with and not exceed the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services funding authorizations for the FX system.

(3) The Secretary of Health Care Administration or the executive sponsor of the project shall serve as chair of the executive steering committee, and the committee shall take action by a vote of at least 10 affirmative votes with the chair voting on the prevailing side. A quorum of the executive steering committee consists of at least 11 members.

(4) The executive steering committee has the overall responsibility for ensuring that the project to replace FMMIS and the Medicaid fiscal agent meets its primary business objectives and shall:

(a) Identify and recommend to the Executive Office of the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives any statutory changes needed to implement the modular replacement to standardize, to the fullest extent possible, the state's healthcare data and business processes.

(b) Review and approve any changes to the project's scope, schedule, and budget which do not conflict with the requirements of subsections (1) and (2).

(c) Ensure that adequate resources are provided throughout all phases of the project.

(d) Approve all major project deliverables.

(e) Review and verify that all procurement and contractual documents associated with the replacement of the current FMMIS and Medicaid fiscal agent align with the scope, schedule, and anticipated budget for the project.

All actions taken pursuant to this subsection are subject to review and approval by the Legislative Budget Commission. This subsection expires July 1, 2023 ~~2022~~.

Section 31. The amendment to s. 1011.80(8)(b), Florida Statutes, made by this act expires July 1, 2023, and the text of that paragraph shall revert to that in existence on July 1, 2019, but not including any amendments made by this act or chapters 2019-116 and 2018-10, Laws of Florida, and any amendments to such text enacted other than by this act shall be preserved and continue to operate to the extent that such amendments are not dependent upon the portions of text which expire pursuant to this section.

Section 32. In order to implement Specific Appropriations 3201 through 3267 of the 2022-2023 General Appropriations Act, subsection (2) of section 215.18, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

215.18 Transfers between funds; limitation.—

(2) The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court may receive one or more trust fund loans to ensure that the state court system has funds sufficient to meet its appropriations in the 2022-2023 ~~2021-2022~~ General Appropriations Act. If the Chief Justice accesses the loan, he or she must notify the Governor and the chairs of the legislative appropriations committees in writing. The loan must come from other funds in the State Treasury which are for the time being or otherwise in excess of the amounts necessary to meet the just requirements of such last-mentioned funds. The Governor shall order the transfer of funds within 5 days after the written notification from the Chief Justice. If the Governor does not order the transfer, the Chief Financial Officer shall transfer the requested funds. (1) The Department of Juvenile Justice is required to review county juvenile detention payments to ensure that counties fulfill their financial responsibilities required in s. 985.6865, Florida Statutes. If the Department of Juvenile Justice determines that a county has not met its obligations, the department shall direct the Department of Revenue to deduct the amount owed to the Department of Juvenile Justice from the funds provided to the county under s. 218.23, Florida Statutes. The Department of Revenue shall transfer the funds withheld to the Shared County/State Juvenile Detention Trust Fund.

(2) As an assurance to holders of bonds issued by counties before July 1, 2022, for which distributions made pursuant to s. 218.23, Florida Statutes, are pledged, or bonds issued to refund such bonds which mature no later than the bonds they refunded and which result in a reduction of debt service payable in each fiscal year, the amount available for distribution to a county shall remain as provided by law and continue to be subject to any lien or claim on behalf of the bondholders. The Department of Revenue must ensure, based on information provided by an affected county, that any reduction in amounts distributed pursuant to subsection (1) does not reduce the amount of distribution to a county below the amount necessary for the timely payment of principal and interest when due on the bonds and the amount necessary to comply with any covenant under the bond resolution or other documents relating to the issuance of the bonds. If a reduction to a county's monthly distribution must be decreased in order to comply with this section, the Department of Revenue must notify the Department of Juvenile Justice of the amount of the decrease, and the Department of Juvenile Justice must send a bill for payment of such amount to the affected county.

(3) This section expires July 1, 2023.

Section 34. In order to implement Specific Appropriations 741 through 762A, 913 through 1056, and 1077 through 1112C of the 2022-2023 General Appropriations Act, and notwithstanding the expiration date in section 29 of chapter 2021-37, Laws of Florida, subsection (1), paragraph (a) of subsection (2), paragraph (a) of subsection (3), and subsections (5), (6), and (7) of section 27.40, Florida Statutes, are re-enacted to read:

27.40 Court-appointed counsel; circuit registries; minimum requirements; appointment by court.—

(1) Counsel shall be appointed to represent any individual in a criminal or civil proceeding entitled to court-appointed counsel under the Federal or State Constitution or as authorized by general law. The court shall appoint a public defender to represent indigent persons as authorized in s. 27.51. The office of criminal conflict and civil regional counsel shall be appointed to represent persons in those cases in which provision is made for court-appointed counsel, but only after the public defender has certified to the court in writing that the public defender is unable to provide representation due to a conflict of interest or is not authorized to provide representation. The public defender shall report, in the aggregate, the specific basis of all conflicts of interest certified to the court. On a quarterly basis, the public defender shall submit this information to the Justice Administrative Commission.

(2)(a) Private counsel shall be appointed to represent persons in those cases in which provision is made for court-appointed counsel but only after the office of criminal conflict and civil regional counsel has been appointed and has certified to the court in writing that the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel is unable to provide representation due to a conflict of interest. The criminal conflict and civil regional counsel shall report, in the aggregate, the specific basis of all conflicts of interest certified to the court. On a quarterly basis, the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel shall submit this information to the Justice Administrative Commission.

(3) In using a registry:

(a) The chief judge of the circuit shall compile a list of attorneys in private practice, by county and by category of cases, and provide the list to the clerk of court in each county. The chief judge of the circuit may restrict the number of attorneys on the general registry list. To be included on a registry, an attorney must certify that he or she:

1. Meets any minimum requirements established by the chief judge and by general law for court appointment;

2. Is available to represent indigent defendants in cases requiring court appointment of private counsel; and

3. Is willing to abide by the terms of the contract for services, s. 27.5304, and this section.

To be included on a registry, an attorney must enter into a contract for services with the Justice Administrative Commission. Failure to comply with the terms of the contract for services may result in termination of the contract and removal from the registry. Each attorney on the registry is responsible for notifying the clerk of the court and the Justice Administrative Commission of any change in his or her status. Failure to comply with this requirement is cause for termination of the contract for services and removal from the registry until the requirement is fulfilled.

(5) The Justice Administrative Commission shall approve uniform contract forms for use in procuring the services of private court-appointed counsel and uniform procedures and forms for use by a court-appointed attorney in support of billing for attorney's fees, costs, and related expenses to demonstrate the attorney's completion of specified duties. Such uniform contracts and forms for use in billing must be consistent with s. 27.5304, s. 216.311, and the General Appropriations Act and must contain the following statement: "The State of Florida's performance and obligation to pay under this contract is contingent upon an annual appropriation by the Legislature."

(6) After court appointment, the attorney must immediately file a notice of appearance with the court indicating acceptance of the appointment to represent the defendant and of the terms of the uniform contract as specified in subsection (5).

(7)(a) A private attorney appointed by the court from the registry to represent a client is entitled to payment as provided in s. 27.5304 so long as the requirements of subsection (1) and paragraph (2)(a) are met. An attorney appointed by the court who is not on the registry list may be compensated under s. 27.5304 only if the court finds in the order of appointment that there were no registry attorneys available for representation for that case and only if the requirements of subsection (1) and paragraph (2)(a) are met.

(b)1. The flat fee established in s. 27.5304 and the General Appropriations Act shall be presumed by the court to be sufficient compensation. The attorney shall maintain appropriate documentation, including contemporaneous and detailed hourly accounting of time spent representing the client. If the attorney fails to maintain such contemporaneous and detailed hourly records, the attorney waives the right to seek compensation in excess of the flat fee established in s. 27.5304 and the General Appropriations Act. These records and documents are subject to review by the Justice Administrative Commission and audit by the Auditor General, subject to the attorney-client privilege and work-product privilege. The attorney shall maintain the records and documents in a manner that enables the attorney to redact any information subject to a privilege in order to facilitate the commission's review of the records and documents and not to impede such review. The attorney may redact information from the records and documents only to the extent necessary to comply with the privilege. The Justice Administrative Commission shall review such records and shall contemporaneously document such review before authorizing payment to an attorney. Objections by or on behalf of the Justice Administrative Commission to records or documents or to claims for payment by the attorney shall be presumed correct by the court unless the court determines, in writing, that competent and substantial evidence exists to justify overcoming the presumption.

2. If an attorney fails, refuses, or declines to permit the commission or the Auditor General to review documentation for a case as provided in this paragraph, the attorney waives the right to seek, and the commission may not pay, compensation in excess of the flat fee established in s. 27.5304 and the General Appropriations Act for that case.

3. A finding by the commission that an attorney has waived the right to seek compensation in excess of the flat fee established in s. 27.5304 and the General Appropriations Act, as provided in this paragraph, shall be presumed to be correct, unless the court determines, in writing, that competent and substantial evidence exists to justify overcoming the presumption.

Section 35. The amendments to s. 27.40(1), (2)(a), (3)(a), (5), (6), and (7), Florida Statutes, as carried forward from chapter 2019-116, Laws of Florida, by this act, expire July 1, 2023, and the text of those subsections and paragraphs, as applicable, shall revert to that in existence on June 30, 2019, except that any amendments to such text enacted other than by this act shall be preserved and continue to operate to the extent that such amendments are not dependent upon the portions of text which expire pursuant to this section.

Section 36. In order to implement Specific Appropriations 741 through 762A, 913 through 1056, and 1077 through 1112C of the 2022-2023 General Appropriations Act, and notwithstanding the expiration date in section 31 of chapter 2021-37, Laws of Florida, subsection (13) of section 27.5304, Florida Statutes, is amended, and subsections (1), (3), (7), and (11), and paragraphs (a) through (e) of subsection (12) of that section are reenacted, to read:

27.5304 Private court-appointed counsel; compensation; notice.—

(1) Private court-appointed counsel appointed in the manner prescribed in s. 27.40(1) and (2)(a) shall be compensated by the Justice Administrative Commission only as provided in this section and the General Appropriations Act. The flat fees prescribed in this section are limitations on compensation. The specific flat fee amounts for compensation shall be established annually in the General Appropriations Act. The attorney also shall be reimbursed for reasonable and necessary expenses in accordance with s. 29.007. If the attorney is representing a defendant charged with more than one offense in the same case, the attorney shall be compensated at the rate provided for the most serious offense for which he or she represented the defendant. This section does not allow stacking of the fee limits established by this section.

(3) The court retains primary authority and responsibility for determining the reasonableness of all billings for attorney fees, costs, and related expenses, subject to statutory limitations and the requirements of s. 27.40(7). Private court-appointed counsel is entitled to compensation upon final disposition of a case.

(7) Counsel eligible to receive compensation from the state for representation pursuant to court appointment made in accordance with the requirements of s. 27.40(1) and (2)(a) in a proceeding under chapter 384, chapter 390, chapter 392, chapter 393, chapter 394, chapter 397, chapter 415, chapter 743, chapter 744, or chapter 984 shall receive compensation not to exceed the limits prescribed in the General Appropriations Act. Any such compensation must be determined as provided in s. 27.40(7).

(11) It is the intent of the Legislature that the flat fees prescribed under this section and the General Appropriations Act comprise the full and complete compensation for private court-appointed counsel. It is further the intent of the Legislature that the fees in this section are prescribed for the purpose of providing counsel with notice of the limit on the amount of compensation for representation in particular proceedings and the sole procedure and requirements for obtaining payment for the same.

(a) If court-appointed counsel moves to withdraw prior to the full performance of his or her duties through the completion of the case, the court shall presume that the attorney is not entitled to the payment of the full flat fee established under this section and the General Appropriations Act.

(b) If court-appointed counsel is allowed to withdraw from representation prior to the full performance of his or her duties through the completion of the case and the court appoints a subsequent attorney, the total compensation for the initial and any and all subsequent attorneys may not exceed the flat fee established under this section and the General Appropriations Act, except as provided in subsection (12).

This subsection constitutes notice to any subsequently appointed attorney that he or she will not be compensated the full flat fee.

(12) The Legislature recognizes that on rare occasions an attorney may receive a case that requires extraordinary and unusual effort.

(a) If counsel seeks compensation that exceeds the limits prescribed by law, he or she must file a motion with the chief judge for an order approving payment of attorney fees in excess of these limits.

1. Before filing the motion, the counsel shall deliver a copy of the intended billing, together with supporting affidavits and all other necessary documentation, to the Justice Administrative Commission.

2. The Justice Administrative Commission shall review the billings, affidavit, and documentation for completeness and compliance with contractual and statutory requirements and shall contemporaneously document such review before authorizing payment to an attorney. If the Justice Administrative Commission objects to any portion of the proposed billing, the objection and supporting reasons must be communicated in writing to the private court-appointed counsel. The counsel may thereafter file his or her motion, which must specify whether the commission objects to any portion of the billing or the sufficiency of documentation, and shall attach the commission's letter stating its objection.

(b) Following receipt of the motion to exceed the fee limits, the chief judge or a single designee shall hold an evidentiary hearing. The chief judge may select only one judge per circuit to hear and determine motions pursuant to this subsection, except multicounty circuits and the eleventh circuit may have up to two designees.

1. At the hearing, the attorney seeking compensation must prove by competent and substantial evidence that the case required extraordinary and unusual efforts. The chief judge or single designee shall consider criteria such as the number of witnesses, the complexity of the factual and legal issues, and the length of trial. The fact that a trial was conducted in a case does not, by itself, constitute competent substantial evidence of an extraordinary and unusual effort. In a criminal case, relief under this section may not be granted if the number of work hours does not exceed 75 or the number of the state's witnesses deposed does not exceed 20.

2. Objections by or on behalf of the Justice Administrative Commission to records or documents or to claims for payment by the attorney shall be presumed correct by the court unless the court determines, in writing, that competent and substantial evidence exists to justify overcoming the presumption. The chief judge or single designee shall enter a written order detailing his or her findings and identifying the extraordinary nature of the time and efforts of the attorney in the case which warrant exceeding the flat fee established by this section and the General Appropriations Act.

(c) A copy of the motion and attachments shall be served on the Justice Administrative Commission at least 20 business days before the date of a hearing. The Justice Administrative Commission has standing to appear before the court, and may appear in person or telephonically, including at the hearing under paragraph (b), to contest any motion for an order approving payment of attorney fees, costs, or related expenses and may participate in a hearing on the motion by use of telephonic or other communication equipment. The Justice Administrative Commission may contract with other public or private entities or individuals to appear before the court for the purpose of contesting any motion for an order approving payment of attorney fees, costs, or related expenses. The fact that the Justice Administrative Commission has not objected to any portion of the billing or to the sufficiency of the documentation is not binding on the court.

(d) If the chief judge or a single designee finds that counsel has proved by competent and substantial evidence that the case required extraordinary and unusual efforts, the chief judge or single designee shall order the compensation to be paid to the attorney at a percentage above the flat fee rate, depending on the extent of the unusual and extraordinary effort required. The percentage must be only the rate necessary to ensure that the fees paid are not confiscatory under common law. The percentage may not exceed 200 percent of the established flat fee, absent a specific finding that 200 percent of the flat fee in the case would be confiscatory. If the chief judge or single designee determines that 200 percent of the flat fee would be confiscatory, he or she shall order the amount of compensation using an hourly rate not to exceed $75 per hour for a noncapital case and $100 per hour for a capital case. However, the compensation calculated by using the hourly rate shall be only that amount necessary to ensure that the total fees paid are not confiscatory, subject to the requirements of s. 27.40(7).

(e) Any order granting relief under this subsection must be attached to the final request for a payment submitted to the Justice Administrative Commission and must satisfy the requirements of subparagraph (b)2.

(13) Notwithstanding the limitation set forth in subsection (5) and for the 2022-2023 ~~2021-2022~~ fiscal year only, the compensation for representation in a criminal proceeding may not exceed the following:

(a) For misdemeanors and juveniles represented at the trial level: $1,000.

(b) For noncapital, nonlife felonies represented at the trial level: $15,000.

(c) For life felonies represented at the trial level: $15,000.

(d) For capital cases represented at the trial level: $25,000. For purposes of this paragraph, a "capital case" is any offense for which the potential sentence is death and the state has not waived seeking the death penalty.

(e) For representation on appeal: $9,000.

(f) This subsection expires July 1, 2023 ~~2022~~.

Section 37. The amendments to s. 27.5304(1), (3), (7), (11), and (12)(a)-(e), Florida Statutes, as carried forward from chapter 2019-116, Laws of Florida, by this act, expire July 1, 2023, and the text of those subsections and paragraphs, as applicable, shall revert to that in existence on June 30, 2019, except that any amendments to such text enacted other than by this act shall be preserved and continue to operate to the extent that such amendments are not dependent upon the portions of text which expire pursuant to this section.

The department shall incorporate this initiative into its 2022 master leasing report required under s. 255.249(7), Florida Statutes, and may use tenant broker services to explore the possibilities of collocating office or storage space, to review the space needs of each agency, and to review the length and terms of potential* renewals or renegotiations. The department shall provide a report to the Executive Office of the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by November 1, 2022, which lists each lease contract for private office or storage space, the status of renegotiations, and the savings achieved. 29.008 County funding of court-related functions.—

(1) Counties are required by s. 14, Art. V of the State Constitution to fund the cost of communications services, existing radio systems, existing multiagency criminal justice information systems, and the cost of construction or lease, maintenance, utilities, and security of facilities for the circuit and county courts, public defenders' offices, state attorneys' offices, guardian ad litem offices, and the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county courts performing court-related functions. For purposes of this section, the term "circuit and county courts" includes the offices and staffing of the guardian ad litem programs, and the term "public defenders' offices" includes the offices of criminal conflict and civil regional counsel. The county designated under s. 35.05(1) as the headquarters for each appellate district shall fund these costs for the appellate division of the public defender's office in that county. For purposes of implementing these requirements, the term:

(a) "Facility" means reasonable and necessary buildings and office space and appurtenant equipment and furnishings, structures, real estate, easements, and related interests in real estate, including, but not limited to, those for the purpose of housing legal materials for use by the general public and personnel, equipment, or functions of the circuit or county courts, public defenders' offices, state attorneys' offices, and court-related functions of the office of the clerks of the circuit and county courts and all storage. The term "facility" includes all wiring necessary for court reporting services. The term also includes access to parking for such facilities in connection with such court-related functions that may be available free or from a private provider or a local government for a fee. The office space provided by a county may not be less than the standards for space allotment adopted by the Department of Management Services, except this requirement applies only to facilities that are leased, or on which construction commences, after June 30, 2003. County funding must include physical modifications and improvements to all facilities as are required for compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Upon mutual agreement of a county and the affected entity in this paragraph, the office space provided by the county may vary from the standards for space allotment adopted by the Department of Management Services.

1. As of July 1, 2005, equipment and furnishings shall be limited to that appropriate and customary for courtrooms, hearing rooms, jury facilities, and other public areas in courthouses and any other facility occupied by the courts, state attorneys, public defenders, guardians ad litem, and criminal conflict and civil regional counsel. Court reporting equipment in these areas or facilities is not a responsibility of the county.

2. Equipment and furnishings under this paragraph in existence and owned by counties on July 1, 2005, except for that in the possession of the clerks, for areas other than courtrooms, hearing rooms, jury facilities, and other public areas in courthouses and any other facility occupied by the courts, state attorneys, and public defenders, shall be transferred to the state at no charge. This provision does not apply to any communications services as defined in paragraph (f).

(b) "Construction or lease" includes, but is not limited to, all reasonable and necessary costs of the acquisition or lease of facilities for all judicial officers, staff, jurors, volunteers of a tenant agency, and the public for the circuit and county courts, the public defenders' offices, state attorneys' offices, and for performing the court-related functions of the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county courts. This includes expenses related to financing such facilities and the existing and future cost and bonded indebtedness associated with placing the facilities in use.

(c) "Maintenance" includes, but is not limited to, all reasonable and necessary costs of custodial and groundskeeping services and renovation and reconstruction as needed to accommodate functions for the circuit and county courts, the public defenders' offices, and state attorneys' offices and for performing the court-related functions of the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county court and for maintaining the facilities in a condition appropriate and safe for the use intended.

(d) "Utilities" means all electricity services for light, heat, and power; natural or manufactured gas services for light, heat, and power; water and wastewater services and systems, stormwater or runoff services and systems, sewer services and systems, all costs or fees associated with these services and systems, and any costs or fees associated with the mitigation of environmental impacts directly related to the facility.

(e) "Security" includes but is not limited to, all reasonable and necessary costs of services of law enforcement officers or licensed security guards and all electronic, cellular, or digital monitoring and screening devices necessary to ensure the safety and security of all persons visiting or working in a facility; to provide for security of the facility, including protection of property owned by the county or the state; and for security of prisoners brought to any facility. This includes bailiffs while providing courtroom and other security for each judge and other quasi-judicial officers.

(f) "Communications services" are defined as any reasonable and necessary transmission, emission, and reception of signs, signals, writings, images, and sounds of intelligence of any nature by wire, radio, optical, audio equipment, or other electromagnetic systems and includes all facilities and equipment owned, leased, or used by judges, clerks, public defenders, state attorneys, guardians ad litem, criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, and all staff of the state courts system, state attorneys' offices, public defenders' offices, and clerks of the circuit and county courts performing court-related functions. Such system or services shall include, but not be limited to:

Each county shall continue to provide access to a local carrier for local and long distance service and shall pay toll charges for local and long distance service.

2. All computer networks, systems and equipment, including computer hardware and software, modems, printers, wiring, network connections, maintenance, support staff or services including any county-funded support staff located in the offices of the circuit court, county courts, state attorneys, public defenders, guardians ad litem, and criminal conflict and civil regional counsel; training, supplies, and line charges necessary for an integrated computer system to support the operations and management of the state courts system, the offices of the public defenders, the offices of the state attorneys, the guardian ad litem offices, the offices of criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, and the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county courts; and the capability to connect those entities and reporting data to the state as required for the transmission of revenue, performance accountability, case management, data collection, budgeting, and auditing purposes. The integrated computer system shall be operational by July 1, 2006, and, at a minimum, permit the exchange of financial, performance accountability, case management, case disposition, and other data across multiple state and county information systems involving multiple users at both the state level and within each judicial circuit and be able to electronically exchange judicial case background data, sentencing scoresheets, and video evidence information stored in integrated case management systems over secure networks. Once the integrated system becomes operational, counties may reject requests to purchase communications services included in this subparagraph not in compliance with standards, protocols, or processes adopted by the board established pursuant to former s. 29.0086.

3. Courier messenger and subpoena services.

4. Auxiliary aids and services for qualified individuals with a disability which are necessary to ensure access to the courts. Such auxiliary aids and services include, but are not limited to, sign language interpretation services required under the federal Americans with Disabilities Act other than services required to satisfy due-process requirements and identified as a state funding responsibility pursuant to ss. 29.004, 29.005, 29.006, and 29.007, real-time transcription services for individuals who are hearing impaired, and assistive listening devices and the equipment necessary to implement such accommodations.

(g) “Existing radio systems” includes, but is not limited to, law enforcement radio systems that are used by the circuit and county courts, the offices of the public defenders, the offices of the state attorneys, and for court-related functions of the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county courts. This includes radio systems that were operational or under contract at the time Revision No. 7, 1998, to Art. V of the State Constitution was adopted and any enhancements made thereafter, the maintenance of those systems, and the personnel and supplies necessary for operation.

(h) “Existing multiagency criminal justice information systems” includes, but is not limited to, those components of the multiagency criminal justice information system as defined in s. 943.045, supporting the offices of the circuit or county courts, the public defenders’ offices, the state attorneys’ offices, or those portions of the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county courts performing court-related functions that are used to carry out the court-related activities of those entities. This includes upgrades and maintenance of the current equipment, maintenance and upgrades of supporting technology infrastructure and associated staff, and services and expenses to assure continued information sharing and reporting of information to the state. The counties shall also provide additional information technology services, hardware, and software as needed for new judges and staff of the state courts system, state attorneys’ offices, public defenders’ offices, guardian ad litem offices, and the offices of the clerks of the circuit and county courts performing court-related functions.

Section 14. Effective January 1, 2023, for the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 35.05, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, subsection (1) of section 35.051, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

35.051 Subsistence and travel reimbursement for judges with alternate headquarters.—

(1)(a) A district court of appeal judge is eligible for the designation of a county courthouse or another appropriate facility in his or her county of residence as his or her official headquarters for purposes of s. 112.061 if the judge permanently resides more than 50 miles from:

1. The appellate district’s headquarters as prescribed under s. 35.05(1), if the judge is assigned to such headquarters; or

2. The appellate district’s branch headquarters established under s. 35.05(2), if the judge is assigned to such branch headquarters.

The official headquarters may serve only as the judge’s private chambers.

(b)1. A district court of appeal judge for whom an official headquarters is designated in his or her county of residence under this subsection is eligible for subsistence at a rate to be established by the Chief Justice for each day or partial day that the judge is at the headquarters or branch headquarters of his or her appellate district to conduct court business, as authorized by the chief judge of that district court of appeal. The Chief Justice may authorize a judge to choose between subsistence based on lodging at a single-occupancy rate and meal reimbursement as provided in s. 112.061 and subsistence at a fixed rate prescribed by the Chief Justice.

2. In addition to subsistence, a district court of appeal judge is eligible for reimbursement for travel expenses as provided in s. 112.061(7) and (8) for travel between the judge’s official headquarters and the headquarters or branch headquarters of the appellate district to conduct court business.

(c) Payment of subsistence and reimbursement for travel expenses between the judge’s official headquarters and the headquarters or branch headquarters of his or her appellate district shall be made to the extent that appropriated funds are available, as determined by the Chief Justice.

Section 15. All property, including equipment, furnishings, and fixtures, located at the Lakeland headquarters of the current Second District Court of Appeal or being used by employees assigned to the Lakeland headquarters must remain in Lakeland and must be transferred to the Sixth District Court of Appeal unless the Office of the State Courts Administrator determines that such property is critical to the continuing operations of the Second District Court of Appeal.

Section 16. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in chapter 35, Florida Statutes, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court may authorize a pilot program under which the Fifth and Sixth District Courts of Appeal are authorized to implement innovative practices, incorporate leading technologies, and provide for remote court proceedings from their alternate headquarters, as authorized in s. 35.051, Florida Statutes, provided that both the constitutional rights of crime victims and criminal defendants and the public’s constitutional right of access to the courts are maintained. The pilot program expires June 30, 2025, unless otherwise provided by law. The Supreme Court shall provide a report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives which includes recommendations for incorporating such practices and technology in each district.

Section 17. Judicial appointments and commissions.—

(1) In order to effectuate a transition that provides for uniform representation based upon the expected caseloads for each district, while recognizing that the current judges’ residences will not necessarily correlate with the new district’s geographical boundaries, a period of transition must be recognized. During the period from the effective date of this act until December 31, 2027, it is the intent of the Legislature, for purposes of the residency requirements of s. 8, Article V of the State Constitution and s. 35.06, Florida Statutes, that the territorial jurisdiction of each district court which has been realigned shall include any contiguous district court which was also realigned. The number of judges authorized in s. 35.06, Florida Statutes, for each district court of appeal must be filled in the following manner:

(a) Vacancies created by this realignment must first be filled by those judges presently residing in the new district whose residency has not changed since their original appointment.

(b) If there is an insufficient number of judges pursuant to paragraph (a), vacancies created by the realignment must be filled by those judges who resided in the new district at the time of their original appointment but who have subsequently changed their residence and currently reside in a district with excess judges residing therein.

(c) If there is an insufficient number of judges pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b), the Supreme Court must annually assign the requisite number of judges from a contiguous district with an excess number of judges to a contiguous district with an insufficient number of judges during the transition period. Assignments from such contiguous district with excess judges residing therein must be for at least a 1-year term during the transition period, but assignments will terminate and judges will be reassigned as vacancies occur in the district in which the judge resides.

(d) After all judges residing in contiguous districts with excess judges have been allocated, the remaining judges required to meet the need as set forth in s. 35.06, Florida Statutes, shall be appointed by the Governor.

(e) Within 1 month of the effective date of this act, any judge who relocated from their county of original appointment before February 1, 2022, may file a sworn statement of intent with the State Courts Administrator indicating his or her desire to serve permanently in the new district. Such judges remain subject to assignment pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) until vacancies occur in that district.

(2) Within 2 months of the effective date of this act, the Supreme Court shall provide the Governor with a list of the judges who will be permanently assigned to each district, those who will be temporarily assigned to certain districts as of January 1, 2023, and the location of the positions the Governor must fill by appointment. The Governor shall request each applicable judicial nominating commission to convene for the purpose of selecting and submitting names of qualified individuals for consideration by the Governor in making appointments. Individuals filling judgeships created by this act shall be appointed by the Governor in accordance with s. 11, Article V of the State Constitution.

(3) On January 1, 2023, the Governor shall recommission any judge whose district was modified by the realignment of districts pursuant to this act; except that, the recommission of any judge whose district is modified by the realignment of districts and is seeking retention to office at the 2022 general election, and is retained by the voters at such election, shall occur January 3, 2023.

Section 18. Except as expressly provided in this act, this act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Major Carlyle Gargis, Salvation Army of Lee, Hendry, and Glades Counties, Fort Myers:

Gracious and loving Father of all creation, as we gather together in the people’s house, we turn our thoughts and prayers to you as our elected representatives—the members of the Florida Senate—come together this day.

These members of the Florida Senate have answered the call of public service for governance of this wonderful state community—a community diverse yet united in so many ways. Continue to guide our leaders during these times. Unite them in your love for our most precious resource—the people of this great state. Continue to inspire them with your spirit to guide and invest in the future of our young people with education. As in all things, we also turn to you to answer the needs of the vulnerable, the elderly in need, and those in need of your healing touch. Please comfort all of those who have suffered loss. Continue to inspire this body as we continue to provide a land of prosperity, opportunity, and liberty for all Floridians. We have many challenges Lord, but the answers and solutions to these challenges can only be answered with your grace and wisdom.

Finally, bless and guide our servant leaders of this state—our Governor and the members of the Florida Senate and their colleagues of the Florida House. In your name we pray for these things and for those thoughts and prayers we hold in our hearts. Amen.

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

At the request of Senator Baxley—

By Senator Baxley—

SR 1116—A resolution recognizing February 28, 2022, as “Rare Disease Day” in Florida.

WHEREAS, the National Institutes of Health reports that there are nearly 7,000 diseases and conditions that affect fewer than 200,000 Americans, meaning that they are considered rare, and

WHEREAS, while each of these diseases may affect small numbers of people, rare diseases as a group affect nearly 30 million Americans, 50 percent of whom are children, and

WHEREAS, many rare diseases are serious and debilitating conditions that have a significant impact on the lives of those affected, and

WHEREAS, while the Food and Drug Administration has approved drugs and biologics for more than 1,000 rare disease indications, millions of Americans have rare diseases for which there is no approved treatment, and

WHEREAS, individuals and families affected by rare diseases often experience problems, such as diagnosis delay, difficulty finding a medical expert, and lack of access to treatments or ancillary services, and

WHEREAS, while the public is familiar with some rare diseases, such as muscular dystrophy and amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, better known as Lou Gehrig’s disease, and is sympathetic to those affected, many patients and families affected by lesser-known rare diseases bear a large share of the burden of funding research and raising public awareness to support the search for treatments, and

WHEREAS, thousands of Floridians are among those affected by rare diseases, since nearly 1 in 10 Americans has a rare disease, and were given a voice in 2021 with the establishment in this state of the Rare Disease Advisory Council, and

WHEREAS, the Orphan Drug Act, championed in Congress by Florida Representative Gus Bilirakis, has encouraged and promoted the discovery and development of biopharmaceuticals designed to treat and potentially cure rare diseases, and

WHEREAS, many of the world’s leading academic institutions, academic medical centers, biotech companies, and pharmaceutical companies that are conducting research and seeking cures for rare diseases are doing so in this state, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That February 28, 2022, is recognized as “Rare Disease Day” in Florida.

—was introduced, read, and adopted by publication.

WHEREAS, the United States Department of State placed the Revolutionary Forces of Colombia (FARC) on the list of Foreign Terrorist Organizations in 1997, and

WHEREAS, after many years of violence and armed conflict, in 2022, Colombia is the United States' strongest ally in Latin America, and

WHEREAS, with the support of the United States and the State of Florida, Colombia has transformed itself from a volatile and near-failed state in 2001 into a rich democracy with a growing free market in 2022, and

WHEREAS, May 15, 2022, will mark the 10-year anniversary of the United States-Colombia Trade Promotion Agreement, which has supported economic growth and employment opportunities in Colombia, the United States, and the State of Florida, and

WHEREAS, the State of Florida is responsible for roughly a quarter of all trade between the United States and Colombia, and

WHEREAS, the United States, the State of Florida, and Colombia share a commitment to promoting security, prosperity, human rights, and democracy in Colombia and across the Western Hemisphere, and

WHEREAS, in recent years, the Colombian government has taken courageous steps to enforce the law, stop drug traffickers, and rein in foreign terrorist organizations like the National Liberation Army (ELN) and FARC, and

WHEREAS, the State of Florida continues to support the efforts of the Colombian government for peace, its support for human rights defenders, its provision of greater educational opportunities, its increases in public and private investments, and its respect for human rights and the rule of law, and

WHEREAS, the United States maintains a strong commitment to cooperating with the Colombian government to investigate, arrest, and prosecute members of transnational criminal organizations and to dismantle terrorist groups like the ELN, FARC, and Hezbollah, whose illicit activities, specifically narcotrafficking, devastate Colombian and other Latin American societies, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Florida Senate opposes any effort to change the State Department designations of Cuba and Iran from their current designations as State Sponsors of Terrorism.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Florida Senate has heard the concerns of Colombian Americans living in Florida, many of whom have been victims of FARC.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Florida Senate will use all means possible, including divestiture if applicable, to impede ties, commercial or otherwise, with FARC.

Excused: Senator Brandes

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rabbi Michael Shields, Temple Israel, Tallahassee:

There is a story from my tradition that says, “When a person walks on the road, they are preceded by a company of angels who proclaim, ‘Make way for the image of the Holy Blessed One!’” As you continue your work, I pray that you remember, and know you’ll remember, that every single person has dignity and worth. Every single person is a holy vessel of God. I wish all in this chamber a heartfelt Shalom Aleichem. Peace be upon you.

Holy Source of Blessing, Divine Unity, Merciful One to all humanity and all creatures, you are the unity of all, and you recognize the innate holiness of every single human being.

In just a few short weeks, Jewish communities across the world will celebrate the holiday of Purim—usually a festive time where people gather in groups and celebrate a great triumph and a redemption. We know well that the Jewish community in Ukraine will not be able to gather in this way for they are awaiting redemption. In this story, the Queen, Esther, stands up for righteousness. She leads with wisdom; she finds ways to get things done despite great adversity. There have been leaders in our country that have shared that spirit. May they inspire you.

Lincoln once said, “It often requires more courage to dare to do right than fear to do wrong.” May you get it right for the rights of all. Lincoln also said, in effect, may you temper your criticism with care, one has the right to criticize, but the one who has the right to criticize also has a heart to help. May all of you compassionately make sure to help those vulnerable in our society: the widow, the poor, the orphan, and the strangers in our midst. And finally, Lincoln said, “When I do good, I feel good.” May you all be able to say you feel good after a session of doing good for all the people of our state.

May the source of wisdom, Chonein haDaat, continue to favor all of you who legislate here in Florida with presidential inspiration, inspiration from the book of Esther, integrity, and insight. Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Wynton Bowers of Tallahassee; Jack O’Malley of Jacksonville; and Taylor White of Jacksonville, led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

At the request of Senator Polsky—

By Senator Polsky—

SR 1990—A resolution condemning the ruthless military assault on Ukraine, and on democracy itself, by Russian President Vladimir Putin and expressing unwavering support for the Ukrainian people in this extraordinary time.

WHEREAS, Ukraine, which regained its independence in 1991 after the dissolution of the Soviet Union, is a unitary republic in Eastern Europe, the second largest country in Europe in terms of area and, with a population of 43.6 million, the eighth most populous, and

WHEREAS, Ukraine has moved toward becoming a full-fledged democracy with an elected president and an independent parliament and membership in the United Nations and the Council of Europe, and

WHEREAS, in March 2014, Russian President Vladimir Putin, an authoritarian dictator of a Communist regime, personally directed the annexation of Crimea from Ukraine by Russia and has continued to support and encourage Russian separatists inside Ukraine in an attempt to further divide the country, and

WHEREAS, Ukraine is bordered by Russia on the east and northeast and also shares borders with Belarus to the north; Poland, Slovakia, and Hungary to the west; and Romania and Moldova to the south, and, in 2016, applied for the economic component of the Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area with the European Union (EU), which would strengthen the nation’s ties to the West and would modernize and develop Ukraine’s economy, governance, and rule of law to EU standards, and

WHEREAS, Vladimir Putin has continued to undermine the efforts of Ukraine’s directly elected President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, who took office in May 2019 after winning more than 73 percent of the popular vote, and

WHEREAS, on February 22, 2022, Vladimir Putin ordered Russian military forces to enter two Ukrainian republics, Donetsk and Luhansk, on what he called a “peacekeeping mission,” officially recognizing both as sovereign states fully independent from the Ukrainian government, and

WHEREAS, in the early hours of February 24, 2022, Vladimir Putin announced a “special military operation” to demilitarize Ukraine, launching an unprovoked and deadly attack and invading an independent nation, thereby threatening world peace, and

WHEREAS, the United States of America is committed to the growth and spread of democracy worldwide and stands with the Ukrainian people suffering at the hands of Vladimir Putin, many of whom face grave harm or even death under the crush of his ruthless military assault, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That the ruthless military assault on Ukraine, and on democracy itself, by Russian President Vladimir Putin is condemned and that the Florida Senate expresses its unwavering support for the Ukrainian people in this extraordinary time.

—was introduced, read, and adopted by publication.

—was read the second time by title.

Senator Albritton moved the following amendment which was adopted:

Amendment 1 (577230) (with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 377.814, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

377.814 Municipal Solid Waste-to-Energy Program.—

(1) CREATION AND PURPOSE OF THE PROGRAM.—The Municipal Solid Waste-to-Energy Program is created within the department. The purpose of the program is to provide financial assistance grants and incentive grants to municipal solid waste-to-energy facilities to incentivize the production and sale of energy from municipal solid waste-to-energy facilities while also reducing the amount of waste that would otherwise be disposed of in a landfill.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section, the term:

(a) “Department” means the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

(b) “Municipal solid waste-to-energy facility” means a publicly owned facility that uses an enclosed device using controlled combustion to thermally break down solid waste to an ash residue that contains little or no combustible material and that produces electricity, steam, or other energy as a result. The term does not include facilities that primarily burn fuels other than solid waste even if such facilities also burn some solid waste as a fuel supplement. The term does not include facilities that primarily burn vegetative, agricultural, or silvicultural wastes, bagasse, clean dry wood, methane or other landfill gas, wood fuel derived from construction or demolition debris, or waste tires, alone or in combination with fossil fuels.

(3) FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE GRANT PROGRAM.—The department, subject to appropriation, shall provide annual financial assistance grants to municipal solid waste-to-energy facilities that entered into a power purchase agreement with an electric utility before January 1, 2022, which included capacity and energy payments, and the owner of the municipal solid waste-to-energy facility has entered into a new or amended power purchase agreement that either no longer includes capacity payments or includes capacity and energy payments in an amount less than the total of the capacity and energy payments the municipal solid waste-to-energy facility received under the power purchase agreement entered into before January 1, 2022.

(a) To apply for an annual financial assistance grant, the owner of a municipal solid waste-to-energy facility must submit an application to the department. The application must include the name of the applicant’s municipal solid waste-to-energy facility, the name of the utility purchasing the electric power from the municipal solid waste-to-energy facility, the total capacity and energy payment the municipal solid waste-to-energy facility received during the last year of the power purchase agreement entered into before January 1, 2022, and the amount of energy delivered to and the total amount paid for such power by an electric utility pursuant to a new or amended power purchase agreement during the preceding state fiscal year.

(b) The department shall distribute funds, subject to appropriation, to each qualifying applicant at a rate of 2 cents per kilowatt-hour of electric power purchased by an electric utility during the preceding state fiscal year, not to exceed the difference between the total capacity and energy payment the municipal solid waste-to-energy facility received during the last year of the power purchase agreement entered into before January 1, 2022, and the total of the capacity and energy payment the municipal solid waste-to-energy facility received under a new or amended power purchase agreement during the preceding state fiscal year. To the extent that funds are not available to provide financial assistance to each qualifying applicant for every qualifying kilowatt-hour purchased, the department shall prorate the funds on an equitable basis.

(c) The department shall establish a process to verify the amount of electric power purchased from a municipal solid waste-to-energy facility by an electric utility during each preceding state fiscal year. The Public Service Commission shall provide assistance to the department to help verify the information provided pursuant to paragraph (a).

(4) INCENTIVE GRANT PROGRAM.—The department, subject to appropriation, shall provide incentive grants to municipal solid waste-to-energy facilities to assist with the planning and designing for constructing, upgrading, or expanding a municipal solid waste-to-energy facility, including necessary legal or administrative expenses.

(a) To qualify for an incentive grant, the owner of a municipal solid waste-to-energy facility must apply to the department for funding; provide matching funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis; and demonstrate that the project is cost-effective, permissible, and implementable and complies with s. 403.7061.

(b) The Department of Environmental Protection shall provide assistance to the department in determining the eligibility of grant applications and establishing requirements to ensure the long-term and efficient operation and maintenance of facilities constructed or expanded under an incentive grant.

(c) The department shall perform adequate overview of each grant application and grant award, including technical review, regular inspection, disbursement approvals, and auditing, to implement this section.

(d) Funds awarded under the incentive grant program may not be used to promote, establish, or convert a residential collection system that does not provide for the separate collection of residential solid waste from recovered materials as defined in s. 403.703.

(e) The department shall require the termination or repayment of incentive grant funds if the department determines that program requirements are not being met.

(5) FUNDING.—

(a) Funds appropriated for the Municipal Solid Waste-to-Energy Program must first be used for financial assistance grants. Any funds remaining in a state fiscal year after disbursement to all qualifying applicants may be used to fund the incentive grant program.

(b) Funds awarded under the grant programs set forth in this section may not be used to support, subsidize, or enable the sale of electric power generated by a municipal solid waste-to-energy facility to any small electric utility eligible to petition the commission under s. 366.06(4).

(c) Notwithstanding s. 216.301 and pursuant to s. 216.351, funds allocated for the purpose of this section which are not disbursed by June 30 of the fiscal year in which the funds are allocated may be carried forward for up to 5 years after the effective date of the original appropriation.

(6) RULES.—The department shall adopt rules to implement and administer this section, including establishing grant application processes for financial assistance grants and incentive grants. The rules shall include application deadlines and establish the supporting documentation necessary to be provided to the department. In adopting rules relating to the financial assistance grant program, the department shall consult the Public Service Commission. In adopting rules for the incentive grant program, the department shall consult the Department of Environmental Protection.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2022.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete everything before the enacting clause and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to the Municipal Solid Waste-to-Energy Program; creating s. 377.814, F.S.; creating the Municipal Solid Waste-to-Energy Program within the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services for a specified purpose; defining terms; requiring the department, subject to appropriation, to provide annual financial assistance grants to municipal solid waste-to-energy facilities that meet certain requirements; requiring the department to distribute funds to qualifying applicants based on certain criteria; requiring the department to establish a process to verify the amount of certain electric power purchases; directing the Public Service Commission to provide assistance in verifying grant eligibility; requiring the department, subject to appropriation, to provide incentive grants to municipal solid waste-to-energy facilities to assist with certain costs; specifying requirements for applying for the funding; requiring the Department of Environmental Protection to provide assistance in determining grant eligibility and establishing requirements; requiring the department to perform grant overview; prohibiting funds from being used for specified purposes; establishing priority for funding for the grants; authorizing the balance of certain unexpended funds to be carried forward for a specified number of years; requiring the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to adopt rules; providing an effective date.

Section 1. This act may be cited as the “Boating Safety Act of 2022.”

Section 2. Subsection (7) is added to section 327.30, Florida Statutes, to read:

327.30 Collisions, accidents, and casualties.—

(7) In addition to any other penalty provided by law, a court may order a person convicted of a violation of this section or of any rule adopted or order issued by the commission pursuant to this section to pay an additional fine of up to $1,000 per violation. All fines assessed and collected pursuant to this subsection shall be remitted by the clerk of the court to the Department of Revenue to be deposited into the Marine Resources Conservation Trust Fund to be used to enhance state and local law enforcement activities related to boating infractions. As used in this subsection, the terms “convicted” and “conviction” mean any judicial disposition other than acquittal or dismissal.

Section 3. Effective January 1, 2023, section 327.54, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

327.54 Liveries; safety regulations; penalty.—

(1) As used in this section, the term:

(a) “Advertise” means to describe or draw attention to a vessel and its availability for lease or rental in any medium for the purpose of promoting the lease or rental of the vessel.

(b) “Conviction” means any judicial disposition other than acquittal or dismissal.

(c) “Livery” means a person who advertises and offers a livery vessel for use by another in exchange for any type of consideration when such person does not also provide the lessee or renter with a captain, a crew, or any type of staff or personnel to operate, oversee, maintain, or manage the vessel. The owner of a vessel who does not advertise his or her vessel for use by another for consideration and who loans or offers his or her vessel for use to another known to him or her either for consideration or without consideration is not a livery. A vessel rented or leased by a livery is a livery vessel as defined in s. 327.02.

(d) “Seaworthy” means the vessel and all of its parts and equipment, including, but not limited to, engines, bilge pumps, and kill switches, are functional and reasonably fit for their intended purpose.

(2) A livery may not offer a vessel for lease or rent without first being issued a no-cost livery permit by the commission. The permit must be renewed annually. To qualify for issuance or renewal of a livery permit, an applicant must provide the commission with a list of all vessels offered by the livery for lease or rent by another, have valid insurance pursuant to subsection (7), have an amount of United States Coast Guard-approved lawful personal floatation devices on site sufficient to accommodate the capacity of all vessels offered by the livery for rent or lease by another, have on site all safety equipment required by s. 327.50 and the Code of Federal Regulations sufficient to equip all vessels offered by the livery for rent or lease by another, and display the information required by paragraph (3)(f). If, before the annual renewal of the permit, the information required by this subsection changes, the livery must provide the commission with the updated information within 10 days after the change.

(a) The commission may adopt rules to implement this subsection.

(b) A person who violates this subsection commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(3) A livery may not knowingly lease, hire, or rent a vessel to any person:

(a) When the number of persons intending to use the vessel exceeds the number considered to constitute a maximum safety load for the vessel as specified on the authorized persons capacity plate of the vessel.

(d) When the vessel is not seaworthy, is a derelict vessel as defined in s. 823.11, or is at risk of becoming derelict as provided in s. 327.4107.

(e) ~~When the vessel is equipped with a motor of 10 horsepower or greater, Unless the livery provides pre-rental pre-rental or pre-ride pre-ride instruction in compliance with rules established by the commission.~~

~~Any person delivering the information specified in this paragraph must have successfully completed a boater safety course approved by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators and this state.~~

(f) Unless the livery displays boating safety information in a place visible to the renting public. The commission shall prescribe by rule, pursuant to chapter 120, the contents and size of the boating safety information to be displayed.

(g) ~~Unless the livery has a written agreement with the renter or lessee. The written agreement must include the name, address, and date of birth for the renter and the number of people aboard the vessel, as well as the time the vessel is required to be returned to the livery or another specified location and an emergency contact name, address, and telephone number. The livery shall maintain each agreement for no less than 1 year and, upon request, make each agreement available for inspection by law enforcement.~~

(7)(5) A livery may not lease, hire, or rent any personal watercraft or offer to lease, hire, or rent any livery vessel personal watercraft unless the livery first obtains and carries in full force and effect a policy from a licensed insurance carrier in this state which insures the livery and the renter, insuring against any accident, loss, injury, property damage, or other casualty caused by or resulting from the operation of the livery vessel personal watercraft. The insurance policy must shall provide coverage of at least $500,000 per person and $1 million per event. The livery shall must have proof of such insurance available for inspection at the location where livery vessels personal watercraft are being leased, hired, or rented, or offered for lease, hire, or rent, and shall provide to each renter the insurance carrier's name and address and the insurance policy number. This subsection does not apply to human-powered vessels.

(8) Notwithstanding the person's age or any exemptions provided in s. 327.395, any person delivering instruction regarding the safe operation of vessels or pre-rental or pre-ride instruction in accordance with subsection (3) must have successfully completed a boating safety education course approved by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators and this state.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rabbi Moshe Matz, Agudath Israel of Florida, Aventura:

Good morning, Senate President, leadership, and members of this esteemed body. I'm once again humbled to be standing before you in this consequential chamber to offer the opening prayer. I will admit that at first, my words may not sound like a prayer but in truth, they are a prayer and an expression of my deep hope for all our elected officials.

In Jewish law and tradition, we are educated to work on developing one of the most essential traits for a meaningful and spiritual life—the ability to pause before acting. From the moment we open our eyes first in the morning, we must first pause and contemplate the fact that we have been gifted a new day of life and that we are thankful to G-d for the opportunities that lie ahead. Before every action, we take a moment to internalize the gifts that G-d has bestowed upon us and the responsibility that we have to use them properly. Even a simple act of drinking a glass of water is not an impulsive behavior of gulping down the contents—it's an exercise of thought. We pause before we drink and recite the blessing, "Blessed you, Hashem, our G-d, King of the Universe, through his word everything came to be."

We are living in uncertain times—the invasion of Ukraine, the fear of a world war, G-d forbid, the remnants of Covid and the impact on our daily lives, a struggling economy, inflation, depression, and hopelessness. These times require serious contemplation. They require serious pause. Now is the time to recognize G-d in the world, to recognize and appreciate his bountiful blessings, and to consider the responsibility that each and every one of us has to ensure that we are building a better world for our and all future generations.

Life has been lived selfishly for too long. The motivation of achieving the fleeting pleasures has permitted us to act with impulse and not notice the effects on those around us. We have become an echo chamber of the day's talking points rather than taking the time to think for ourselves. What do I actually believe and how can I best contribute to the society at large? Let us now pause and pray for divine assistance and guidance. Let us see the blessings and opportunities of life and service to others. Let us be humble and commit to living a more meaningful and purposeful life. Let us pursue peace within our communities and pray for peace in the world. Let us be grateful and hopeful for better days ahead. Thank you.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Peyton Cook of Titusville; Catherine McKay of Tallahassee, daughter of Senate employee Todd McKay; and Ivan Van Buren of Melbourne, led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

DOCTOR OF THE DAY

The President recognized Dr. Roger L. Duncan III, of Palm Beach Gardens, sponsored by Senator Powell, as the doctor of the day. Dr. Duncan specializes in anesthesiology.

REMARKS

On motion by Senator Passidomo, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Mayfield: That song was beautiful, and I know it was you and your daughter. Senator Brandes, you are a man of integrity and your mom and dad raised a wonderful, wonderful man and father. We know how much you love your children. I remember the time we were in one of the committee events we had to go to, and you did karaoke with your daughter. It was wonderful to see you with your family. Most people would say don't quit your day job, at least that's what they say when I sing, but you really have a wonderful voice. With you and your daughter together, it is wonderful. A lot of people don't really realize the sacrifices that we make when we come up here and leave our family at home. It truly is a sacrifice, but you accomplished a lot. It's people like you that we need in this process to keep us on the right track—to keep us within the lines. Sometimes you go outside those lines, and we have to talk, and we go back in the lines, but you really do mean it in your heart. There is nothing that you do that is not coming from your heart. Between your prison reform and insurance reform—you really care about your people and your family. You are going to be missed in this process. I hope you are not going to be a stranger to the policies that we have been trying to work on, and I hope you do what you said you were going to do. And that was to go out, create your 501(c), and bring us back suggestions on the work that you are going to do outside of this process. When it comes to your thoughts on housing shortage, on prison reform, on insurance reform, I really do want to work with you after this process when you're done—and bring back some good stuff. I think that's something that we all, in this chamber, feel and love about you, is that you really do stand for your values. It's going to be missed.

Senator Cruz: We will all miss you, Senator Brandes. I want you to know that I was cheering for you far more than I was arguing with you. I have always been in awe of the fact that you are a visionary. I remember many years ago when you brought a concept that seemed almost foreign to most people about autonomous vehicles, and you had some out in the plaza. And, what may have seemed a faraway dream for most people, or a thought that they hadn't truly considered, you were way ahead of the curve and paying attention to the future. So, I appreciate that about you. I appreciate your dedication, I appreciate your conviction, and I really appreciate that one day many years ago sitting on the House floor, there was a bill that you were quite passionate about. I was sitting next to Senator Berman that day, and you came and asked us for a favor. I believe it was if we could roll the bill so it wouldn't die here in the Senate, and we said, "Okay," and it worked its way through. Almost a year later, perhaps at Thanksgiving, Peter Schorsh asked folks what they were thankful for, and you remembered. You said you were thankful that we worked together so that very important issue worked for everyone. So, I appreciate that in you. I appreciate the honorable and noble person that you are. We will miss you. I know that you are on to greater things, but I've appreciated watching you and your style here. I wish you and your family all the best. Thank you.

Senator Boyd: Senator Brandes, we go way back. We came in the House together, then you graduated to the upper chamber a little quicker than the rest of us. I want to briefly say, I know you have grown impatient with me over some issues from time to time—but what I do know about you is that you are going to do it right. You're going to do it for the right reasons, and you have a passion for getting it done and not waiting until tomorrow. That is quite a quality in this process. While sometimes things move a little slower than you and I would like, or any of us would like, you have always been one that says, "Why not now?" We can all learn from that. I appreciate that, and I appreciate the support you've given me over the years on the issues we have worked through together. We're going to continue that fight on your behalf, but I want you to know that you're a good friend, and you've been a good influence on me. Thank you.

Senator Burgess: I'll just be very brief, but I think it's really important to recognize a service that didn't just start here with the State. Something you're very humble about—and I've never told you this, but I really respect that about you—you're so humble about it. I thought you were a Marine for years. I don't know if you remember this—I'd see you in the hallways and say, "Hey, Marine!" He was so humble he never corrected me and told me he was an Army guy. That makes me like you more, but that's just your character. So you're a combat veteran, and you don't come across that every day in this process. As a veteran, as somebody who serves, I've really admired that about you and how you don't flaunt it. But you have that military bearing about you, and it shows in everything you do. So, thank you for that and thank you for your service.

Senator Book: You know when I came into the Senate, I didn't like to pick up the microphone often. I would go and sit with Senator Brandes sometimes, and we would talk about frontiersmen and settlers. We talked about challenging things, how we would go and do things, and sometimes be controversial. So when I was chairing Children and Families, he brought me a piece of legislation and said, "Let's do this," and it was dental therapists. I didn't realize how controversial dental therapy was. But it was, and we worked through it, and we talked about it. To everyone's point, when you are convicted about something, it is something you fight for to the death, and that is an incredible thing. You keep this process honest—you keep us honest. We will miss you. We love your family, and it is something that I hold dear. You remind me each and every day that while this process can be frustrating—extremely frustrating—you always have your family, and you remind us of that every day. So thank you. You will be missed.

Senator Rouson: I was very moved by the video presentation by the Senate Media because it reminds me that we not only share a city, share a community together in representing, but we share a vision of criminal justice reform and other matters of reform. Jeff, the poem—it is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled or how the doer of deeds could have done better—it is the man who is actually in the arena. You are the epitome of the Somalian warlord. You run to the fight as opposed to away from it. We can all learn from that, and I want to thank you for the lessons, for the friendship, and for the camaraderie that you gave me and others in this process. Like Leader Mayfield said, we look forward to your 501(c), continuing a long policy and being the thorn amidst the rose. Thank you.

Senator Jones: So my first introduction to Jeff Brandes was over in the House carrying the Dignity bill with Senator Pizzo. I'll never forget that, after speaking with the women from Dignity Power, I knew it was going to be an uphill battle. The first thing I did was go speak to one of my friends, Christian Miner, who said, "You need to go talk to Jeff Brandes." I'll never forget going over into his office and talking him through the bill. At that time, you were the Chair for Criminal Justice and I shared with you why I was carrying this bill. At that time, you walked me through what the problems were. You said, "You go back over there; you talk to Whitney over in the Criminal Justice Committee, and you fix it and then come back over." That was my first introduction. I wasn't even thinking about running for the Senate at that time. I was still just a House member, but you were just showing the way and what I needed to do to be able to work bills. It wasn't until I came over to the Senate and I was able to work with Senator Brandes—what everyone has just said is true. You're true to your values; you're a man of integrity; and you sure have a very huge heart. I know you're very quiet, but you speak very loud. I say that we all feel what you are feeling because you mean it when you pick that microphone up. But you haven't experienced Jeff Brandes until he has "Jeffed up" your bill. I got that last week when he put an amendment on my bill—I said, "Jeff Brandes put an amendment on my bill." I said, "Well let me go see him. No, Jeff Brandes is going to come see me." So he came over to my office, sat on the couch, and looked me dead in the eye. I said, "You're going to do this?" And he said, "Yes, I'm filing this amendment." I said, "My bill has been ‘Jeffed up.’” I came up to the chamber. Jeff and I went to the back and we spoke. I said, “Jeff, here’s my word.” It’s just the same thing I share with you in debate, that I will work on that. I say that to say there’s a reason that I believe in this process that we’re in—every last one of us who stand here in this Senate. Although we see things differently, it seems like we always find ourselves centered, one way or another, whether we agree or disagree. I appreciate you for the integrity that you have, and I know for a fact that as you move forward, you are going to continue to hold us accountable in this process. Thank you, and I wish you well on your journey.

Senator Stargel: I remember when I was first serving in the House. I was the Chair of Choice and Innovation, and Jeff had just gotten elected. I don’t know if you remember, you sat in my office and said, “I want to be effective. I want to make some differences. I want to be innovative. How can we work together? What can I do? Where are we going? What are we working on in Innovation and Choice and Education?” And I’m thinking, “I’ve only been doing this a couple years myself. I have no idea what I’m going to tell you.” But I think I made up something. We’ve worked together through this whole process—trying to continue to move the ball, trying to make people think outside the box. The song that you just sang, “Every night I lie in bed, the brightest colors fill my head, a million dreams are keeping me awake, I think of what this world could be.” A lot of people come to this process to be something. You came up here to do something. A lot of times, we’ll be in a debate on a bill, and you’re over there and you’re passionate—I feel that passion with you. I’m looking, we’ve got movements around the bill and you’re looking at me saying, “I’m playing a different game. I’m trying to get something accomplished.” And it’s so true. We may not all agree on our approaches of getting something accomplished, but what’s never been doubted is your passion, where it’s coming from, and why you’re doing it. That speaks a lot in this process. It speaks a lot to who you are. It speaks a lot to your parents and the person that they’ve raised. It speaks a lot. I’m just honored to serve with you. Right, wrong, or indifferent, where we’ve agreed and disagreed, you’ve always been a man of your word. You’ve always come from a true place of conviction, and I appreciate that.

Senator Bean: Mr. President, you and I have talked about the speech that we have to give, and we’re worried about crying. I’m in big trouble because I’m crying watching the pictures of Jeff Brandes and his family and his kids grow right before our eyes. His voice is iconic. That is what the drummer of The Police said about Sting. For those that grew up in the 80s, The Police is a rock band and under 40, you don’t know about The Police. They’re a rock band that we grew up with. And that was Bean, Brandes, and the previous Senator Bradley. We formed our band coming in as freshmen and, at the time, had an unbelievable goal to legalize marijuana. How about that? Conservatives, big thinkers—we were going to legalize marijuana. How would we go about doing that? Each level had a different hoop to jump through. At the time, we knew Governor Scott would only allow this, a certain chairman would only allow that, and the hoops we had to go through in different ways. But somehow this band of freshmen found a way to put that in the end zone. We were pretty jacked up, couldn’t believe that we would get it done with the Governor signing it. He did and we brought help. And literally, it was targeted to help kids that could benefit from the benefits of certain types of medicinal properties of marijuana. Then we talked about all the things that this band could accomplish going forward—just like The Police. Remember that quote I just gave you, “His voice is iconic?” It was the drummer. When they asked the drummer, “What are y’all going to be doing, going forward?” And he goes, “Well, as soon as Sting comes back from his solo career, because his voice is iconic, as soon as he comes back, then we’re going to start touring again. Now I know Sting’s only been touring by himself for thirty-seven years, but he said he’d come back.” Thirty-seven years. His voice—Jeff Brandes’ voice is iconic and he left the band. I’m still waiting to bring the band back together. Every now and then, we do get to do a duet together. Jeff Brandes’ voice is iconic. You know, how great was it that he stood right there with his daughter to sing? That will be legendary. If there’s not a picture of that in the hallway going forward, I don’t know what is. Because that’s courage—courage to do some “Jeff Brandes” amendments, but courage to stand with your daughter and sing is legendary, and I am proud of him. His voice carries. His voice carries for prison reform, touring prisons, voices we’ll never hear but through Jeff Brandes’ voice, who says, “Make it a priority, Legislature, and let’s do it.” I believe some of the prison reforms that are here before us are because of his voice. He’s spoken on it time and time again. His voice is amplified. His voice is so strong. Do y’all know what they did? They went to China and adopted beautiful Lizzy. I love the stories of him bringing home an eight-year-old young lady who doesn’t speak English. Who doesn’t speak English? They had to introduce her. They put Lizzy on the phone with Grandma every night because Grandma speaks that language. How great is that? I’m just so proud of him because he doesn’t just talk the talk with his voice, he walks the walk as well. I enjoy any time we get to hang out together because when you’re with Jeff Brandes, there is some major thinking going on. We just had a trip not too long ago and at the bar, sure enough, we’re talking about solving world problems because that’s what Jeff is, a thinker. I’m proud of him, and I’m going to miss sitting with him. But you know what? Here’s the thing—because he is a thinker and because he’s already planned for the future, here’s the ironic thing about the iconic voice—when he leaves here, his voice is going to get stronger and louder. We’re going to be listening, but we’ll definitely miss you, Jeff Brandes.

Senator Wright: When I was a brand new Senator here, I didn’t even know how to spell Senator. That summer, Jeff Brandes asked me to go with him on a tour of some prisons. I wasn’t sure if he was planning on leaving me there, or if we were going to take a tour. I’ll make it short and sweet—you made me feel special, Senator Brandes. That was a wonderful day, and I’ll never forget it. Thank you.

Senator Gibson: Jeff has been the middle man between “kind of right” and “sort of left,” and I mean that literally. He has a big heart—you’re very brave. He’s been very brave—you can break away from where people think you should be on legislation, and speak from your heart. I’ve had a great opportunity sitting next to Jeff. Sometimes, he’ll sit at the end of his desk and just stare at me. I’m like, “Jeff, what?” And he’ll fold his arms and stare at me. Then he’ll just start laughing. He has a great sense of humor, and he likes to play games with me in the middle here. He knows what I’m talking about, and that’s why he’s cracking up. The other part of sitting next to Jeff for me has been him saying, “Come on, vote with me.” “No Jeff, I cannot vote with you.” “Come on, you can vote on this bill with me.” “No, I’m not doing that.” Or I would just go, “Leave me alone. I’m not voting with you. Don’t touch my button.” Then I’ll say, “Purple Rain.” You all should hear him sing sometime. “Purple Rain” is one of his favorites. If you don’t know “Purple Rain,” go play it. It’s by Prince. He loves Prince. For me, getting to know Jeff better has been great. I appreciate that you risk everything in the policy arena for what you believe. I’ve seen you do it very calmly, and I’ve seen you do it like a volcano. So you mitigate for the two sides, and that’s a good thing. That is an art, it really is. I remember the babies being born. Natalie is ready for you to come home. She already told me the list of things you have to do. So get ready. I’m leaving so I won’t miss you as much, but I’ll miss you because I’m leaving too.

Senator Gruters: Senator Brandes, before I was ever elected to the Senate, my brother would always call me up and say, “Make sure when you get there, you act like Senator Brandes.” On all the issues, you had such grand ideas, you have common sense, and you are an intellectual superstar. I will just tell you, like Senator Wright, when I was elected, you brought me to three prisons. As members of the Legislature, we all have the ability to visit prisons. If you’ve never visited one, I hope you never go to prison because those conditions were so bad. It really was an eye-opening experience. You took me to the electronic show where we had all these meetings with these tech titans. You were trying to bring these major industries to Florida. I just want to say thank you for your service for the state. Like Senator Gibson, you come to me every once in a while and you say, “Please vote with me on this amendment or this bill.” Most of the time, your issues all make sense. You do such a great job at what you do, and I want to thank you personally on behalf of the State of Florida for everything you’ve done. I will try to be more like Senator Brandes moving forward. Thank you.

Senator Passidomo: Natalie, this is for you. I want to thank you for sharing Jeff with us. He’s been away for a long time, and I know you want him home, but I am going to miss you. I’m going to miss your passion and caring. I’m going to miss you running into my office saying, “Come on, we’re going to do this, and we’re going to do that.” What I’m really going to miss is my first couple years in the Senate, you know, as a regular Senator. You would come in and try to convince me of so many different things, and we worked on some things. When I got to be Majority Leader, and now the Rules Chair, I spent half of my time trying to chase you around to make sure to find out what you’re going to do and what bill you’re going to be “Jeff-ing.” It has been a wonderful experience for me to try to find out what you’re up to. You are so darn smart, you outsmart me at every turn. There's another week to go, and I'm going to keep an eye on you. Senator Gruters, there is no way you can do this because Senator Brandes knows the rules. I am trying to dissuade you! You know, Jeff, I'm really going to miss you—you're like my younger brother. You know, the one that sneaks out at night, gets in trouble, and calls you at three a.m. and says, "Come and get me." If you ever have that happen, just give me a call at 3:00 in the morning, and I'll come and get you. Natalie, again, thank you for sharing him with us. He will be greatly missed.

Senator Pizzo: I don't want to be indelicate or insensitive but I will have openings for a roommate next session. We'll be conducting interviews beginning 15 minutes after seating today. We were in our third committee week of the first session for me, and Maggie is like, "Hey, some people want to meet up for dinner." So we run over to the Governor's Club, and we had a nice table. We had been through three committee weeks, two of which Senator Brandes and I were on together. We're sitting around the table, and there are lobbyists—I paid—a couple of members of the House and Senate and some family and friends. Senator Brandes walks in saying hi to everybody in the restaurant as he's coming along, and he comes to our table and says, "Hey!" I'm like, "Hey!" He goes, "Hi, I'm Jeff Brandes." And I'm like, "I'm Senator Pizzo, we're on two committees together, and we're in the Senate together." Up until a year and a half ago, and I bring this up because it is Colombia Day, we would go on all these prison tours together. We'd stop at a convenience store, and they would always have the decaf, breakfast blend, and Colombian blend which was always the strongest. I guess, by habit, I would always go for the strongest. A year ago he goes, "You're Colombian, right?" "No Jeff, I'm not Colombian. I'm Italian, Irish, and Scottish." He goes, "Oh, I thought you were Colombian." Yeah, Jeff. Florida Trend did a wonderful feature on Senator Brandes that you may have seen. You also may have seen that I was referred to as Representative Pizzo and that we share an apartment. I had told a reporter that I am Senator Pizzo. Yeah it's funny, Mrs. Burgess, because you know it is true. I had told the reporter, "No, I am a Senator, there are 40 of us, and it's actually a house—a four bedroom, three bath house." The reporter calls back to fact check and he says, "No, he's a Representative. I don't know why he's saying he's a Senator. It's a small apartment that we share." There are some benefits of technology. We all pass these hallowed walls of antiquity of members past. Maybe there are transcripts, written words, but very few are recorded. So that's some of the beauty of technology that we're allowed today. To Senator Passidomo's point, to Senator Mayfield, to Natalie, thank you on behalf of twenty-one million, eight hundred thousand Floridians. He's been away a long time and I know you want him back. He's coming back with a long honey-do list, I'm sure. I just want to read—if you would indulge me for 30 seconds—I used to have this memorized. This hung up on my kids' wall as they were growing up as well, and my father read this to me:

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you,
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise:

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools:

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: 'Hold on!'

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch,

If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

—Rudyard Kipling

You're one of the best men I know.

Senator Brandes: I want to thank Senator Bean for mentioning marijuana in front of my mom—always appreciate that. First of all, let me say thank you to my wife, Natalie, for allowing me to do this for the last 12 years. I'm pretty sure the night before I won the election, she leaned over to somebody and said, "I hope he loses because he'll stay home." And we won, but it's been difficult. You all know that we're gone 120 days plus out of the year, right? And when you sign up to get married, you marry Jeff; you don't marry the senator, right? So, at the end of the day, I'm ready to come home, and I know she's ready for me to come home. But, first of all, just thank you, and I love you. To my kids, Lottie, Lizzie, Colin, and Conor—who are not with us today, they're in school as they should be—I'm just incredibly honored to be your dad. The simple truth is I'm really excited to rediscover who you are because we're gone so much and because, frankly, my oldest is 13, my youngest is 8, and they have never known me outside of this. They know Dad disappears off the face of the earth; he leaves on Sunday, and he'll be back on Thursday, right? So I'm excited to spend a year with them and to learn what they're like in January, February, March, and April because I don't know. You all know that if you have kids in this process, we miss a lot of games; we miss a lot of concerts. I'm ready to be home for those. My brother and sister are here today. Thank you all so much for coming up and being with us, and their kids are here. My mom and dad are here. My dad, a former Marine, served in Vietnam, and he's as black and white as a person can be. There is probably no one I know in this world who sees something as either right or wrong as my dad. It's just the simple truth. My mom was the first teacher hired in the school I grew up going to. She became the elementary school principal at that school and then the head master or head mistress as I like to call her. I went to that school from kindergarten through twelfth grade. Then I joined the Army seven days after high school to get away from her, which is strange now because we live three blocks away from each other—so it didn't work. I joined the Army right after high school and went to basic training at Fort Knox seven days after I had graduated and spent 11 years in the military, 2003-2004 in Iraq. I read this book while I was over there called Capitalism and Freedom by Milton Friedman, and it changed me. Because this book written in 1962, I realized—look, the same problems that the world was dealing with back then, and, in many ways, we're still dealing with today. Yet, here's this guy who kind of has figured it out. So when we talk about school choice, well, Milton Friedman started talking about school choice. When we talk about marijuana policy, Milton Friedman talked about marijuana policy. When we talk about property insurance, and all of these different areas, it was fascinating to see how many of these things he had figured out. His second book was called Free to Choose, and he did a video lecture series, and so I watched those over and over again. In fact, for the first few years, if you had come to my office, just in the background, we would have those playing so the lobbyists would have to watch them and figure out why they were wrong on the policy they were working on. But I just really learned a lot from him and the policies that he pushed forward.

I wasn't actually planning on running for the Florida House. After the military, I thought I was going to come back to work for the family business. They promptly sold that business, probably because I was coming back to work for it. But they promptly sold the business, and I had to find something else to do with my life. So I went and met with my mayor, Mayor Baker. I said, "Mayor, I really want to do something." He said, "Jeff, whatever you do, don't run for City Council." He says, "You'll not like that." He goes, "Run for state house, run for state something else, but you should get involved in public office somewhere along the line." I was going to have to primary somebody for the Florida House so I decided no, I don't want to get involved in that. I'm late so I'll just sit out a cycle or two and wait for something else to happen. I got a call a few days later and they said, "Well, the person you were going to primary with has dropped out of the race, had some health issues, and so we're going to hold the seat open. If you want to run, you have three days to decide." Will Weatherford came and sat down with me, and we talked through it. We met with Natalie, and she got what they call the “faces of death”—talk about what this process is really like for somebody who starts a young family. And so, we decided to run for the House. Now I was running against a two-term incumbent. My odds were not great. My consultant said, “Listen, if you do everything right, everything right, you’re going to win by 1,000 votes.” We won that race by 999 votes.

I spent two years in the Florida House and then was honored to run for the Florida Senate. Only because of term limits was I able to run, and I know that. But it was a difficult race, and we ultimately prevailed. I can tell you that of the things that I have enjoyed in this process, working with some incredible staff has been one of my favorites. When I think about the staff members on the team that we worked with, I remember Curt Eichen, my first staff director—who has left us too early due to cancer—and the years that we spent working together. Cindy Price, probably one of my first memories of meeting on policy was with Cindy—and working through transportation issues and all the things we did on self-driving early. With Teddy Pitts—remember little Teddy Pitts who was just fire and brimstone? She was fantastic. I loved her. P.K., Tim Sadberry, Marti Harkness, the Criminal Justice crew of Lauren, Ryan Cox, and Connie; Tom Cibula is the straight shooter, but I’ve always enjoyed working with Tom, and Joe McVaney—just fantastic people to work with. I want to thank them for their wisdom, for their guidance, but mostly for their sincere love of good public policy. That’s what I love about our Senate staff is they just have a deep knowledge of what is right and what is wrong as it comes to policy. And then, of course, their quiet nudges to me to say, “If you’ll do that, you’re going to get in a lot of trouble.” I got that a lot. But over the years, I’ve watched them and I just want to say how much I appreciate their service to the state, their sacrifices they make for their families, but just their deep knowledge of how this process works, how we can be successful, wanting us to win.

I’ve also, over the years, watched my colleagues come and go, and I wanted to say I’ve learned something from each and every one of you. And the ones who accepted my amendments, I want to say thank you. For the ones who didn’t, I want to say there’s still time. One of the best memories, as Senator Cruz talked about earlier, is some of the bills you worked hardest on. I don’t remember whether it was 2016 or 2017, but we were working on a bill that we had basically put all our chips in on parenting time plans. Now this was a bill I wasn’t planning to run. I actually went to an NCSL conference—had to charge my phone, so I went into one of the conference rooms, a random one. I didn’t know anything about the topic they were going on—just to find a plug. I remember sitting in the back and the discussion going on was about parenting time plans. As a dad, I kind of started listening to this, and it was talking about how do you have unmarried families and allow dads to see their kids in a very straightforward structured process without a lot of the drama of going through the court system. So we began to work on that bill. Of course, we quickly ran into the Family Section of The Florida Bar who was not with us, and we had to work every stop on both the House and the Senate side. Then on day 60, the bill had made it through the Senate but was stuck on second reading in the House. And I had, you know, that feeling like you have done everything you can to get this thing across the finish line. I remember I had to go meet with Representative Cruz—and she was leader at the time. Leader Cruz and Representative Berman—who was sitting right next to her—I walked them through this policy and I said, “I just need you to agree to waive the rules and let the bill move to third.” I remember after we discussed it and I went and told the Speaker that they had agreed to it. I remember walking back to my office, and by the time I had gotten back to the office, my staff comes running out and says, “They just passed your bill.” And I said, “What?” They said, “You know, they just passed your bill.” I can’t tell you what that means when you have worked so hard on something—just to help kids have an experience with their dads somewhere along the line in their life. And, why has that stuck with me? This bill I would say is my proudest—because I’ve never worked harder on anything. So, I just want to say thank you to Representative Berman, now Senator Berman, and Senator Cruz for their incredible graciousness as related to that piece of legislation.

I want to thank my dear friends, Jason and Maggie. Listen, when you room with somebody for years and you sing late at night with Maggie, you sit out on the front porch smoking cigars sometimes with Jason, and you got the music playing and it’s cold outside, those are the days of my life that I will always want to do again. So, thank you. They have been great friends. They have the policy debates, discussions that take place way, way, way too early in the morning—it’s just been something I will always love and treasure.

I want to thank the consultants and advocates that I’ve spent hours with that share their time and experience with me. These are the people who actually teach you how to do this process, right? You can learn something from the Senate and your colleagues, but it’s the consultants and the advocates that really teach you each individual issue. And for them, some of these ideas we work on will be finished within a session, and some will take a decade. Some, we’ll work on the rest of our lives. So, thank you for teaching me this process.

To my staff, we always have a saying in my office—the team with the best players usually wins. And I have been honored to work with what I believe are some of the best players. Whether it be on the future mobility of Uber and Lyft, working on property insurance or criminal justice reform, quietly reforming the entire court system of the State of Florida—we have worked on some amazing things. We’ve put together nine different automated vehicle conferences now that have 600 people show up to them, and we do it all around the state in our ninth year. It has been truly an honor to work with just an incredible team. I started with Nick Hanson, who’s one of my best friends now; with Chris Spencer, who you all get to deal with on a regular basis, but has done amazing things with Katelyn, with Bobby, with Michael Wickersheim, who we love; with Jay Ferrin, with Vanessa, who’s been my chief of staff now for years, with Melissa, with Zach 1.0, and then the upgraded version, Zach 2.0, that is with us now, and Ashley Trent; and many others who have joined our team. I am so thankful for what you have added to my life, to the discussion, and knowing that our bills, although they were probably never perfect, we always put our best thinking into them. I hope you feel that even though we may have disagreed, your voice was always heard and valued. We have laughed, cried, and oftentimes, cursed together, but there has been no greater joy than watching you grow. Many of you joined us right after college. Now you know, some of you a decade later, I get to see what you’re doing, and I get to see where you’ve moved on and moved up to.

Joining the Legislature in many ways is like the first movie of The Matrix. You gotta take the red or the blue pill, right? Then you realize, once you’ve taken that pill, oh my gosh, I’m in the matrix—this is not real. And this is not real life, and then you’ve learned all these incredible skills that are only valuable in the matrix. But after a decade of being in there, you just get to see the zeros and ones of the process, and you can dodge bullets. You know why things are going to happen, you know how things are going to happen, but you get to see the process unfold, and I have loved that.

A few of the lessons that I have learned in this process is that to be successful, you need two things: you need a vision, and you need a champion—and that you’ve got to play to your preference when you choose to be a champion. The advice that I give young House members—I always give to young House members when they come over and ask how you’re successful now—is I say focus on one area, right? So often, we’re an inch deep and a mile wide. Find one thing that you’re passionate about. I don’t care what it is because there’s lots of things to work on in this process, but find one thing that you’re passionate about and be the champion on that. Make yourself indispensable to the Legislature. Find the big idea. There is one big idea, one thing that moves the needle in every area of public policy—find that. Expose your team to everything you can. Listen, when your team works for you, it isn’t for the money, right? You have the opportunity to take them places and expose them to things that, frankly, nobody else will ever be able to expose them to. Our job is to help them grow. And then finally, stop caring whose name is on the bill and concentrate on getting the language across the finish line.

This chapter of mine comes to a close. I’m incredibly excited about the next. The most important title I will ever have is not Senator—it’s Dad, and I realize that, I recognize that. I’m excited to work on creating an organization that focuses on transportation, property insurance, housing that’s affordable, and criminal justice reform. To those in the prison system, I will say I have not accomplished everything that I hoped I would, but we have work to do. The worst day of your life does not define you. Character is not static and people do change, and I understand that, and I recognize that. I hope to work the rest of my life on helping to improve that system. I know that we have so much more work to do, and although I won’t be here to press the button, I can support the Legislature and its leadership for decades to come. I wish you all the very best. May God richly bless the Florida Senate. And with that, Mr. President, I hope you will read the next bill.

President Simpson: Well, the good part is we're not about to read the next bill. You know the thing I would say about Senator Brandes—the one thing he's always said—and I learned it probably nine years ago. I was serving on his Transportation Committee one day and he said something about "Don't be the first one through the minefield." So, that's something that's sort of stuck with me, and I would often think about that. What I would like to acknowledge today is, like his father and grandfathers before him, Senator Brandes is a veteran of our United States military. While serving in the Army Reserves after 9/11, Senator Brandes was called to active duty and deployed to Iraq. He was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division. As a first lieutenant, he served honorably, leading over 75 convoys throughout various regions of Iraq during his 14-month deployment in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. I know I speak for all of us when I say thank you to Senator Brandes for his service.

SPECIAL PRESENTATION

On behalf of the Senate, the President presented Senator Brandes with a framed ceremonial copy of CS for CS for SB 590 (2017) Child Support and Parenting Time Plans, ch. 2017-117, Laws of Florida, which he sponsored and which became law during his legislative career.

Senator Burgess moved the following amendment:

Amendment 1 (906044) (with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 626.914, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

626.914 Definitions.—As used in this Surplus Lines Law, the term:

(5)(4) "Surplus lines agent" means an individual licensed as provided in this part to handle the placement of insurance coverages with unauthorized insurers and to place such coverages with authorized insurers as to which the licensee is not licensed as an agent.

(2) "Domestic surplus lines insurer" means a nonadmitted insurer domiciled in this state that:

(a) Has been deemed eligible and authorized by the office to write surplus lines insurance; and

(b) May write surplus lines insurance in any jurisdiction, including this state. The authorization to write surplus lines insurance is not contingent on the company's holding of an existing certificate of authority.

The term does not include an authorized insurer as defined in s. 624.09.

(3)(2) "Eligible surplus lines insurer" means:

(a) An unauthorized insurer that ~~which~~ has been made eligible by the office to issue insurance coverage under this Surplus Lines Law; or

(b) A domestic surplus lines insurer.

(4)(3) "Export" "~~To export~~" means to place, in an unauthorized insurer under this Surplus Lines Law, insurance covering a subject of insurance resident, located, or to be performed in this state.

(1)(4) "Diligent effort" means seeking coverage from and having been rejected by at least three authorized insurers currently writing this type of coverage and documenting these rejections. However, if the residential structure has a dwelling replacement cost of $700,000 or more, the term means seeking coverage from and having been rejected by at least one authorized insurer currently writing this type of coverage and documenting this rejection.

Section 2. Section 626.91805, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

626.91805 Domestic surplus lines insurers.—

(1) As used in this section, the term "nonadmitted insurer" has the same meaning as provided in the federal Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act of 2010.

(2) Notwithstanding any other law, a nonadmitted insurer possessing a policyholder surplus of at least $15 million may, under a resolution by its board of directors and with the written approval of the office, be eligible to transact insurance as a domestic surplus lines insurer. A domestic surplus lines insurer must maintain surplus of at least $15 million at all times.

(3) Notwithstanding s. 626.918(2), a domestic surplus lines insurer shall be deemed an eligible surplus lines insurer and shall be included in the list of eligible surplus lines insurers required by s. 626.918(3). Eligible surplus lines insurers listed in s. 626.918(3) may write any kind of insurance that an unauthorized insurer not domiciled in this state is eligible to write.

(4) For purposes of writing surplus lines insurance pursuant to the Surplus Lines Law, a domestic surplus lines insurer shall be considered an unauthorized insurer.

(5) For purposes of the federal Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act of 2010, a domestic surplus lines insurer shall be considered a nonadmitted insurer.

(6) A domestic surplus lines insurer may write only surplus lines insurance in this state which is procured from a surplus lines agent pursuant to the Surplus Lines Law. Such insurer may not simultaneously hold any certificate of authority authorizing it to operate as an admitted insurer.

(7) A domestic surplus lines insurer may write surplus lines insurance in any jurisdiction if such insurer complies with the requirements of that jurisdiction.

(8) All requirements imposed by the Florida Insurance Code on admitted domestic insurers apply to domestic surplus lines insurers unless otherwise exempted in this section.

(9) A domestic surplus lines insurer is exempt from s. 624.408.

(10) A surplus lines insurance policy issued by a domestic surplus lines insurer is exempt from all statutory requirements relating to insurance rating and rating plans; policy forms; premiums charged to insureds; policy cancellation, nonrenewal, and renewal; and other statutory requirements in the same manner and to the same extent as surplus lines policies issued by a surplus lines insurer domiciled in another state.

(11) Notwithstanding any other law, a policy issued by a domestic surplus lines insurer is subject to taxes assessed upon surplus lines policies issued by nonadmitted insurers, including surplus lines premium taxes, but is not subject to other taxes levied upon admitted insurers, whether domestic or foreign.

(12) A policy issued by a domestic surplus lines insurer is not subject to the protections or requirements of the Florida Insurance Guaranty Association Act, the Florida Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Association Act, the Florida Workers' Compensation Insurance Guaranty Association Act, or the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund.

(13) A domestic surplus lines insurer may not issue a homeowner's policy covering a personal residential property located in this state within 12 months after the effective date of a nonrenewal or cancellation of a previous policy if the nonrenewal or cancellation of the previous policy was initiated by an affiliate of an admitted insurer. This restriction does not apply to a nonrenewal or cancellation provided at the insured's request. A domestic surplus lines insurer may not issue a policy designed to satisfy the motor vehicle financial responsibility requirements of this state under chapter 324, the Workers' Compensation Law under chapter 440, or any other law of this state mandating insurance coverage by an admitted insurer.

General examination powers.—The office shall examine the affairs, transactions, accounts, records, and assets of any security fund, exchange, members, and associate brokers as often as it deems advisable. The examination may be conducted by the accredited examiners of the office at the offices of the entity or person being examined. The office shall examine in like manner each prospective member or associate broker applying for membership in an exchange.

d. Full disclosure of the terms of all understandings and agreements existing or proposed for management or exclusive agency contracts.

The office shall investigate the new directors or principal officers of the underwriting member. The office's investigation shall include an investigation of the character, financial responsibility, insurance experience, and business qualifications of any new directors or principal officers. As a result of the investigation, the office may require the underwriting member to replace any new directors or principal officers.

5. Alternate financial statement.—In lieu of any financial examination, the office may accept an audited financial statement.

6. Correction and reconstruction of records.—If the office finds any accounts or records to be inadequate, or inadequately kept or posted, it may employ experts to reconstruct, rewrite, post, or balance them at the expense of the person or entity being examined if such person or entity has failed to maintain, complete, or correct such records or accounts after the office has given him or her or it notice and reasonable opportunity to do so.

7. Obstruction of examinations.—Any person or entity who or which willfully obstructs the office or its examiner in an examination is guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

8. Filing of annual statement.—Each underwriting member shall file with the office a full and true statement of its financial condition, transactions, and affairs. The statement shall contain information generally included in insurer financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted insurance accounting principles and practices and in a form generally utilized by insurers for financial statements, sworn to by at least two executive officers of the underwriting member. The form of the financial statements shall be the approved form of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or its successor organization. The commission may by rule require each insurer to submit any part of the information contained in the financial statement in a computer-readable form compatible with the office's electronic data processing system. In addition to information furnished in connection with its annual statement, an underwriting member must furnish to the office as soon as reasonably possible such information about its transactions or affairs as the office requests in writing. All information furnished pursuant to the office's request must be verified by the oath of two executive officers of the underwriting member.

9. Record maintenance.—Each underwriting member shall have and maintain its principal place of business in this state and shall keep therein complete records of its assets, transactions, and affairs in accordance with such methods and systems as are customary for or suitable to the kind or kinds of insurance transacted.

10. Examination of agents.—If the department has reason to believe that any agent, as defined in s. 626.015 or s. 626.914(5) ~~s. 626.914~~, has violated or is violating any provision of the insurance law, or upon receipt of a written complaint signed by any interested person indicating that any such violation may exist, the department shall conduct such examination as it deems necessary of the accounts, records, documents, and transactions pertaining to or affecting the insurance affairs of such agent.

11. Written reports of office.—The office or its examiner shall make a full and true written report of any examination. The report shall contain only information obtained from examination of the records, accounts, files, and documents of or relative to the person or entity examined or from testimony of individuals under oath, together with relevant conclusions and recommendations of the examiner based thereon. The office shall furnish a copy of the report to the person or entity examined not less than 30 days prior to filing the report in its office. If such person or entity so requests in writing within such 30-day period, the office shall grant a hearing with respect to the report and shall not file the report until after the hearing and after such modifications have been made therein as the office deems proper.

12. Admissibility of reports.—The report of an examination when filed shall be admissible in evidence in any action or proceeding brought by the office against the person or entity examined, or against his or her or its officers, employees, or agents. The office or its examiners may at any time testify and offer other proper evidence as to information secured or matters discovered during the course of an examination, whether or not a written report of the examination has been either made, furnished, or filed in the office.

13. Publication of reports.—After an examination report has been filed, the office may publish the results of any such examination in one or more newspapers published in this state whenever it deems it to be in the public interest.

14. Consideration of examination reports by entity examined.—After the examination report of an underwriting member has been filed, an affidavit shall be filed with the office, not more than 30 days after the report has been filed, on a form furnished by the office and signed by the person or a representative of any entity examined, stating that the report has been read and that the recommendations made in the report will be considered within a reasonable time.

15. Examination costs.—Each person or entity examined by the office shall pay to the office the expenses incurred in such examination.

16. Exchange costs.—An exchange shall reimburse the office for any expenses incurred by it relating to the regulation of the exchange and its members, except as specified in subparagraph 15.

If any person refuses to comply with any such subpoena or to testify as to any matter concerning which he or she may be lawfully interrogated, the Circuit Court of Leon County or the circuit court of the county wherein such examination, investigation, or hearing is being conducted, or of the county wherein such person resides, on the office's application may issue an order requiring such person to comply with the subpoena and to testify; and any failure to obey such an order of the court may be punished by the court as a contempt thereof. Subpoenas shall be served, and proof of such service made, in the same manner as if issued by a circuit court. Witness fees and mileage, if claimed, shall be allowed the same as for testimony in a circuit court.

18. False testimony.—Any person willfully testifying falsely under oath as to any matter material to any examination, investigation, or hearing shall upon conviction thereof be guilty of perjury and shall be punished accordingly.

19. Self-incrimination.—

a. If any person asks to be excused from attending or testifying or from producing any books, papers, records, contracts, documents, or other evidence in connection with any examination, hearing, or investigation being conducted by the office or its examiner, on the ground that the testimony or evidence required of the person may tend to incriminate him or her or subject him or her to a penalty or forfeiture, and the person notwithstanding is directed to give such testimony or produce such evidence, he or she shall, if so directed by the office and the Department of Legal Affairs, nonetheless comply with such direction; but the person shall not thereafter be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he or she may have so testified or produced evidence, and no testimony so given or evidence so produced shall be received against him or her upon any criminal action, investigation, or proceeding; except that no such person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed by him or her in such testimony, and the testimony or evidence so given or produced shall be admissible against him or her upon any criminal action, investigation, or proceeding concerning such perjury, nor shall he or she be exempt from the refusal, suspension, or revocation of any license, permission, or authority conferred, or to be conferred, pursuant to the insurance law.

b. Any such individual may execute, acknowledge, and file with the office a statement expressly waiving such immunity or privilege in respect to any transaction, matter, or thing specified in such statement, and thereupon the testimony of such individual or such evidence in relation to such transaction, matter, or thing may be received or produced before any judge or justice, court, tribunal, grand jury, or otherwise; and if such testimony or evidence is so received or produced, such individual shall not be entitled to any immunity or privileges on account of any testimony so given or evidence so produced.

20. Penalty for failure to testify.—Any person who refuses or fails, without lawful cause, to testify relative to the affairs of any member, associate broker, or other person when subpoenaed and requested by the office to so testify, as provided in subparagraph 17., shall, in addition to the penalty provided in subparagraph 17., be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

21. Name selection.—No underwriting member shall be formed or authorized to transact insurance in this state under a name which is the same as that of any authorized insurer or is so nearly similar thereto as to cause or tend to cause confusion or under a name which would tend to mislead as to the type of organization of the insurer. Before incorporating under or using any name, the underwriting syndicate or proposed underwriting syndicate shall submit its name or proposed name to the office for the approval of the office.

22. Capitalization.—An underwriting member approved on or after July 2, 1987, shall provide an initial paid-in capital and surplus of $3 million and thereafter shall maintain a minimum policyholder surplus of $2 million in order to be permitted to write insurance. Underwriting members approved prior to July 2, 1987, shall maintain a minimum policyholder surplus of $1 million. After June 29, 1988, underwriting members approved prior to July 2, 1987, must maintain a minimum policyholder surplus of $1.5 million to write insurance. After June 29, 1989, underwriting members approved prior to July 2, 1987, must maintain a minimum policyholder surplus of $1.75 million to write insurance. After December 30, 1989, all underwriting members, regardless of the date they were approved, must maintain a minimum policyholder surplus of $2 million to write insurance. Except for that portion of the paid-in capital and surplus which shall be maintained in a security fund of an exchange, the paid-in capital and surplus shall be invested by an underwriting member in a manner consistent with ss. 625.301-625.340. The portion of the paid-in capital and surplus in any security fund of an exchange shall be invested in a manner limited to investments for life insurance companies under the Florida insurance laws.

23. Limitations on coverage written.—

a. Limit of risk.—No underwriting member shall expose itself to any loss on any one risk in an amount exceeding 10 percent of its surplus to policyholders. Any risk or portion of any risk which shall have been reinsured in an assuming reinsurer authorized or approved to do such business in this state shall be deducted in determining the limitation of risk prescribed in this section.

b. Restrictions on premiums written.—If the office has reason to believe that the underwriting member's ratio of actual or projected annual gross written premiums to policyholder surplus exceeds 8 to 1 or the underwriting member's ratio of actual or projected annual net premiums to policyholder surplus exceeds 4 to 1, the office may establish maximum gross or net annual premiums to be written by the underwriting member consistent with maintaining the ratios specified in this sub-subparagraph.

(I) Projected annual net or gross premiums shall be based on the actual writings to date for the underwriting member's current calendar year, its writings for the previous calendar year, or both. Ratios shall be computed on an annualized basis.

(II) For purposes of this sub-subparagraph, the term "gross written premiums" means direct premiums written and reinsurance assumed.

c. Surplus as to policyholders.—For the purpose of determining the limitation on coverage written, surplus as to policyholders shall be deemed to include any voluntary reserves, or any part thereof, which are not required by or pursuant to law and shall be determined from the last sworn statement of such underwriting member with the office, or by the last report or examination filed by the office, whichever is more recent at the time of assumption of such risk.

24. Unearned premium reserves.—An underwriting member must at all times maintain an unearned premium reserve equal to 50 percent of the net written premiums of the subscribers on policies having 1 year or less to run, and pro rata on those for longer periods, except that all premiums on any marine or transportation insurance trip risk shall be deemed unearned until the trip is terminated. For the purpose of this subparagraph, the term "net written premiums" means the premium payments made by subscribers plus the premiums due from subscribers, after deducting the amounts specifically provided in the subscribers' agreements for expenses, including reinsurance costs and fees paid to the attorney in fact, provided that the power of attorney agreement contains an explicit provision requiring the attorney in fact to refund any unearned subscribers fees on a pro-rata basis for canceled policies. If there is no such provision, the unearned premium reserve shall be calculated without any adjustment for fees paid to the attorney in fact. If the unearned premium reserves at any time do not amount to $100,000, there shall be maintained on deposit at the exchange at all times additional funds in cash or eligible securities which, together with the unearned premium reserves, equal $100,000. In calculating the foregoing reserves, the amount of the attorney's bond, as filed with the office and as required by s. 629.121, shall be included in such reserves. If at any time the unearned premium reserves are less than the foregoing requirements, the subscribers, or the attorney in fact, shall advance funds to make up the deficiency. Such advances shall only be repaid out of the surplus of the exchange and only after receiving written approval from the office.

25. Loss reserves.—All underwriting members of an exchange shall maintain loss reserves, including a reserve for incurred but not reported claims. The reserves shall be subject to review by the office, and, if loss experience shows that an underwriting member's loss reserves are inadequate, the office shall require the underwriting member to maintain loss reserves in such additional amount as is needed to make them adequate.

26. Distribution of profits.—An underwriting member shall not distribute any profits in the form of cash or other assets to owners except out of that part of its available and accumulated surplus funds which is derived from realized net operating profits on its business and realized capital gains. In any one year such payments to owners shall not exceed 30 percent of such surplus as of December 31 of the immediately preceding year, unless otherwise approved by the office. No distribution of profits shall be made that would render an underwriting member either impaired or insolvent.

27. Stock dividends.—A stock dividend may be paid by an underwriting member out of any available surplus funds in excess of the aggregate amount of surplus advanced to the underwriting member under subparagraph 29.

28. Dividends from earned surplus.—A dividend otherwise lawful may be payable out of an underwriting member's earned surplus even though the total surplus of the underwriting member is then less than the aggregate of its past contributed surplus resulting from issuance of its capital stock at a price in excess of the par value thereof.

29. Borrowing of money by underwriting members.—

a. An underwriting member may borrow money to defray the expenses of its organization, provide it with surplus funds, or for any purpose of its business, upon a written agreement that such money is required to be repaid only out of the underwriting member's surplus in excess of that stipulated in such agreement. The agreement may provide for interest not exceeding 15 percent simple interest per annum. The interest shall or shall not constitute a liability of the underwriting member as to its funds other than such excess of surplus, as stipulated in the agreement. No commission or promotion expense shall be paid in connection with any such loan. The use of any surplus note and any repayments thereof shall be subject to the approval of the office.

b. Money so borrowed, together with any interest thereon if so stipulated in the agreement, shall not form a part of the underwriting member's legal liabilities except as to its surplus in excess of the amount thereof stipulated in the agreement, nor be the basis of any setoff; but until repayment, financial statements filed or published by an underwriting member shall show as a footnote thereto the amount thereof then unpaid, together with any interest thereon accrued but unpaid.

30. 40. Agents.—

a. Agents as defined in ss. 626.015 and 626.914(5) ~~626.914~~ who are broker members or associate broker members of an exchange shall be allowed only to place on an exchange the same kind or kinds of business that the agent is licensed to place pursuant to Florida law. Direct Florida business as defined in s. 626.916 or s. 626.917 shall be written through a broker member who is a surplus lines agent as defined in s. 626.914. The activities of each broker member or associate broker with regard to an exchange shall be subject to all applicable provisions of the insurance laws of this state, and all such activities shall constitute transactions under his or her license as an insurance agent for purposes of the Florida insurance law.

b. Premium payments and other requirements.—If an underwriting member has assumed the risk as to a surplus lines coverage and if the premium therefor has been received by the surplus lines agent who placed such insurance, then in all questions thereafter arising under the coverage as between the underwriting member and the insured, the underwriting member shall be deemed to have received the premium due to it for such coverage; and the underwriting member shall be liable to the insured as to losses covered by such insurance, and for unearned premiums which may become payable to the insured upon cancellation of such insurance, whether or not in fact the surplus lines agent is indebted to the underwriting member with respect to such insurance or for any other cause.

41. Improperly issued contracts, riders, and endorsements.—

a. Any insurance policy, rider, or endorsement issued by an underwriting member and otherwise valid which contains any condition or provision not in compliance with the requirements of this section shall not be thereby rendered invalid, except as provided in s. 627.415, but shall be construed and applied in accordance with such conditions and provisions as would have applied had such policy, rider, or endorsement been in full compliance with this section. No such illegality or cancellation shall be deemed to relieve the underwriting syndicate of any liability incurred by it under the contract while in force or to prohibit the underwriting syndicate from retaining the pro rata earned premium thereon. This provision does not relieve the underwriting syndicate from any penalty otherwise incurred by the underwriting syndicate.

42. Satisfaction of judgments.—

a. Every judgment or decree for the recovery of money heretofore or hereafter entered in any court of competent jurisdiction against any underwriting member shall be fully satisfied within 60 days from and after the entry thereof or, in the case of an appeal from such judgment or decree, within 60 days from and after the affirmance of the judgment or decree by the appellate court.

b. If the judgment or decree is not satisfied as required under sub-subparagraph a., and proof of such failure to satisfy is made by filing with the office a certified transcript of the docket of the judgment or the decree together with a certificate by the clerk of the court wherein the judgment or decree remains unsatisfied, in whole or in part, after the time provided in sub-subparagraph a., the office shall forthwith prohibit the underwriting member from transacting business. The office shall not permit such underwriting member to write any new business until the judgment or decree is wholly paid and satisfied and proof thereof is filed with the office under the official certificate of the clerk of the court wherein the judgment was recovered, showing that the judgment or decree is satisfied of record, and until the expenses and fees incurred in the case are also paid by the underwriting syndicate.

43. f. The office may disapprove any acquisition subject to the provisions of this subparagraph by any person or any affiliated person of such person who:

(I) Willfully violates this subparagraph;

(II) In violation of an order of the office issued pursuant to subparagraph j., fails to divest himself or herself of any stock obtained in violation of this subparagraph, or fails to divest himself or herself of any direct or indirect control of such stock, within 25 days after such order; or

(III) In violation of an order issued by the office pursuant to subparagraph j., acquires additional stock of the underwriting member or controlling company, or direct or indirect control of such stock, without complying with this subparagraph.

g. The person or persons filing the statement required by this subparagraph have the burden of proof. The office shall approve any such acquisition if it finds, on the basis of the record made during any proceeding or on the basis of the filed statement if no proceeding is conducted, that:

(I) Upon completion of the acquisition, the underwriting member will be able to satisfy the requirements for the approval to write the line or lines of insurance for which it is presently approved;

(II) The financial condition of the acquiring person or persons will not jeopardize the financial stability of the underwriting member or prejudice the interests of its policyholders or the public;

(III) Any plan or proposal which the acquiring person has, or acquiring persons have, made:

(A) To liquidate the insurer, sell its assets, or merge or consolidate it with any person, or to make any other major change in its business or corporate structure or management; or

(B) To liquidate any controlling company, sell its assets, or merge or consolidate it with any person, or to make any major change in its business or corporate structure or management which would have an effect upon the underwriting member

(VI) The officers and directors to be employed after the acquisition have sufficient insurance experience and ability to assure reasonable promise of successful operation;

(VII) The management of the underwriting member after the acquisition will be competent and trustworthy and will possess sufficient managerial experience so as to make the proposed operation of the underwriting member not hazardous to the insurance-buying public;

(VIII) The management of the underwriting member after the acquisition will not include any person who has directly or indirectly through ownership, control, reinsurance transactions, or other insurance or business relations unlawfully manipulated the assets, accounts, finances, or books of any insurer or underwriting member or otherwise acted in bad faith with respect thereto;

(IX) The acquisition is not likely to be hazardous or prejudicial to the underwriting member's policyholders or the public; and

(X) The effect of the acquisition of control would not substantially lessen competition in insurance in this state or would not tend to create a monopoly therein.

h. No vote by the stockholder of record, or by any other person, of any security acquired in contravention of the provisions of this subparagraph is valid. Any acquisition of any security contrary to the provisions of this subparagraph is void. Upon the petition of the underwriting member or controlling company, the circuit court for the county in which the principal office of such underwriting member is located may, without limiting the generality of its authority, order the issuance or entry of an injunction or other order to enforce the provisions of this subparagraph. There shall be a private right of action in favor of the underwriting member or controlling company to enforce the provisions of this subparagraph. No demand upon the office that it perform its functions shall be required as a prerequisite to any suit by the underwriting member or controlling company against any other person, and in no case shall the office be deemed a necessary party to any action by such underwriting member or controlling company to enforce the provisions of this subparagraph. Any person who makes or proposes an acquisition requiring the filing of a statement pursuant to this subparagraph, or who files such a statement, shall be deemed to have thereby designated the Chief Financial Officer as such person's agent for service of process under this subparagraph and shall thereby be deemed to have submitted himself or herself to the administrative jurisdiction of the office and to the jurisdiction of the circuit court.

i. Any approval by the office under this subparagraph does not constitute a recommendation by the office for an acquisition, tender offer, or exchange offer. It is unlawful for a person to represent that the office's approval constitutes a recommendation. A person who violates the provisions of this sub-subparagraph is guilty of a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084. Upon the failure of the person or affiliated person to request a hearing within 7 days, or upon a determination at a hearing convened pursuant to this sub-subparagraph that the person or affiliated person has acquired voting securities of an underwriting member or controlling company in violation of this subparagraph, the office may order the person and affiliated person to divest themselves of any voting securities so acquired.

k.(I) The office shall, if necessary to protect the public interest, suspend or revoke the certificate of authority of any underwriting member or controlling company:

(A) The control of which is acquired in violation of this subparagraph;

(II) If any underwriting member is subject to suspension or revocation pursuant to sub-sub-subparagraph (I), the underwriting member shall be deemed to be in such condition, or to be using or to have been subject to such methods or practices in the conduct of its business, as to render its further transaction of insurance presently or prospectively hazardous to its policyholders, creditors, or stockholders or to the public.

l.(I) For the purpose of this sub-sub-subparagraph, the term "affiliated person" of another person means:

(A) The spouse of such other person;

(B) The parents of such other person and their lineal descendants and the parents of such other person's spouse and their lineal descendants;

(C) Any person who directly or indirectly owns or controls, or holds with power to vote, 5 percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of such other person;

(D) Any person 5 percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of which are directly or indirectly owned or controlled, or held with power to vote, by such other person;

(E) Any person or group of persons who directly or indirectly control, are controlled by, or are under common control with such other person; or any officer, director, partner, copartner, or employee of such other person;

(F) If such other person is an investment company, any investment adviser of such company or any member of an advisory board of such company;

(G) If such other person is an unincorporated investment company not having a board of directors, the depositor of such company; or

(H) Any person who has entered into an agreement, written or unwritten, to act in concert with such other person in acquiring or limiting the disposition of securities of an underwriting member or controlling company.

(II) For the purposes of this section, the term “controlling company” means any corporation, trust, or association owning, directly or indirectly, 25 percent or more of the voting securities of one or more underwriting members.

Senator Polsky moved the following amendment which failed:

Amendment 1 (733896) (with title amendment)—Before line 45 insert:

Section 1. Subsection (1) of section 61.13, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

61.13 Support of children; parenting and time-sharing; powers of court.—

(1)(a) In a proceeding under this chapter, the court may at any time order either or both parents who owe a duty of support to a child to pay support to the other parent or, in the case of both parents, to a third party who has custody in accordance with the child support guidelines schedule in s. 61.30. Child support may be ordered under this section for an unborn child beginning at the gestational age of 15 weeks. If paternity of the obligor is disputed, the court must await the outcome of the paternity proceeding before ordering child support payments and must award child support retroactive to the date when the gestational age of the unborn child was 15 weeks.

1. All child support orders and income deduction orders entered on or after October 1, 2010, must provide:

a. For child support to terminate on a child's 18th birthday unless the court finds or previously found that s. 743.07(2) applies, or is otherwise agreed to by the parties;

b. A schedule, based on the record existing at the time of the order, stating the amount of the monthly child support obligation for all the minor children at the time of the order and the amount of child support that will be owed for any remaining children after one or more of the children are no longer entitled to receive child support; and

c. The month, day, and year that the reduction or termination of child support becomes effective.

2. The court initially entering an order requiring one or both parents to make child support payments has continuing jurisdiction after the entry of the initial order to modify the amount and terms and conditions of the child support payments if the modification is found by the court to be in the best interests of the child; when the child reaches majority; if there is a substantial change in the circumstances of the parties; if s. 743.07(2) applies; or when a child is emancipated, marries, joins the armed services, or dies. For child support orders involving unborn children, the court must review and modify, if appropriate, the amount and terms and conditions of child support payments when the child is born. The court initially entering a child support order has continuing jurisdiction to require the obligee to report to the court on terms prescribed by the court regarding the disposition of the child support payments.

(b) Each order for support shall contain a provision for health insurance for the minor child when health insurance is reasonable in cost and accessible to the child. For child support orders involving unborn children, the provision for health insurance must include coverage for the pregnant woman for the duration of the pregnancy and any related postpartum care needed immediately after the child is born. Health insurance is presumed to be reasonable in cost if the incremental cost of adding health insurance for the child or children does not exceed 5 percent of the gross income, as defined in s. 61.30, of the parent responsible for providing health insurance. Health insurance is accessible to the child if the health insurance is available to be used in the county of the child's primary residence or in another county if the parent who has the most time under the time-sharing plan agrees. If the time-sharing plan provides for equal time-sharing, health insurance is accessible to the child if the health insurance is available to be used in either county where the child resides or in another county if both parents agree. The court may require the obligor to provide health insurance or to reimburse the obligee for the cost of health insurance for the minor child when insurance is provided by the obligee. The presumption of reasonable cost may be rebutted by evidence of any of the factors in s. 61.30(11)(a). The court may deviate from what is presumed reasonable in cost only upon a written finding explaining its determination why ordering or not ordering the provision of health insurance or the reimbursement of the obligee's cost for providing health insurance for the minor child would be unjust or inappropriate. In any event, the court shall apportion the cost of health insurance, and any noncovered medical, dental, and prescription medication expenses of the child, to both parties by adding the cost to the basic obligation determined pursuant to s. 61.30(6). The court may order that payment of noncovered medical, dental, and prescription medication expenses of the minor child be made directly to the obligee on a percentage basis. In a proceeding for medical support only, each parent's share of the child's noncovered medical expenses shall equal the parent's percentage share of the combined net income of the parents. The percentage share shall be calculated by dividing each parent's net monthly income by the combined monthly net income of both parents. Net income is calculated as specified by s. 61.30(3) and (4).

1. In a non-Title IV-D case, a copy of the court order for health insurance shall be served on the obligor's union or employer by the obligee when the following conditions are met:

a. The obligor fails to provide written proof to the obligee within 30 days after receiving effective notice of the court order that the health insurance has been obtained or that application for health insurance has been made;

b. The obligee serves written notice of intent to enforce an order for health insurance on the obligor by mail at the obligor's last known address; and

c. The obligor fails within 15 days after the mailing of the notice to provide written proof to the obligee that the health insurance existed as of the date of mailing.

2.a. A support order enforced under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act which requires that the obligor provide health insurance is enforceable by the department through the use of the national medical support notice, and an amendment to the support order is not required. The department shall transfer the national medical support notice to the obligor's union or employer. The department shall notify the obligor in writing that the notice has been sent to the obligor's union or employer, and the written notification must include the obligor's rights and duties under the national medical support notice. The obligor may contest the withholding required by the national medical support notice based on a mistake of fact. To contest the withholding, the obligor must file a written notice of contest with the department within 15 business days after the date the obligor receives written notification of the national medical support notice from the department. Filing with the department is complete when the notice is received by the person designated by the department in the written notification. The notice of contest must be in the form prescribed by the department. Upon the timely filing of a notice of contest, the department shall, within 5 business days, schedule an informal conference with the obligor to discuss the obligor's factual dispute. If the informal conference resolves the dispute to the obligor's satisfaction or if the obligor fails to attend the informal conference, the notice of contest is deemed withdrawn. If the informal conference does not resolve the dispute, the obligor may request an administrative hearing under chapter 120 within 5 business days after the termination of the informal conference, in a form and manner prescribed by the department. However, the filing of a notice of contest by the obligor does not delay the withholding of premium payments by the union, employer, or health plan administrator. The union, employer, or health plan administrator must implement the withholding as directed by the national medical support notice unless notified by the department that the national medical support notice is terminated.

b. In a Title IV-D case, the department shall notify an obligor's union or employer if the obligation to provide health insurance through that union or employer is terminated.

3. In a non-Title IV-D case, upon receipt of the order pursuant to subparagraph 1., or upon application of the obligor pursuant to the order, the union or employer shall enroll the minor child as a beneficiary in the group health plan regardless of any restrictions on the enrollment period and withhold any required premium from the obligor's income. If more than one plan is offered by the union or employer, the child shall be enrolled in the group health plan in which the obligor is enrolled.

4.a. Upon receipt of the national medical support notice under subparagraph 2. in a Title IV-D case, the union or employer shall transfer the notice to the appropriate group health plan administrator within 20 business days after the date on the notice. The plan administrator must enroll the child as a beneficiary in the group health plan regardless of any restrictions on the enrollment period, and the union or employer must withhold any required premium from the obligor's income upon notification by the plan administrator that the child is enrolled. The child shall be enrolled in the group health plan in which the obligor is enrolled. If the group health plan in which the obligor is enrolled is not available where the child resides or if the obligor is not enrolled in group coverage, the child shall be enrolled in the lowest cost group health plan that is accessible to the child.

b. If health insurance or the obligor's employment is terminated in a Title IV-D case, the union or employer that is withholding premiums for health insurance under a national medical support notice must notify the department within 20 days after the termination and provide the obligor's last known address and the name and address of the obligor's new employer, if known.

5.a. The amount withheld by a union or employer in compliance with a support order may not exceed the amount allowed under s. 303(b) of the Consumer Credit Protection Act, 15 U.S.C. s. 1673(b), as amended. The union or employer shall withhold the maximum allowed by the Consumer Credit Protection Act in the following order:

- (I) Current support, as ordered.
- (II) Premium payments for health insurance, as ordered.
- (III) Past due support, as ordered.
- (IV) Other medical support or insurance, as ordered.

b. If the combined amount to be withheld for current support plus the premium payment for health insurance exceed the amount allowed under the Consumer Credit Protection Act, and the health insurance cannot be obtained unless the full amount of the premium is paid, the union or employer may not withhold the premium payment. However, the union or employer shall withhold the maximum allowed in the following order:

- (I) Current support, as ordered.

(II) Past due support, as ordered.

(III) Other medical support or insurance, as ordered.

6. An employer, union, or plan administrator who does not comply with the requirements in sub-subparagraph 4.a. is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed $250 for the first violation and $500 for subsequent violations, plus attorney's fees and costs. The department may file a petition in circuit court to enforce the requirements of this subparagraph.

7. The department may adopt rules to administer the child support enforcement provisions of this section that affect Title IV-D cases.

(c) To the extent necessary to protect an award of child support, the court may order the obligor to purchase or maintain a life insurance policy or a bond, or to otherwise secure the child support award with any other assets which may be suitable for that purpose.

(d)1. All child support orders shall provide the full name and date of birth of each minor child who is the subject of the child support order. For child support orders involving unborn children, the order shall specify that the order is for the benefit of an unborn child and include the gestational age and intended full name, if any, of the unborn child.

2. If both parties request and the court finds that it is in the best interest of the child, support payments need not be subject to immediate income deduction. Support orders that are not subject to immediate income deduction may be directed through the depository under s. 61.181 or made payable directly to the obligee. Payments made by immediate income deduction shall be made to the State Disbursement Unit. The court shall provide a copy of the order to the depository.

3. For support orders payable directly to the obligee, any party may subsequently file an affidavit with the depository alleging a default in payment of child support and stating that the party wishes to require that payments be made through the depository. The party shall provide copies of the affidavit to the court and to each other party. Fifteen days after receipt of the affidavit, the depository shall notify all parties that future payments shall be paid through the depository, except that payments in Title IV-D cases and income deduction payments shall be made to the State Disbursement Unit. In Title IV-D cases, an affidavit of default or a default in payments is not required to receive depository services. Upon notice by the department that it is providing Title IV-D services in a case with an existing support order, the depository shall transmit case data through, and set up appropriate payment accounts in, regardless of whether there is a delinquency, the Clerk of the Court Child Support Enforcement Collection System as required under s. 61.181(2)(b).

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete line 3 and insert: mortality; amending s. 61.13, F.S.; providing that child support may be ordered for unborn children beginning at a specified gestational age; requiring the court to await the outcome of paternity proceedings in disputed paternity cases before ordering child support payments; providing for retroactive child support payments under certain circumstances; requiring the court to review and modify, if appropriate, child support orders involving unborn children when the child is born; requiring child support orders involving unborn children to include health insurance coverage for the pregnant woman for a specified time; requiring that child support orders involving unborn children include specified information; amending s. 381.84, F.S.; revising the

1. The ~~total~~ unpaid balance of the loan properly due under or secured by the mortgage as of the date specified in the estoppel letter, including an itemization of the principal, interest, and any other charges comprising the unpaid balance.
2. Interest accruing on a per-day basis for the unpaid balance, if applicable.

(c)1. Except for mortgages for which a notice of lis pendens in a foreclosure action or a suggestion of bankruptcy has been properly filed and recorded, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer may not qualify, reserve the right to change, or condition or disclaim the reliance of others on the information provided in an estoppel letter under paragraph (b), and any attempt to do so is void and unenforceable. However, if the mortgagee or mortgage servicer determines that any of the information provided in the estoppel letter under paragraph (b) was inaccurate, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer may send a corrected estoppel letter to the person who requested the estoppel letter.

2. If the person who requested the original estoppel letter under paragraph (a) receives a corrected estoppel letter by 3 p.m. in such person's time zone at least 1 business day before a payment is issued in reliance on the previous estoppel letter, the corrected estoppel letter supersedes all prior estoppel letters. The corrected estoppel letter is considered received by the person who requested the original estoppel letter:

a. Five business days after the corrected estoppel letter, which is to be sent by first-class mail, is deposited with the United States Postal Service;

b. The day the corrected estoppel letter is delivered by a common carrier delivery service; or

c. The day the corrected estoppel letter is sent by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for requesting an estoppel letter.

3. If any of the information provided in the estoppel letter under paragraph (b) was inaccurate, but the person who requested the estoppel letter did not timely receive a corrected estoppel letter as provided in subparagraph 2., the mortgagee or mortgage servicer may not deny the accuracy of such information as against any person who relied on it.

(d)3. The mortgagee or mortgage servicer of the mortgagee acting in accordance with a request in substantial compliance with this subsection paragraph is expressly discharged from any obligation or liability to any person on account of the release of the requested information, other than the obligation to comply with the terms of the estoppel letter.

(e) If a payment is received at the location and in the manner specified by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer must accept, and may not return, any payment received in reliance on an estoppel letter and must promptly apply such payment to the unpaid balance of the loan properly due under or secured by the mortgage.

(f)1. A written request for an estoppel letter under paragraph (a) must be sent to the mortgagee or mortgage servicer by first-class mail, postage prepaid; by common carrier delivery service; or by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means at the address made available by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for such purpose or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for requesting an estoppel letter. The written request is considered received by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer:

a. Five business days after the request sent by first-class mail is deposited with the United States Postal Service;

b. The day the request is delivered by a common carrier delivery service; or

c. The day the request is sent by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for requesting an estoppel letter.

If any of the days in sub-subparagraph a., sub-subparagraph b., or sub-subparagraph c. falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday under the laws of the state or the United States, the request for an estoppel letter is considered timely received by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer on the next business day.

2. The mortgagee or mortgage servicer must send an estoppel letter by first-class mail; by common carrier delivery service; or by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means, as directed in the written request, or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for this purpose. However, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer is not required to pay for a common carrier delivery service. If the 10-day period after a written request is received by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer ends on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday under the laws of the state or the United States, the estoppel letter is considered timely if it is sent by the close of business on the next business day.

(g)(e) Notwithstanding s. 655.059, a mortgagee or mortgage servicer mortgage holder may provide the financial information required under this subsection to a person authorized under this subsection to request the financial information notwithstanding s. 655.059.

(2) Within 60 days after the unpaid balance of a loan secured by a mortgage has been fully paid or paid pursuant to an estoppel letter under subsection (1), whichever is earlier, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer shall execute in writing an instrument acknowledging satisfaction of the mortgage; have the instrument acknowledged, or proven, and send it or cause it to be sent for recording in the official records of the proper county; and send or cause to be sent the recorded satisfaction to the mortgagor or record title owner of the property. The prevailing party in a civil action brought against the mortgagee or mortgage servicer to enforce the requirements of this subsection is entitled to reasonable attorney fees and costs.

(3)(2) Within 60 days after the unpaid balance ~~Whenever the amount of money due on a any mortgage, lien, or judgment has been fully paid to the person or party entitled to the payment thereof, the mortgagee, creditor, or assignee, or the attorney of record in the case of a judgment, to whom the payment was made; shall execute in writing an instrument acknowledging satisfaction of the mortgage, lien, or judgment; and have the instrument acknowledged, or proven, and send it or cause it to be sent for recording duly entered in the official records of the proper county; and~~ Within 60 days after the date of receipt of the full payment of the mortgage, lien, or judgment, the person required to acknowledge satisfaction of the mortgage, lien, or judgment shall send or cause to be sent the recorded satisfaction to the person who has made the full payment. ~~In the case of a civil action arising out of this section, The prevailing party in a civil action brought against the creditor or assignee, or the attorney of record in the case of a judgment, to enforce the requirements of this subsection is entitled to reasonable attorney fees and costs.~~

(4)(3) When ~~Whenever~~ a writ of execution has been issued, docketed, and indexed with a sheriff and the judgment upon which it was issued has been fully paid, it is the responsibility of the person party receiving payment to request, in writing, addressed to the sheriff, return of the writ of execution as fully satisfied.

Section 2. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) and subsection (2) of section 701.041, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

701.041 Title insurer; mortgage release certificate.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

(a) "Estoppel letter" means a statement containing, at a minimum, the information required in s. 701.04(1)(b) ~~of the amount of~~

1. ~~The unpaid balance of a loan secured by a mortgage, including principal, interest, and any other charges properly due under or secured by the mortgage.~~

2. ~~Interest on a per-day basis for the unpaid balance.~~

(2) CERTIFICATE OF RELEASE.—An officer or duly appointed agent of a title insurer may, on behalf of a mortgagor or a person who acquired from the mortgagor title to all or a part of the property described in a mortgage, execute a certificate of release that complies with the requirements of this section and record the certificate of release in the real property records of each county in which the mortgage is recorded if a satisfaction or release of the mortgage has not been executed and recorded after the date payment in full of the loan properly due under or secured by the mortgage was made in accordance with an estoppel letter ~~a payoff statement~~ furnished by the mortgagee or the mortgage servicer.

Section 3. The Legislature finds that the timeliness and accuracy of an estoppel letter is critical because the parties to a real estate transaction must rely on the estoppel letter to establish the loan payoff amount necessary to release the mortgage, which in turn will allow the owner to confer clean title to a buyer or to refinance the property. The Legislature further finds that estoppel letters increasingly contain conditional language disclaiming the ability of an owner to rely on the stated loan payoff amounts, extending even to the return of such payments submitted by owners, creating unnecessary delays in the efficient operation of the state's real estate market, which is a vital economic contributor to the state, and imposing needless costs and burdens on property owners and buyers. Additionally, the Legislature finds that real estate lending, mortgages, real estate transactions, and estoppel letters are extensively regulated under both state and federal law. The Legislature finds and determines that this act makes changes to state law that appropriately balance the parties' interests, are reasonable and necessary to serve and achieve an important state interest, are necessary for the prosperity and welfare of the state and its property owners and inhabitants, and must be applied to existing mortgages in order to provide effective relief.

Section 4. This act applies to all mortgages, and all loans secured by such mortgages, existing as of, or entered into on or after, October 1, 2022.

Section 5. This act shall take effect October 1, 2022.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 18-36 and insert: providing methods for sending a corrected estoppel letter; prohibiting the mortgagee or mortgage servicer from denying the accuracy of certain information provided in an estoppel letter under certain circumstances; prohibiting payments received pursuant to an estoppel letter from being returned and requiring such payments to be promptly applied to any unpaid balance of the loan properly due under or secured by a mortgage; providing methods for sending a written request for an estoppel letter and for sending an estoppel letter; providing that the mortgagee or mortgage servicer is not required to pay for a common carrier delivery service; requiring the mortgagee or mortgage servicer to take certain actions within a specified time after the unpaid balance of a loan properly secured by a mortgage has been fully paid or paid pursuant to an estoppel letter; authorizing reasonable attorney fees and costs; amending s.

Pursuant to Rule 7.1, there being no objection, consideration of the following late-filed amendment was allowed:

Senator Burgess moved the following substitute amendment which was adopted:

Substitute Amendment 2 (579878) (with title amendment)—Delete lines 81-197 and insert:
balance from and after the date specified in the estoppel letter, if applicable.

(c)1. Except for mortgages for which a notice of lis pendens in a foreclosure action or a suggestion of bankruptcy has been properly filed and recorded, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer may not qualify, reserve the right to change, or condition or disclaim the reliance of others on the information provided in an estoppel letter under paragraph (b), and any attempt to do so is void and unenforceable. However, if the mortgagee or mortgage servicer determines that any of the information provided in the estoppel letter under paragraph (b) was inaccurate, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer may send a corrected estoppel letter to the person who requested the estoppel letter in the same manner as used to respond to the original written request. If the original written request is made by a person other than the mortgagor, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer must also provide a copy of any corrected estoppel letter to the mortgagor.

2. If the person who requested the original estoppel letter under subparagraph (f)1. receives a corrected estoppel letter by 3 p.m. in such person's time zone at least 1 business day before a payment is issued in reliance on the previous estoppel letter, the corrected estoppel letter supersedes all prior estoppel letters.

3. If any of the information provided in the estoppel letter under paragraph (b) was inaccurate, but the person who requested the estoppel letter did not timely receive a corrected estoppel letter as provided in subparagraph 2., the mortgagee or mortgage servicer may not deny the accuracy of such information as against any person who relied on it. This subparagraph does not affect the right of a mortgagee to recover any sum that it did not include in an estoppel letter from any person liable for payment of the loan or other obligations secured by the mortgage, nor does it limit any claim or defense to recovery that such person may have at law or in equity ~~on a per day basis.~~

(d)2. The mortgagee or mortgage servicer of the mortgagee acting in accordance with a request in substantial compliance with this subsection paragraph is expressly discharged from any obligation or liability to any person on account of the release of the requested information, other than the obligation to comply with the terms of the estoppel letter.

(e) If a payment is received at the location and in the manner specified by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer must accept and may not return any payment received in reliance on an estoppel letter and must promptly apply such payment to the unpaid balance of the loan properly due under or secured by the mortgage.

(f)1. A written request for an estoppel letter under paragraph (a) must be sent to the mortgagee or mortgage servicer by first-class mail, postage prepaid; by common carrier delivery service; or by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means at the address made available by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for such purpose or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for requesting an estoppel letter. The written request is considered received by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer:

a. Five business days after the request sent by first-class mail is deposited with the United States Postal Service;

b. The day the request is delivered by a common carrier delivery service; or

c. The day the request is sent by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for requesting an estoppel letter.

If any of the days in sub-subparagraph a., sub-subparagraph b., or sub-subparagraph c. falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday under the laws of this state or the United States, the request for an estoppel letter is considered timely received by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer on the next business day.

2. The mortgagee or mortgage servicer must send an estoppel letter by first-class mail; by common carrier delivery service; or by e-mail, facsimile, or other electronic means, as directed in the written request, or through an automated system provided by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer for this purpose. However, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer is not required to pay for a common carrier delivery service. If the 10-day period after a written request is received by the mortgagee or mortgage servicer ends on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday under the laws of this state or the United States, the estoppel letter is considered timely if it is sent by the close of business on the next business day.

(g)(e) Notwithstanding s. 655.059, a mortgagee or mortgage servicer mortgage holder may provide the financial information required under this subsection to a person authorized under this subsection to request the financial information notwithstanding s. 655.059.

(2)(a) Within 60 days after the unpaid balance of a loan secured by a mortgage has been fully paid or paid pursuant to an estoppel letter under subsection (1), whichever is earlier, the mortgagee or mortgage servicer shall execute in writing an instrument acknowledging release of the mortgage; have the instrument acknowledged, or proven, and send it or cause it to be sent for recording in the official records of the proper county; and send or cause to be sent the recorded release to the mortgagor or record title owner of the property. The prevailing party in a civil action brought against the mortgagee or mortgage servicer to enforce the requirements of this paragraph is entitled to reasonable attorney fees and costs.

(b) The recorded release of the mortgage does not relieve the mortgagor, or the mortgagor's successors or assigns, from any personal liability on the loan or other obligations previously secured by the mortgage.

(3)(2) Whenever the amount of money due on a ~~any mortgage, lien,~~ or judgment has been fully paid to the person or party entitled to the payment thereof, the mortgagee, creditor, or assignee, or the attorney of record in the case of a judgment, to whom the payment was made, shall execute in writing an instrument acknowledging satisfaction of the mortgage, lien; or judgment and have the instrument acknowledged, or proven, and duly entered in the official records of the proper county. Within 60 days after the date of receipt of the full payment of the mortgage, lien, or judgment, the person required to acknowledge satisfaction of the mortgage, lien, or judgment shall send or cause to be sent the recorded satisfaction to the person who has made the full payment. In the case of a civil action regarding a lien or judgment arising out of this section, the prevailing party is entitled to attorney fees and costs.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete lines 15-36 and insert: estoppel letter under certain circumstances; requiring a mortgagee or mortgage servicer to provide a copy of a corrected estoppel letter to a mortgagor under certain circumstances; providing that a corrected estoppel letter supersedes any previous estoppel letter under certain circumstances; prohibiting the mortgagee or mortgage servicer from denying the accuracy of certain information provided in an estoppel letter under certain circumstances; providing construction; prohibiting payments received pursuant to an estoppel letter from being returned and requiring such payments to be promptly applied to any unpaid balance of the loan properly due under or secured by a mortgage; providing methods for sending a written request for an estoppel letter and for sending an estoppel letter; providing that the mortgagee or mortgage servicer is not required to pay for a common carrier delivery service; requiring the mortgagee or mortgage servicer to take certain actions within a specified time after the unpaid balance of a loan properly secured by a mortgage has been fully paid or paid pursuant to an estoppel letter; authorizing reasonable attorney fees and costs; providing that certain persons may still be personally liable after the recording of a release of a mortgage; conforming provisions to changes made by the act; amending s.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Reverend Mike Fordham, Killearn United Methodist Church, Tallahassee:

Oh God, we thank you for this beautiful gift of a day that you have so graciously given to us. We pray, God, that you will enable us, by your grace, to make the most of this gift of a new day by first loving you, as we love ourselves and each other as well with all that we have within our being. God, we know that you have created us, first and foremost, to be the objects of your love by which we are then empowered to love in kind. So now then, God, we humble ourselves before you, bowing our lives down to you, submitting ourselves to your leadership as we acknowledge that you are the creator of the ends of the universe, the one and only true sovereign Lord of all, the God of all truth and wisdom.

As such, we acknowledge our desperate need for you in our lives. Therefore, it is our hope that as we begin our work today, that we will do as you guide us to do each and every day—to trust in you with all our hearts. To not depend on our own understanding, but to seek your will in all that we do. And as we do, we trust that you will show us which path to take. As these leaders here this day, God, seek to do just that—to seek your will and your best—give them the ability to work together in unity for the common good of all, along with their diversity. God, bless them with the understanding, insight, and wisdom they need to make the best decisions that will order our lives in such a way that we might do our best to relieve suffering, to bring justice to where it is needed, and that we might continue to experience the security, peace, and countless blessings that abound in our great nation. All this we pray, God, in your most holy and gracious name. Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Rowan Daniel of Tallahassee; Jordyn Jerry of Orlando; and Christopher Sosa of Palm Beach, led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

DOCTOR OF THE DAY

The President recognized Dr. Christopher Scuderi of Fernandina Beach, sponsored by Senator Bean, as the doctor of the day. Dr. Scuderi specializes in family medicine.

ADOPTION OF RESOLUTIONS

At the request of Senator Berman—

By Senator Berman—

SR 1982—A resolution recognizing March 2022 as “Triple-Negative Breast Cancer Awareness Month” and March 3, 2022, as “Triple-Negative Breast Cancer Awareness Day” in Florida.

WHEREAS, breast cancer is among the most commonly diagnosed cancers and is the second leading cause of cancer deaths among women in the United States, and

WHEREAS, some 281,550 women were diagnosed with breast cancer in 2021 and nearly 43,600 were expected to die from this malignancy, and

WHEREAS, triple-negative breast cancer (TNBC) is one of many forms of breast cancer and accounts for between 15 and 30 percent of all diagnosed invasive breast cancer cases nationwide, and

WHEREAS, of the new breast cancer cases diagnosed in the United States in 2019, more than 53,700 were TNBC, with higher prevalence among younger women; black and Hispanic women; women with type 2 diabetes or carrying excess weight in the abdominal area; and those with BRCA1 mutations, and

WHEREAS, due to its aggressive behavior, TNBC grows quickly and is more likely to have spread by the time it is found and to recur after treatment than other types of breast cancer, and

WHEREAS, people diagnosed with metastatic TNBC have less than a 30 percent chance of surviving 5 years after diagnosis, and

WHEREAS, TNBC cells do not contain and are considered negative for the three key receptors that medicines typically target in other types of breast cancers and, therefore, limited treatment options are available to treat this cancer, and

WHEREAS, while patients with an early diagnosis can often be treated with chemotherapy, radiation, and surgery, the limited availability of therapies that specifically address the management of TNBC has made treating this disease a challenge for clinicians, and

WHEREAS, recent innovations in targeted therapies have fueled advances in the fight against TNBC, and

WHEREAS, studies have shown that TNBC-disease-specific mortality rates are often higher if patients are enrolled in Medicaid or Medicare or have a lower socioeconomic status and that black women are 48 percent less likely than non-Hispanic white women to receive guideline-adherent care and have approximately a twofold higher mortality incidence, resulting in a disproportionately higher risk of death from TNBC, and

WHEREAS, advances in breast cancer screening and treatment over the last few decades have reduced the overall breast cancer mortality rate, yet the disproportionate impact of TNBC on racial and ethnic minority communities raises considerations of the underlying determinants driving the disparities, and

WHEREAS, it is necessary to promote TNBC education, to raise awareness about the disease-related disparities, and to tackle inequities within the health care delivery system, such as inadequate access to screening, diagnostic testing, and care, to improve early detection and survival, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That March 2022 is recognized as “Triple-Negative Breast Cancer Awareness Month” and March 3, 2022, is recognized as “Triple-Negative Breast Cancer Awareness Day” in Florida.

At the request of Senator Wright—

By Senator Wright—

SR 1986—A resolution recognizing 2022 as the “Year of Artemis” in Florida to acknowledge the launch of the Artemis I mission and the beginning of a new era in deep space exploration.

WHEREAS, Florida has served as America’s premier launch pad to space for more than 70 years, tracing a timeline back to the creation of a test site for missile launches which has grown into what is now the Cape Canaveral Space Force Station and NASA’s Kennedy Space Center, named for former President John F. Kennedy, and

WHEREAS, Florida’s indispensable role in our nation’s space program has resulted in human exploration missions in low Earth orbit and to the Moon which have yielded many research discoveries and benefits to mankind, and

WHEREAS, NASA’s Artemis program marks America’s return to the Moon from Florida with the hope of establishing a permanent human presence to investigate the lunar surface and prove technologies needed for long-term deep space exploration, and

WHEREAS, in Greek mythology, Artemis is the twin sister of Apollo and today symbolizes the United States’ commitment to follow the Apollo program by returning to the Moon with the first woman and first person of color to crew a lunar mission, and

WHEREAS, Artemis I is the first in a series of increasingly complex missions that will enable human exploration of the Moon and Mars, using NASA’s powerful new rocket, the Space Launch System (SLS), the Orion spacecraft, and exploration ground systems, and

WHEREAS, the SLS is the most powerful rocket in the world, and Orion will fly farther than any human-rated spacecraft has ever flown, and

WHEREAS, the Artemis I mission rocket is fully stacked inside the iconic Vehicle Assembly Building at Kennedy Space Center, where it is undergoing final testing and preparations for launch, and

WHEREAS, the Artemis I mission is slated to launch in the spring of 2022 from Launch Complex 39B, making history from the Space Coast and marking the beginning of a new era in human space exploration from this state, and

WHEREAS, the Artemis program results in an economic impact to Florida of more than $2 billion, creating more than 10,000 jobs filled by a highly specialized aerospace workforce that serves as one of this state’s most valuable assets, and

WHEREAS, through the Artemis program, Florida will continue to serve as Earth’s most prominent launch pad for the sustainment of humanity’s exploration and endeavors beyond the bounds of our planet, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That 2022 is recognized as the “Year of Artemis” in Florida, marked by the launch of the Artemis I mission.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Florida’s aerospace workforce is commended and congratulated for its remarkable efforts in ensuring our nation’s leadership in space exploration through the Artemis program.

On motion by Senator Passidomo, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Baxley: We’ve been together a long time, and we’re family. It took a lot of learning, and you taught me. We’ve learned patience with each other. She and I are often on different sides of an issue, but there’s no limit to love. I just want to share a very special time and the reason I’m doing this today. I had the opportunity to come and attend, as you remember, your father’s funeral. One thing I know is people don’t always remember what you said, but they remember you were with them when it was hard. I always learn so much. First of all, your warm reception that I would come. It’s really not that far from Ocala to Jacksonville when you love people and you know they’re hurting. And whether you agree or not, it’s just like family—my kids don’t like all my bills. My wife doesn’t like all my bills. Sometimes, I don’t like them after a while! Though what is so strong is that we’re still family. When I learned about your father, so much more than I had ever known before—and that’s one great thing about a funeral—you will learn. I came along your side, and you welcomed me so warmly, and I told you, “Now I understand you.” If you want to understand a strong woman, go find out about her dad and her relationship with him. Your faithfulness to care for your dad when he was struggling is a tremendous testament. We’re family. You’re my family. I love you. And I will vote against you and debate you a lot. God bless you.

Senator Wright: Senator Gibson, it’s just an honor to work with you, a pleasure to know you. We have our little secret lovefest going on but we won’t tell anybody about that. We get along so well, and you make me a better Senator by debating and watching what you do. I thank you for all that you brought to the Senate chamber. Good luck in your future. Thank you.

Senator Berman: I’ve also known Audrey a long time. She’s been our Leader, and I think it was discussed a little bit yesterday about how hard it is to lead a group that’s in the minority. She did an amazing job.

She brought us together, and she always cared about us individually. She knew about what bills we had, what mattered to us, and she was always fighting for us. I so appreciate that, and that’s true leadership on our behalf. I’ve had a lot of bills with Audrey over the years, especially when I was in the House. She would come over and she would actually meet with other House members and tell them, “You need to work on this.” I thought, “Wow, this is great; it’s such a good thing.” I have to say, I have not been as good as you on following up on that. So, you really showed me how to get bills passed and what we need to do. I think, most of all, what we’re going to miss around here is your beautiful smile and your laugh. You bring so much joy to us here, and we really will miss you in the Florida Senate.

Senator Jones: Senator Gibson, I told you yesterday that I had something to say, and that was thank you for being our conscience inside these chambers. Oftentimes, you say the things that we’re thinking—Audrey Gibson says it. So, I really appreciate you for doing that. I also appreciate the fact that even in being the conscience of the chamber, you also hold us accountable—even if it’s on the same side. As early as yesterday, you made it clear to us, “I’m not doing that.” That’s just who Audrey Gibson is. My first time meeting Senator Gibson, I was a freshman in the House and in the Black Caucus. We were about to vote on something; I can’t remember what it was, and Senator Gibson halted the entire process because she had something to say. We know that’s Audrey Gibson—that’s who she is. You were right in why you did that because you always stand for what’s right. You can see that in your children, in your granddaughter, who you’re very proud of. We’re going to miss you here. As you go out, continue to hold us accountable and continue to be the conscience, not just for this chamber but for all of us living here in the State of Florida. Love you and look forward to seeing you later.

Senator Cruz: I was elected in 2010 in a special election on a Tuesday, and the following Tuesday, session began. So, I was kind of like a deer staring at the headlights that first week. I sat kind of this way from Senator Gibson. I watched her, and I admired her sense of confidence. I wondered to myself, will I ever be as confident as this woman? I don’t know if you even remember this, Senator Gibson, but there was a day—perhaps it was a long day of debate—you had in your drawer a box of stickers. You were putting stickers on people for doing a good job. Do you remember that? One of my personal goals was to get a sticker from Senator Gibson. I never received one, but I did go up and ask for one, and she gave me one. So, I had to make sure. I appreciate the independent thinker that you are and the fact that you’re not afraid to create a stir. I think you’re part of the last great group of statesmen that work with others, regardless of party affiliation, to get things done here for Floridians, not just for ourselves, but for the folks in our district and the folks across the state. I will miss you; I’ve appreciated you; I have seen you as a mentor; and I wish you all the best. Thank you.

Senator Torres: What can I say about Audrey? Leader Gibson, Audrey, true friend. I mean not only here, but outside during times that you needed someone to reach out to you—when I lost my mom. Her friendship, her leadership, her guidance; I mean it. I mean it from the bottom of my heart. I want to say that you have shown me something that I’ll treasure for the rest of my life. Because I feel that when you have friendship, not here but outside of here, it goes a long way, and I value that. I value you, and I wish you the best—you and your family. I know there are other paths you’re going to take from here. It’s just the beginning for you. But I love you, and take care.

Senator Rouson: Audrey Gibson, Duval, sister, you are an example of someone who does not forget where they come from and who uses those experiences to benefit not only the constituents that you represent but the entire citizenry of the State of Florida. I want to thank you for your special friendship and guidance. I’ll never forget running for Leader in the House, and I would call you up, and you would tell me, “Just be yourself.” I was worried about what one faction of the caucus was thinking and what the other faction of the caucus was thinking. You said, “You can’t worry what others think—just be a leader.” Do you remember that? Few people in this process are as prepared as you when they come to the committees, but I appreciate your balance. You know which stool to sit on in the Governor’s Club. Oh, but come eight o’clock the next morning, you’re in committee. I want to thank you for the kindness and the respect that you gave me and the others in this process. I wish you well.

Senator Bean: Good morning to you and good morning, Florida Senate. Rouson tried but came up a little short, and that is this: Leader Gibson and I share Jacksonville. There is a saying we have, and I want you to join with me, because I'm going to pronounce the right way that we pronounce the county which we represent and then to pay tribute to Leader Gibson. What I need you to do is repeat it back to me. Florida Senate family, let's give it a go! Duval! Duval! Alright, now that we're warmed up; gallery, I didn't hear you at all! One more time! When we say it this time, I want everybody that is on the House floor to think, what are they doing over there? We're paying tribute to Leader Gibson. Duval! Duval! That's how you do it right there. That's how you do it when you're family, and that's a Senate family thing. Guess what? We're political siblings. If you know anything about siblings, you know we fight. We fight a lot. We fight internally, and we fight about so many policy things. But if you know anything about family, oh I can holler at her, but nobody else better. Nobody outside of the family better say anything because I'm there. We have that. She has covered for me as well, so many times. I'm a big fan. We had a local bill—is she a fighter? We didn't just fight here; we fought three hairstyles ago in the Florida House. That's it. You think she's tough now? Long-haired Audrey, boy, she was intimidating when her hair was down to her shoulders. Representative Audrey—don't mess with her. We had a local bill before the Duval delegation. You know how local bills are. A lobbyist came to me and said, "Bean, we really need your help; we got a problem." I said, "What is it? What do you have?" "Well, Senator Gibson had an issue with it and said if we didn't fix the issue, she was going to kill our local bill." I said, "What did you say when she said that?" The lobbyist told me, "Under no circumstances could she kill the bill; under no circumstances would she kill the bill." And I said, "You actually said that?" And he said, "Yeah, I said that to her." I said, "You said the wrong thing—your bill is dead." Because the last thing you do is tell her she can't do something. Guess what, the bill was dead for the next three years. How about that, she had it circled. That's how Audrey Gibson rolls. Leader Gibson, as we call her from the rostrum right up there, I'm proud of her. I look to her, we've chatted. What's your next move? I don't know, but I know it's for big things. So Leader Gibson, Godspeed. Love you.

Senator Powell: Senator Gibson, I've been in this process for 13 years. I think you were in the Senate before I was in the House—way before I got in the House. Then, I came into the Senate with you. And you taught me and a lot of us how to be Senators. I remember there was a time—I think Senator Rouson went to you about something I was trying to do. You said "What? I ain't even talked to that boy for ten minutes. I ain't had a ten-minute conversation with him." So I made it a point to make sure that we had—not only did we talk that night—but we talked for 45 minutes about everything. After we talked, I felt that it was okay to drop my guard and be unprotected with you and tell you things. We like to not be vulnerable, especially as elected people, because when you think vulnerability, it puts you at risk. But having that safe space with you allows that opportunity to be vulnerable. It also has allowed us to share things that have made us laugh and made us cry. Senator Baxley is talking about your relationship with your father. I remember you having him here in Tallahassee and the way you protected him. You were always a daddy's girl. Even when your mom was not there when your dad was, you coveted that relationship that you had with your mother. As a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Incorporated, you have embodied that passion and that persistence. Just the things that you've done—you can see from your offspring that you've raised. You can tell how good a person is by their parents and their children. That just shows you and us what a good person you are. In this process, the truth is, sometimes we need to learn how to be Senators. A lot of us came from the House, and some of us came from other walks of life. There's that phrase—walks of life, Diaz. Being in the Senate with you being here before us, and knowing how the Senate works, you have taught us how to be Senators, and you continue to teach us how to be Senators. We can disagree without being disagreeable. We've talked about policy and not the person, issues and not the individuals, and you continue to teach us that and show us that. We can have a disagreement whether we are disagreeing amongst us as Democrats or amongst different parties. But when we walk away from that, I've never seen you hold a grudge or dislike anybody. There are people who have disrespected you. We don't even know where they are anymore, but you still don't hate them. I'm just saying. Disrespect Senator Gibson, you'll come here one day and your name will be on the desk, but when you come back, your name will be blank. We've seen it happen before. I'm just so proud to call you my friend. I'm not going to prolong this. I'm just proud to have you here and proud to have you for the next few days. I'll be truthful with the rest of the chamber. Sometimes when I'm unmoved, that's because I already know I've talked to Senator Gibson, and she's backed me up already. So, I know at least one person has got my back. That's why my mind is not changing because you have instilled that in me. I'm proud to call you a friend. I'm proud to have had you as our Leader. I'm proud to serve with you. I know when you leave this chamber, you're never going to stop rocking this world. You have been awesome. You've been amazing, and you're going to continue to do that. I love you; my daughter loves you; my wife loves you. You are Auntie Audrey, Auntie Gibson. We're thankful to have you. Let's make the rest of these days count. We appreciate you.

Senator Stargel: I had the pleasure of meeting Senator Gibson, Representative Gibson, when my husband was in the House, and we were on a trip in Taiwan. We didn't come off to a really good start back then. They gave all the ladies an inexpensive little scarf—not a gift ban. They had all these little bags with little scarves. I saw the bags there, and I picked out what I thought was the prettiest scarf. We were on a boat. It was pretty, and I picked my favorite scarf. Come to find out, when we were on that boat, on the top of the boat was this Captain's thing where you could see what was going on in all the rooms of the boat. Audrey was up at the top and saw me pick a scarf in a bag that actually had her name on it, but it was a prettier scarf than what was in the bag with my name on it. So, I just switched the names. No one is going to know, right? So she comes out and she's like, "So you didn't like your scarf?" I was like, great, okay. Well that's no big deal. I don't need to see this woman again anyhow since she doesn't like me. So, Tom Lee and I get elected, and we go into the Judiciary Committee. Senator Gibson and I were the only two non-attorneys on the Judiciary Committee in the House with Daubert vs. Frye and bad faith. I didn't even know what Daubert was. I thought that was the guy from Harry Potter or something. I'm not going to ask any questions; I'm nervous; I just got elected. I don't even like to speak in public. She's like, "If you don't know, you need to ask!" She and I were back and forth constantly on those committees asking questions. You don't know if you don't ask. That's how you get information. I know sometimes we're in committee and we have 60 bills on the agenda, and we're sitting there and Audrey's asking questions. But I will tell you this: She's asking the question because she wants to know the answer. She's not asking the question to be difficult or to drag out the meeting or to be a pain. She's asking because she wants to know the answer; because she wants to make a decision based on what that answer is, which is awesome. Another thing I'd like to say is about the wisdom of Senator Gibson—she would always give nuggets of advice. Of course in your family, the daughter, granddaughter, and son—you've probably gotten advice all your life. You've only been subjected or had the opportunity to have advice for a while. I remember a while back, we were coming down the steps after a thing for Senator Joyner at the Old Capitol, and I was walking down and I'm holding on. This was like five years ago. She goes, "You need to let go of that rail; you need to pull back them shoulders and stand up straight. You'll be hugging that rail for the rest of your life." I thought, here I am. Why am I holding onto the rail? I can walk down these steps. It's those kinds of little things though—things you hear from your mom or your grandma. When she's here, she's not afraid to say things to any of us. She doesn't have a problem telling us when we need to do something this way or that way. It's because she cares. I know Senator Bean said he's proud of you. I hope when you go to leave this process, you're proud of what you've helped me be.

Senator Farmer: You know, everything that's been said is so true, Leader Gibson—longest serving member of the Florida Senate. Somehow, I don't know how you figured out how to get those extra years in, but you have made them so worthwhile. Senator Jones used the word that I was going to use: conscience. You have really been a conscience for this body and for our caucus for so long—and your attention to detail, as Senator Stargel was just talking about. We've all been there. If you've been presenting a bill and Senator Gibson's got some questions, she digs in. Senator Jones said earlier, "We're not going to do that," and that goes along with "the look." You know "the look." When she sees something, she says, "We're not doing that." So, thank you for your conscience. Thank you for your attention to detail. There's an old saying that a leader is one who knows the way, goes the way, and shows the way. You have done those three things for many, many years in this body and in the House of Representatives. You have been such a great public servant to the people of Jacksonville and the people of the State of Florida. Thank you, Leader Gibson, for all you have done.

Senator Burgess: I learned, you know, relative to everybody else's relationships in this process, obviously, I have not had nearly the pleasure of knowing you as long as so many have. And that will be my biggest regret upon your exit from this chamber, but I can't wait to continue that friendship going forward. You need to know the lasting impressions you've left on a newbie like me and not just the folks you've served with for years. You know, I learned very early on to start asking a question when I'm preparing for a bill, and it was "WWAA? What will Audrey ask?" I'm being serious! Because you have an incredible way of keeping us honest. Our relationship, I believe, was forged through the fires of some of the special bills that I filed in the last two years. I appreciate you so very much. You may not know this—back to the pride thing that Senator Powell was talking about. You don't tend to want to admit this, but there've been moments where, internally, I'm having a crisis wondering if I understood what I'm actually saying, or you know, if I'm right. So you cause us to be honest. You help us to be in check. You are truly a conscience. You're one heck of a Vice Chair, and I've really enjoyed us teaming up on Judiciary. Your spirit is contagious, and I appreciate your laughter and your smile so much. You have a maternal presence in this process, and I mean that in the best of ways. There's nothing better than that, right? So I've looked up to you from the day that I met you, and I'm going to be missing the heck out of you here next year if we're fortunate enough to be back.

Senator Mayfield: There's some things about Audrey that I just wanted to share with her. You go by many names—Leader Gibson, Senator Gibson, Mimi—that's your favorite. We've talked about that, Momma Bear. Don't ever make Momma Bear mad because that's it; you're done with. I love you dearly, girlfriend. I can't do it the way Audrey does it, but if she disagrees with you, she'll come right up to you and say, "Well let me tell you something, girlfriend." That's another one she said quite a bit to me. I learned a lot from that. I really want people to reflect back on the video. You know those videos mean a lot, and it tells a lot about a person. The video and the pictures that you picked out are your community. You were at so many events in giving. That is what we're about as Senators and elected officials. People in our community vote for us so we should be coming back up here doing what the community wants done. Then, when we go back home—which a lot of people think we go back home—we're out. We don't do anything else until we come back to committee. But that's not true. A good Senator or Representative is out in their community, and they're doing food banks, going to the hospitals, and going to various events so we know what your needs are. Because we can't help our people if we don't know what their needs are. And we don't know what their needs are until we're out there in the community asking. So, the video was such a reflection on you as a person. Your family should be so proud of you, as a Mimi, as a daughter, as a mother, and in just so many things that you have done in this process and at home. I know she's going to get to come home and spend some more time with the family. But I can guarantee you, she's not going to be sitting at the house waiting to see what you guys are going to be doing. She will be out there making things happen. We're going to miss you greatly.

Senator Ausley: We have been at this a long time, Senator Gibson. You came in 2002 and some of us—Senators Baxley, Bean, and Harrell—were in our second year. Soon after that, just like Senator Baxley was there for you, you were there for me when my son was born. Like so many of you, in 2003, you became part of our family. You all became the support that I needed. I remember standing in the back with Desmond Tutu praying with us for my son who, at that point, was in the NICU fighting for his life. Those are emblazoned in my memory, and we have had so many of those times together. But just like everyone here has said, I watched you grow from that freshman into a leader in the House, a leader in the Senate. And as I came to the Senate, you taught me how to be a Senator, and I'm forever grateful for your friendship.

Senator Taddeo: I guess you can tell how much someone's loved by the number of us who are standing up to talk about you. It is not lost on me that I'm here because of a horrible incident you had, of all the beautiful times you had here. I took that very seriously as a responsibility, and you have been a mentor, a friend, and actually, you helped me get here. She came with Senator Thurston and knocked on doors, although he didn't knock on as many. We went to churches—did all the things. Then I get here and, lo and behold, other things are going on, and we end up with a leadership race or a decision as a caucus. I was proud that I was one of the ones that said, "Has to be Audrey." I really felt that it was important for us to have a female voice—a strong female voice. The more that I've served with you and gotten to know you makes me proud to call you a friend and a fellow margarita-liker. I just know that you have made me a better Senator, and you have made me a better person. You are an amazing public servant. The State of Florida is better off because you have served this state so well. Congratulations. You should be proud and your family as well.

Senator Stewart: I'm going to bring up an incident that happened the first week. I was proud to come to the Senate. We were doing orientation on the floor here, and telling us I think, the difference between a Senator and a House member—not sure, but it seemed like that was the direction we were going in. I bought what I thought was the most beautiful outfit you've ever seen so I could come and make a big impression here. I sat through that whole orientation, and when it was over, Senator Gibson called me aside and had me go to one of these rooms back here. She said, "You can't wear that outfit again; it looks like pajamas." I said, "Do you know how much money I paid for this outfit?" I'm like, well this is interesting. I guess I must call in advance and let people see what I'm wearing before I come down to the Senate floor. She's never contradicted or criticized any other outfit, but I have never worn that outfit again. It's in my closet. Yeah, she does have influence in many ways. I do serve with her on many committees, and I'm just always amazed at how much paper she brings to the committee. It stacks up rather high and is at least one tree. I'm not sure, but it's a lot. I think she reads every one of them while she's there in committee. But she's got it all planned—the questions she wants to ask. She wants to understand better the amendments that people are bringing forward. I don't blame her because I don't understand some of them either. I have never seen someone who works so hard to make the best impression and to make sense of things for the general public. Because we all know the general public is listening to us. Even though we may know what we're talking about, they may not. So it's always good to have these questions broken down. You have been a wonderful, wonderful role model for every one of us and a very good example for fashion. We're going to miss you.

Senator Book: I hate these days a lot. We've been talking a lot about this. I hate them very much. I don't like talking about any of this because it feels like somebody is just no longer going to be in our lives. But we know this is a "See you soon." In thinking about them, you have these formative moments in this process. You bank them because you know this day is coming, right, because of term limits and all these things. So, this morning I was getting ready, and I was thinking about those moments. It's funny because we all have our own Leader Gibson face moments, or when she says, "We're not going to do that." I feel like I have a special relationship with Leader Gibson because I'm like her little sister, and she wants me to be tough. I remember post-Parkland, we were in that committee—it was Rules. There were a lot of people in that room, and it was very heated. There was a lot of screaming that day, and I lost it. You came over to me and you said, "Let's go!" We went to the back, and you helped me stay calm. You help all of us at any given time navigate a process that can sometimes accelerate very, very quickly. You are the conscience here. You are the one who—it's like a look over the glasses. "We are not going to do that!" I appreciate you. You have taught me a tremendous amount. It's surreal to be standing here today for Senator Gibson's farewell recognition because four short years ago, I remember standing in this chamber to second her nomination as our Democratic Leader. As I said then and will say again, because it bears repeating—even before becoming a member, Senator Gibson was someone I looked up to greatly. She's a fierce advocate who has broken barrier after barrier and paved the way for many of us here today. She's a mother, a woman, a proud member of the Black Caucus, and one of the best leaders our caucus has ever had. She's shown women like me, and those who aspire to be in our shoes one day, that we not only belong here in the Florida Senate but we can lead. We don't have to change who and what we are to do so. Senator Gibson has been an unforgettable force in this chamber since 2011, serving eight years in the House prior to that. Even before she was elected, Senator Gibson was leading a life of service—from her early work in the District Attorney's Office to directing constituent services for a congressional office in Compton, and the good she did and still does with her fellow Deltas. The spirit of service is something Senator Gibson learned from her parents. The Senator's late mother, Lois, was a legendary nursing teacher in Jacksonville who dedicated 40 years of her life to the nursing profession. She went on to direct nursing and then became Dean of Health Services at Florida State College at Jacksonville. Her father, Mr. Ernest Gibson, who passed away last year, served our country in Japan as a member of the United States Army. Mr. Gibson was a member of the Tuskegee University Athletic Hall of Fame and served in several administrative roles in various Jacksonville schools. With his own tools, he would “adopt-a-dorm” so he could make repairs to on-campus housing. He also continued his service on the Board of Directors of the Johnson Branch of the YMCA. The Gibson family has a well-earned legacy in Jacksonville, paving the way for others to succeed.

Senator Gibson, as we honor your final moments in this chamber, my hope is to celebrate you and your family’s legacy. In 2016, Florida State College at Jacksonville dedicated the “Lois D. Gibson Building” in the nursing college. But we knew that Mr. Ernest Gibson’s legacy deserved to be memorialized too. That’s why staff worked with Jacksonville City Council member Brenda Priestly Jackson to rename Senator Gibson’s childhood street to honor her incredible father, Ernest. Senator Gibson’s family made this street their home for nearly 50 years. It’s where she found her passion to serve. The Gibson family has been a pillar of the Jacksonville community for a lifetime. We want to honor them for their commitment to making the lives of everyday people better. Senator Gibson, it’s clear that you carry your father’s passion into this chamber. You’re a dedicated community leader, friend, and an all-around phenomenal woman. This chamber will miss you. Your legacy and the legacy of the Gibson family will always be remembered and carried in our hearts. I want to thank City Councilwoman Brenda Priestly Jackson for helping us bestow this honor on the Gibson family. Thank you again to one of our heroes, Senator Audrey Gibson, for sharing your knowledge and passion with us all. We love you.

Senator Passidomo: Taylor, you must know how cool your Mimi is. You know her so differently than we do. I hope today you’ve learned a little bit about her, because I hope that maybe 20 years from now you’ll be sitting in that seat. Leader Gibson and I were co-leaders at the same time, and there’s no book on how to be a Majority Leader. It’s learning from your predecessor or from your Leader from the other side. One thing I do want to say that was so critical to me—and you all don’t know this because Audrey is quiet and steady—sometimes in Committee meetings when things get heated and there are issues and the Rules Chair is not available, everyone is looking at me, the Majority Leader, about what to do. I had this obviously blank look on my face and this happened so many times. All of a sudden there would be a little sound behind me and a tap on the shoulder. It was Audrey, and she did exactly what she did to Leader Book. “Come here.” And she’d pull me to the back and say, “This is what you need to do.” She did this notwithstanding the fact that it was kind of their side and our side kind of issue. She cares so deeply about the Senate and how we appear and how we pass legislation, that she will do anything to help all of us. Every single one of us has had the opportunity to have Audrey Gibson whisper in our ear and say, “Maybe you want to do this rather than that.” And for that, I will be eternally grateful because you’ve made my job much easier and because of that, you’ve made the Senate a better place. We are going to miss you. We’re going to miss your preparedness. People say I read all the bills. I don’t read them as much as you do, I can tell, because my notes are a lot shorter. I think that’s a lesson to all of us. Your preparedness has been a real gem that we’re going to miss. So Audrey, I wish you so much luck. Taylor, you’re going to have Mimi back, and she can do a lot more cooking for you, and you can learn from her. Her experience is going to give you some tremendous, tremendous background for your future. Thank you so much, Audrey. Love you.

Senator Gibson: To my waymaker, miracle worker, promise keeper, light in the darkness, my God, thank you. To you, Mr. President, thank you for your leadership, for letting me burn your door down, and for listening—even when Kathy came in to tell me my time was up, and I kept talking, and you kept listening.

Thank you to my family of cheerleaders: my daughter, Kwanzaa, and my Mimi daughter, Taylor; here from Texas representing my son-in-law, Robert, my Mimi son, Jalin, and Mimi daughter, Haniyah; my son, Amar from Georgia, representing his family, my daughter-in-law, Neesie, Mimi daughter, Journee, and Mimi son, Jordan; my son, Jamaal, daughter-in-law, Katie, Mimi daughters, Siena, Alice, and Violet in Palm Beach Gardens; my brother, Gerard, sister-in-law, Barbara, my niece, Rachael, and nephews, Ryan and Ridge, of Georgia. I’ve missed some birthday parties and some family travel, soon to come. Thank you to my roadies who have traveled to Orlando for the classic games, to Tallahassee for the galas, and even to NASCAR races—and surprised themselves by enjoying going. Thank you to my parents in heaven, Ernest and Lois Gibson, who supported everything I’ve ever done throughout my entire life. I lost my mom to metastatic breast cancer seven years ago, and lost my dad in August. Thank you to my staff who have always accepted my challenge to treat all persons who reached out to the office as if it were they themselves who needed assistance. Though I know I’m not the easiest person to work for, they have tried every day to keep up with all the things I’ve wanted to continuously do for people in general—and for my constituents, who I want to thank for allowing me to be their Senator. Finally, thank you to those of my friends in the advocacy corps who have been more than transactional, my slide-on sisters, Lola, Violeta, Elisky, my confidant, and many more. You know who you are, but I don’t want to name names to protect the innocent.

In case you haven’t noticed, I am an introvert with extrovert tendencies. Growing up, I was an avid reader. Thank goodness, because I’ve read enough bill analyses to fill a few libraries, and I thank all of the hard-working committee staff. The analyses have helped me formulate my many questions I have asked over the years. On the not so great side, I have probably killed more trees than you can shake a branch at. Sorry about that, environmentalists, but I have to write my notes, highlight, circle, and put sticky notes on the pages.

In college, I developed an affinity for the line in Shakespeare, “To thine own self be true” in honesty and commitment, because in my mind, if one cannot be true to oneself, it is impossible to be true to much else. I was also a fan of author Ralph Waldo Emerson and his transcendental writing on self-reliance. It is my readings, my exposure to so many different types of activities and organizations and people from all walks of life, that has made me intentional about building relationships and bridges regardless of party. It’s why I had the bodacious audacity to ask Senator Gruters to amend some task force language on a bill he had a couple of years ago. Hopefully, it doesn’t ruin either of our reputations, so don’t tell anybody. Being intentional about building relationships is why I can vote my button “no” and vote Senator Perry’s button “yes” even though I really want to vote it “no.” It’s why I can call Senator Manny Diaz to ask him about St. Thomas University, discover it is his alma mater, and then connect him with my daughter so she can get some information to help my grandson with his final decision to attend. It’s why I see each of you, my colleagues, as valued whether we agree in principle or not. And it’s why I can turn the page to the next chapter with excited anticipation!

SPECIAL GUESTS

The President recognized former Senators Chris Smith, Geraldine Thompson, and Perry Thurston who were present in the chamber.

President Simpson: Leader Gibson, it was pretty tough when Aaron Bean talked about your hair. I thought that was a little rude. That’s number one. I thought when Senator Rouson talked about your stool at the Governor’s Club—I thought that was kind of rude also. I thought they were meddling a little bit in our business. It was kind of amazing. So Senator Gibson, if you’re running around the state trying to raise money to defeat the Democrats and you find yourself in Jacksonville, you don’t expect Leader Gibson to always call you. I had been there no less than three times in a year, in a three to four month period, and I’d get a phone call from Leader Gibson. “What are you doing in Jacksonville?” Wait a second. Then I’m thinking maybe she’s got my phone bugged or tapped or something. But nothing happens in her town that she doesn’t know, and I can attest to that because she called me out several times to get out of her town if we’re going to be raising money there. It was all in good fun. One thing that I almost did this last week, actually—I can’t do this at any time because I didn’t think it’d really be appropriate—but I was going to come to the budget committee and, in Leader Gibson’s case, if you know to say Gibson or Simpson, they sound a lot alike if you’re not paying attention. There have been multiple times during contentious bills when you’re talking to one of your colleagues about something and you hear the roll call going on. “Yes, here yes!” And Leader Gibson would be like, “I was down on that, quit voting for me.” That was one of my favorite times because it was one of those moments where Audrey would be like, “What are you doing?” and I’d be like, “Well, I missed it.” What I said and several Senators said this—the questioning that Senator Gibson does is genuine questioning. It is never about, “Hey, why don’t we run out that clock.” We’re Senators; we don’t do that. Senator Gibson doesn’t do that. She’s been a great leader amongst leaders. I’ve always appreciated your counsel. And yes you did, several times, when we said, “Time’s up,” we stayed and talked for ten minutes anyways. I get accused of that all the time, but whatever.

Leader Gibson, it was a pleasure serving with you. I always said, “Hey, we came in together.” We did not come in together. It looked like it in that picture where we’re all raising our right hands. She was here earlier. So out of all of us, Leader Gibson got 11 years. Think about that for a second—11 years. The rest of us that came in that senior class have 10 years. We’re going to miss you. I know you’re going to call me out when I come to Jacksonville in a few months. It’s been a pleasure serving with you, and thank you for being a great leader.
