REMARKS

On motion by Senator Mayfield, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks by Senator Broxson were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Broxson: That song that we played was not a random selection. It was something that 33 years ago was a dividing point in my life—when I was going through a very, very low part of my life—and God reminded me that things would be all right.

It's amazing what people will say before the appropriations comes out. And, by the way, I noted the ones that said nothing. I'm going to go ahead and make the announcement. The number one question, when you're terming out—and I'll guarantee you everyone here will say the same thing—"What are you going to do when you leave?" Well, I've decided that in 2032, I'll be 83 years old, and I'm going to run for the President of the United States. I want to give kind of a disclaimer—95 percent of what I'm going to say is true because some of it's dated, and you'll understand that as we go through.

I've never really liked farewell speeches—sometimes I wanted to leave, sometimes I wanted to get under my desk, sometimes they were too long, and sometimes they were too short. I heard a farewell speech in the House that was one paragraph: "You can have this place—I'm going home. Have a good day." That was someone from St. Pete.

Don't be nervous when I stop because I'm going to tell you the reason I do that in just a minute. Someone asked me one time why I don't speak more on the floor, and I'm going to be very transparent with you. It's funny, but it's true that until age eleven, I was severely tongue-tied. I was so much tongue-tied that my teachers misinterpreted it for being a special needs person. Maybe they didn't misinterpret it, but I had not only a speech impediment but I had at least two of the four "Ds." You may not know what they are but they're Dyslexia, Dysgraphia, Dyscalculia—which is math—and one more I can't remember. What happens, especially to a lot of young people—all of these conditions can be outgrown. Senators Pizzo and Grall, when they get up and speak, their knowledge flows straight to their voice. To me, that is a phenomenon that I see with people that have great ability when they speak. I never had that ability—it's all pretty much of a process I have to go through. In fact, when I was in the 5th grade, my mother did not know that I was in a special class, and we had a little skit that the school put on. I invited her, and she came and saw people that really did not look like me or act like me, and she was totally outraged. She ran to the stage, grabbed me and took me home. She said, "Never get up there again." That was my mother. You'd have to know her—she had me when she was 46, and I was the last of eleven children. She was an incredible woman, but she was very protective of her children. The reason I won't speak is I'm afraid I'm going to have a relapse and go into my tongue-tied condition at some point, which hasn't happened yet and hopefully doesn't happen today.

When I was in the House, I was an older member, and I really didn't understand the process, but I'd made a pledge that I would not make a commitment to a House speakership until I had seen them perform for a year. That was very difficult—what happened—because you don't do that, especially if you have powerful people in your district. It was really something that followed me all the way into two years in the Senate before I got a chairmanship. I think President Galvano is listening today, and he's the first one—my third year in the Senate—to honor me with being chairman. One thing that helped was that I had a $600,000 fundraiser at my house back in the district. Hopefully, it was part of the basic trust. Then, two years later, President Simpson made me the Chair of Appropriations Subcommittee on Education.

I had an uncle that served in the House in 1858. His name was Clark Broxson, and I went back and looked at his record. He voted for the wrong leader fifteen straight times. That was my uncle. When I was very young, I worked for my brother, Senator John Broxson, who was here in the 60s.

I'm going to tell you two or three stories, and I'm going to give you a choice whether I tell you the last one. I know this is a long process. I really feel bad for you that are captured and you need to be some place, but this is a very selfish part of our process. It's all about me today. I worked as a messenger, and this is the truth—a messenger and a page back then was much different. It was family members that came over. They brought their kids or their relatives, and they worked the entire session, and they paid us. I got paid as a messenger. Every messenger dressed in a white shirt and a black pair of pants. One day, they asked me to take a message to the Governor's Office. When I got to the point where the Senate and the House divide, in the foyer was 300 kids getting ready to get on a bus in white shirts and black pants. I went to make my way through it, and three of the coaches from Jacksonville grabbed me—in fact, I still have my shirt that they tore off—tore off my shirt and said, "Son, get on that bus—you're going to Jacksonville." It took a while, but I finally convinced them. Senator Davis, there was a very good chance I could be sitting in your seat as a Senator from Jacksonville if I had not escaped. That is a true story.

I'll tell you a story that I've told many in here—they've asked me to tell it today. I always wanted to be a pitcher. I played all three sports in high school and, as Chair Hooper said, my wife allowed me for 14 years to travel the country. I was the only member of our team that was not divorced. It speaks to her patience with me because I should not have spent 18 weeks, for 14 years, playing softball, but I loved it. It was good. I always had a great pitching arm, but I was not allowed to pitch. I could throw in the mid-90s but my high school coach was fearful that I would hurt someone because I absolutely had no control.

Thank you, Chair Leek and Alex Andrade, for being here. God bless you, Thad Altman. Thank you sir. Sheriff Bob Johnson is here, and D.C. Reeves is here from Pensacola. He's the Mayor.

My junior year in college, I was out throwing in the gym in Springfield, Missouri. I was throwing some pitches to the catcher. Of course, I was no place—they were all over the place—they were up around the goal or through the backstop or whatever. Someone set a mannequin up like a batter, and I found if I threw at that mannequin and threw a little bit to the left, I could throw a strike. I couldn't throw to the catcher but because I had this condition. I would throw at the batter, move over, and I would throw a strike. I could throw strike after strike, left-handed, right-handed, didn't matter. We were playing a team in North Missouri. I was having a phenomenal game except they had just let the football team come—the best players would be on the baseball team. They had a six foot five, 240-pound giant of a man that wanted to look at some pitches. He didn't know my system. So, what he did—if you've played baseball—there are people that lean over the plate. The first time up, he leaned over the plate, and I hit the back of the head. Still pitching great for the whole game. Second time up, hit him in the back of the head again. He kind of waved his bat at me. Why I was allowed to stay in the game—only because I was throwing strikes to everyone else. The third time up, I hit him in the back of the head again. He ran me out in the outfield with his bat. For whatever reason, the umpire let me stay in the game. He was on first base, he got off too far, I made a pick-off move. I hit him in the back of the head again. Frankly, I graduated a long time ago, but I do not know why I'm not in the Hall of Fame because no one will ever do that again. They escorted me—the police came—there was kind of a riot on the field. They put me in the bus. I sat there for three hours because that was the first game of a doubleheader. That actually happened.

That same year, and I remember the date—December 9, 1970—I was studying for my finals and I went to an all-night truck stop on I-44. I'm sitting there, and a gentleman came in there with his wife, and it was Muhammad Ali. Muhammad Ali spent an hour with me—the nicest gentleman I've ever met. I have one of his gloves. I did make a little bit of a mistake. You have to remember I went to a fundamental Christian Church. I asked him to speak in Chapel the next day. I don't know if that makes any sense to you, but he was not a Christian.

This has nothing to do with anything, but someone asked me to tell my snake story. Would you like to hear my snake story? I had been invited to play in a shotgun tournament in South Florida. I was a fairly good golfer. I wasn't great—I had a 6 to 8 handicap. Anyone that played that, I'd have to sign an affidavit to prove that fact because they've seen me play lately. We were playing—four of us. We came to a Par 3, and I hit my shot. I was first on the card. It was a narrow place between two bodies of water. There was a python laying across the path. My brother raised snakes, loved snakes, and they lived in the house. I did not like snakes. I decided that I would take my rake, get that snake, and sweep it off into the water. I went up to it, had my shorts on, and I put that rake on top of the snake's head. Instantly, it became activated. It wrapped around my leg, and I could not get it off my leg. If you ever try to put a rake on top of a snake, and they use leverage to get off of it—that head is coming off. So, I had to go down and grab that snake by the head and work it off my leg. As I did, it came up my shoulder and around close to my neck. I was terrified. I admit it. I finally got him off, threw him in the water—instantly, he came back up. I got in my cart and left. The problem that I did not know would happen is that they had a big banquet with phenomenal food. I'm standing there, and this guy says, “Did you hear about that idiot over on Number 10 that got tangled up with a python?” Unfortunately, that was me, and I got in my car and left.

I want to mention Sergeant Kelly. I intentionally have not called out many names because it always offended me—like Senator Powell, when he was giving his farewell, did not mention my name. I have been fascinated with your people. I’ve asked to see an application of what they have to fill out. The first question goes like this and I haven’t seen it—“Can you carry a gun? Would you be willing to shoot somebody if they attacked a member or staff?” Now that we’ve got that out of the way, “Can you fix a toilet? Can you paint? Can you move furniture? Are you a chauffeur?” You have the most talented staff in the history of mankind. I thank you.

The other is for you Democrats. We have a nice breakfast and a nice lunch every day; we have two phenomenal people there that serve. They’re in there grieving now because Senator Baxley and I are there most every morning at seven. In fact, we were not there one morning, and they called 911 to see if we’d had an accident.

I do want to talk about a few of the members if you don’t mind, especially in my outgoing class. I want to talk about Senator Baxley. I don’t know if you know Senator Baxley well, but he is a phenomenal articulator—he can articulate for a while. In fact, I tell this story, which fits into my 95 percent true story. We came to Tallahassee early, and I always turn the TV on. I’ll turn on Netflix, and I’ll get a position to watch it. Senator Baxley has no interest in TV by the way, but he’ll sit somewhere in front of me, and he will start a subject. He will continue to talk, and before he finished with his subject, we watched six episodes of Downton Abbey. He’s a great roommate. He carries a real load for me.

Senator Mayfield, I don’t think people know that you were a banker. You took care of your three boys, and you did incredible things at home until your husband Stan died. You stepped in and ran for that position. I don’t know if Stan in Heaven is proud of you or jealous of how well you’ve done because you have done extremely well.

Senator Hutson, if I had the resources, I would rent a blimp and I would put your name on the side of it. I would run it over Jacksonville over and over saying, “This is the bravest Senator that carries the toughest issues of any Senator that we have.” Every one of these members that are on Appropriations should stand up and give you a standing ovation because you saved them hundreds of hours of committee time. Thank you for doing that.

Senator Perry, most people know you’re a phenomenal businessman, and you have a great roofing company. What they don’t know is what it took to get there. They don’t know the journey that you had to go through, your personal story, which I love. It is a great story that should be printed, but they don’t know the hours that you’d spend by yourself up on a hot roof, making a living for your family. You’re doing well now. You’re sitting in a nice cool room, but you worked your butt off to get where you are. I thank you sir, for your service. You’re a great Senator.

Senator Stewart, I don’t know of anyone in this building that does not love you. You represent one of the most populated, one of the largest cities, and people there love you. I know they’re asking you to run for another office now. It’s because of who you are. You are just absolutely a delight to be around, and you’re always saying something good. Thank you for your service.

Senator Book, what a great story you have. You have championed more things to do with people that go through struggles than any member in this chamber, and you do it every year. You never change, you never grow into a different silo, you stay in the same silo. I thank you for what you’ve done for the children and the women who have been mistreated in South Florida. God bless what you do.

Senator Torres, did you know that the mayor of New York was a transit cop and a state Senator? Did you know that? Yes sir. Where would you like to be the mayor?

I have to say something about the three leaders who are going to come here after me. Leadership does something; it either makes you frazzled or it brings together your talents. Senator Albritton, I know where your heart is. I know you’re a generational Floridian, your family has generated its income and its resources from the earth. Your main goal, I know, is to protect the state—both water and agricultural—and bring back the citrus industry. Thank you, sir, for your steadfastness in doing that. God bless.

My good friend, Senator Boyd. I don’t know if you know this, but Senator Boyd has a phenomenal business in insurance on the West Coast, but he missed his calling. He could have been a household word around the world because he is a natural comedian. I have never met anyone quicker at humor than you are. You are a gift, and it is always an honor and a pleasure just being in your presence.

Senator Trumbull, what a great family you represent. I know your dad is also named Jay. A great man and a great business. I know how hard it was to see your city destroyed, your business destroyed in many ways. For you to come back from that terrible tragedy and take Senator Gainer’s place is a credit to you and to your family. Thank you for doing that, sir.

Now I get to talk about President Passidomo. You know, in many ways we’re alike. We love family, and we hardly ever disagree on substantive issues. Your verbs, adjectives nouns, and expletives are a little bit different from mine. I like Sprite, you like old grape juice—let that sink in. We met in Organization Session in 2010, and I really did not know who you were until I saw you—as Senator Powell says—at the prayer group. There, I saw your core being, that you were kind enough to share with all of us. That’s what I think about when I think about you. I found out about her deep roots as an Italian family, and we saw so much of her father. I knew that every Sunday when she goes back, they’d go watch golf for two or three hours and just enjoy that. What you don’t know is that the Senate is reflection of an Italian family. Let me walk through that. She has a maternal closeness to the Governor; she has a son-like relationship with Andrew Mackintosh; she has a brotherly relationship with the Speaker. She loves all the Senators like children, she reads and marks up your homework or bills, and she gives you an allowance to spend on your friends.

Fifty-two years and Mary is the best thing that ever happened. I actually live with two women, two angels—married for 52 years and her mother, who will be 98, has lived with us for 10 years. They’re both just incredible—never have a bad day; never talk about anybody. Well, you’d be disgusted frankly to live around people that never make mistakes. My daughter, Julie—I told her I was going to say that she’s Mother Teresa. She’s never met an animal or person in need that she did not invite home. Her husband, Jon, is a phenomenal person. My son, Jason, kind of my clone if you look at him—that’s the way I looked 40 years ago—Lindsay and their two kids. He did something he said he’d never do—the insurance business. Congratulations on your insurance business. Judd is, and they know this but they’re not going to like it, but he is absolutely the smartest person in our family. He has kind of a bounty. He is probably the tallest Broxson that has ever lived, six foot seven. He’s told me a couple times, if anyone ever starts a growth spurt that they will probably not exist for more than a week. Jill is unbelievable, and Tyler, and their kids. She can make you melt. You will automatically buy anything from her because she has such a gentle way about her. She’s such a special person like all of my kids.

I want to mention Jimmy Eddins who’s watching—the greatest businessman I’ve ever been around. I merged my agency with his, and he treated me with such dignity and taught me more about business and how to treat people. He is a superstar, and I’m sorry he couldn’t be here today, but he has COVID.

I’m wrapping up, Madam President, but I’m going to tell you a story that’s really—I hope I can get through it. My dad is on a monument down here on the plaza, Sheriff. My dad, my mom, and my brother were sheriffs in the same county. Sheriff Johnson was here. Sheriff Johnson, God bless you. He is responsible for being there and in Washington. My dad was a sheriff, and he was killed in action. He was killed by a drunk driver on Christmas Day when I was 10 years old. I said my dad should’ve been home, it should’ve been Santa Claus coming rather than the preacher. I resented that I lost my dad. I really said to myself I would never, never be in politics.

My dad was very important to all of his 11 children, and I said I’d never be in politics, but I got this impression that I wanted to run for the House; I don’t know where it came from. I think Pastor Evans says it’s a mental disease to run for office, and I believe that. I said I’m not going to do that unless I have a clear sign. Has anybody ever gotten a sign? I said I will do this—I'll go pre-qualify, and look at it. I got a call from a community in North Escambia County, and they asked me to come. I don't know how they knew I was running, but they asked me to come and say a few words. When I got there, there was a line of men, and I walked directly to the closest point. I never shook anyone's hand as a politician but this guy, he turned around and I said, "I'm Doug Broxson." He said, "I'm Trevor Lowry." The first person I ever met as a politician. I said, "Trevor Lowry," and he said, "Yeah." He said, "Doug Broxson." I said, "Was your dad a deputy for my dad 60 years ago? Was your dad Bark Broxson?" "Yeah." I could not believe it; his dad was a passenger in the patrol car the very time my dad was killed. He was the last guy to speak to my father as a politician, and his son was the first guy to speak to me as a politician. Instantly, I knew I had to do it.

When you're terming out, you have to start it like turning 50. You know, you grieve at 49. Corrie ten Boom, a Holocaust survivor, was a great author. She wrote this, and I've been doing this over the last year. The quote says, "I have learned to hold all things slightly, so God will not have to pry them out of my hands." This is the process we go through—to let things slip through our hands, go into a different part of our life, and remember what great people we serve with. God bless your friendship.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Senior Rabbi Alan Litwak, Temple Sinai of North Dade, North Miami Beach:

Senator Passidomo, Majority Leader Albritton, as a personal point of privilege, my friend and congregant, Senate Minority Leader Book, and esteemed leaders, thank you for the honor of being with you this morning, particularly as we celebrate Florida’s relationship with the state and the people of Israel. I hope that the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart will be acceptable not only to the Holy One, but will serve as a guiding force as you begin today’s deliberations.

Holy One of blessing, you who are encountered in many ways and called by many names, we thank you for the opportunity to assemble today. We thank you for the freedoms that we enjoy in this great country. We thank you for the nourishment and good health that you have provided which allows us to do our sacred work. We pray for the esteemed public servants who hold positions of leadership and responsibility in this state. Let your blessing rest upon them.

Within this windowless chamber, we humbly ask for your guidance, helping the members of this body to see beyond these walls and beyond themselves—imbuing them with: an acknowledgment that all our citizens are created in your image; a love of the stranger, wherever they find themselves; a desire for intellectual honesty and openness; a commitment to be examples of wisdom, of civility, and unity; and a respect for the natural world which surrounds and sustains us.

As this body deliberates, may we invoke your name only to inspire and unify our state—never to divide it. May these leaders be an example to all the institutions of this state, serving with justice and compassion those who find themselves within its borders. Holy One of blessing—be with this body and all of us, and may you continue to look favorably upon our state. Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Leah Mask of Madison; Israel Pena-Rincon of Palm Bay; and Ashlyn Riley of Wesley Chapel, led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

SENATOR BOOK PRESIDING

SB 7078—A bill to be entitled An act relating to public records and meetings; amending s. 381.915, F.S.; defining the term “proprietary business information”; providing an exemption from public records requirements for proprietary business information included in cancer research grant applications submitted to the Cancer Connect Collaborative and records generated by the collaborative relating to the review of such information; providing an exemption from public meeting requirements for portions of collaborative meetings during which such proprietary business information is discussed; requiring that the closed portions of meetings be recorded; requiring the collaborative to maintain such recordings; authorizing the disclosure of such confidential and exempt information under certain circumstances; providing for legislative review and repeal of the exemptions; providing statements of public necessity; providing a contingent effective date.

—was read the second time by title.

Senator Harrell moved the following amendment which was adopted:

Amendment 1 (412066) (with title amendment)—Delete lines 37-116 and insert:

(j)1. As used in this paragraph, the term “proprietary business information” means information that:

- a. Is owned or controlled by the applicant;
- b. Is intended to be private and is treated by the applicant as private;
- c. Has not been disclosed except as required by law or a private agreement that provides that the information will not be released to the public;
- d. Is not readily available or ascertainable through proper means from another source in the same configuration as received by the collaborative;
- e. Affects competitive interests, and the disclosure of such information would impair the competitive advantage of the applicant; and
- f. Is explicitly identified or clearly marked as proprietary business information.

2. Proprietary business information held by the department or the collaborative is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution. This exemption does not apply to information contained in final recommendations of the collaborative.

3. Portions of a meeting of the collaborative during which confidential and exempt proprietary business information is discussed are exempt from s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State Constitution. The closed portion of a meeting must be recorded, and the recording must be maintained by the collaborative. The recording is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution.

4.a. Proprietary business information made confidential and exempt under subparagraph 2. may be disclosed with the express written consent of the applicant to whom the information pertains, or the applicant's legally authorized representative, or pursuant to a court order upon a showing of good cause.

b. Recordings of those portions of exempt meetings which are made confidential and exempt under subparagraph 3. may be disclosed to the department or pursuant to a court order upon a showing of good cause.

5. This paragraph is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act in accordance with s. 119.15 and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2029, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. (1) The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that proprietary business information held by the Department of Health or the Cancer Connect Collaborative be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution. The Legislature recognizes that the public disclosure of proprietary business information could injure an applicant's business interests and research efforts and stifle scientific innovation. Maintaining confidentiality is a hallmark of scientific peer review when awarding research grants. The Legislature further finds that any public benefit derived from the disclosure of such information is significantly outweighed by the public and private harm that could result from the disclosure of such proprietary business information. Further, release of such information could impair the effective and efficient administration of the grant program.

(2) The Legislature also finds that it is a public necessity that the portions of meetings of the Cancer Connect Collaborative during which confidential and exempt proprietary business information is discussed be made exempt from s. 286.011, Florida Statutes, and s. 24(b), Article I of the State Constitution. If such portions of meetings are not closed, the public records exemption is negated. Furthermore, closing meetings during such discussions allows for candid exchanges among reviewers critiquing applications. The Legislature further finds that closing access to the portions of meetings of the collaborative during which proprietary business information of grant applications is discussed serves a public good by ensuring that decisions are based upon merit without bias or undue influence. The Legislature also finds that it is a public necessity that recordings of exempt portions of meetings be made confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and s. 24(a), Article I of the State Constitution, because release of such recordings circumvents the protections afforded by the public meeting exemption.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete line 15 and insert: collaborative to maintain such recordings; providing an exemption from public records requirements for such recordings; authorizing

On motion by Senator Mayfield, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks by Senator Book were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Book: Senator Ingoglia, I really hate term limits. Sorry about your bill, but this process has given me my whole life. This process was our whole life. When other kids got to go to Spring Break—somewhere on a beach having fun—we came to Tallahassee. We stayed at the Governor’s Inn—the old Governor’s Inn, Room 200 always—and we would be a part of this place and this process. It was so much fun. Many of you saw on the video of the kids—literally, they learned how to walk and talk here. My brother would ride on a trike, much to my dad’s chagrin, in the hallways here. We grew up. This was a place that we revered. It’s a process that I respect deeply and each and every one of you. When I experienced injustices in my own life—pain, difficulty—this is the place I came to have a voice, this is the place I came to fight, and this is the place I earned a voice. You get to pick the bill, and we’ll see that in a minute. I’m going to talk about it, but that first bill came about when my victim advocate said I needed to go get an HIV and AIDS test. I was tested and, thank God, it was negative. Some of you may or may not know, AIDS or HIV can lie dormant in your system before it shows up on a test. We petitioned the court to have the offender, who was sitting in a jail, who pled no contest to the things that happened over the course of many years, tested. The judge sat on the request. In the State of Florida at that time, you weren’t even entitled to ask for the results of an HIV test. Well, luckily, my dad was a lobbyist, and I was starting to find my voice. It was the closing days of the legislative session and, as Senator Burgess alluded to, you don’t really realize something big until you’re in the process—and something had to happen. So, it was the last two weeks of the process, and a bill was introduced—had never been heard before in committees—it was drafted, written, and passed in two weeks. At that time and now forevermore, an HIV and AIDS test and other STD tests, once asked for by the victim, or the victim’s family in the case of a minor, those results must be given. So, when I realized this place was not just a place I got to go to with my dad, I knew that I could make change, be different, and make a difference, and that I could use my voice to do so. So, when Senator Sobel termed out and an opportunity presented itself, I was over the moon excited to be a part of this body. When I sat here and finished and was crying so much, it’s because all I’ve ever wanted in my whole life, as a survivor of sexual abuse, was to be seen. If you’re seen, those things can’t happen, right? If they actually saw it, those things wouldn’t continue. For the first time sitting here, knowing that I'm going, we've done all these great things—and I'm going to talk about that—but I feel seen. Each and every one of you have been a part of making a survivor feel seen, feel heard—and you do that every day in this process. It's not me—we do this all the time. Every one of you have a piece of policy that is so deeply important to you. When I started, I was not planning to lean in to the child sexual abuse stuff because I wanted to create an identity different than that. You find these people along the way, and we have the ability to right wrongs and fight injustices every day for the 21 million people in our great state. I feel blessed every day that I get to do this job, like I know each and every one of you feel. I can't believe that this is here because they were in my stomach when this started, literally. I always knew that I would have them with me because I wanted to show my children, and I wanted to show other people that you can do it no matter what. Now don't get me wrong—it was awful. I don't advise it. I don't think it's a great idea. I came here two weeks after I had a C-section. It was not the easiest thing to do. Between committee meetings, I was doing feedings, running from place to place at that point. You're right, Senator Harrell, we had two cribs. It's now Senator Broxson's office, which we shared. It became a nursery. It had two little cribs and my little chair, and we were okay. We were scared. I was terrified. The first time I picked up the microphone, I remember crying a little bit—in my heart and in my soul—because I couldn't believe what we were doing. That beginning was hard. President Negron gave me a chance that nobody else did. Everybody thought this girl's going to go to Children and Families, that's what she does, that's what she knows. President Negron said, "I'm going to give you a challenge because I think you can handle it." He made me the Chair of the Committee on Environment and Natural Resources. I had no idea what was going to happen. I just had these kids, I was here, and we had moved up. I remember my dad looking at me one day and saying, "Don't worry, they don't let you mess this up." This process doesn't let you mess this up too much. I see Kennedy giving me a note that says, "Let's go, Mommy, let's wrap this up." We've got a few more minutes. As Chair Broxson said, you get to be a little selfish today. I had the ability to change what that chairmanship was, and I got to work with Leader Albritton, who was writing the budget for the environment on that side. I had the honor of a lifetime writing a budget for the environment. Again, I had no idea. I have a bedazzled calculator that was given to me that I very much appreciate. I got to work with Gino Betta, who is one of the best professional staff that we have. We sat to write the budget, and I remember that I was getting ready to go to these conferences that we're now in. Back in the day, they would throw these papers and be mad about the budget. I wouldn't like to go back to the way we used to be. I remember talking to Gino, and Gino was like, "I don't think that's a good idea, but we could." Chair Albritton, you did your thing, and I did my thing. It was very quick, very easy, and I thought, okay, I can handle this. You were always my friend. I know people now know how much you care about children and human trafficking. At the time, you were in the House doing the environment stuff. You have a pure heart. You are good. You challenge me to be a better orator and not curse as much. Madam President, I come by it honestly though not Italian. Sometimes, I do it just to make you crazy. I'll try not to do that now, but I appreciated that opportunity to work with you on creating a budget. I know our committee chairs are working on that now—what an awesome responsibility that is. You were always kind. I would go back and think what can I do to make him crazy? Let's take away the stamps on the oranges and make him mad, but Gino never let that happen. So then, times progressed. I grew up, and through those first couple of sessions, we all got bigger, and we all got braver. They were really tiny. I just tried my best that first couple of years. I appreciate it.

My kids grew up here. They learned how to walk here, talk here, and negotiate. I remember Hudson and Kennedy walking around with a bill folder trying to change our street name to Sesame Street and getting co-sponsors to that bill. Anyone who came to my office for meetings or worked in my office knew that it was a circus. I always said that people who came to work for me needed to handle chaos well because this was "Chaos Central." Hudson can talk to you about Robert's Rules better than anyone, which is kind of crazy. Kennedy definitely knows how a bill becomes a law and tries to pass them in our house every day. I want to say this—over the last seven years, my kids have had incredible role models in each and every one of you. Whether it's Senator Davis working with Hudson on all the things you talk about at lunch—I know there is no rake head on the game of 21 that you were playing up in the caucus office—or tying a tie this morning. My children—every day that they are here have had incredible people guiding them to the place that they are today. Even Senator DiCeglie, in the elevator, making sure that we're in a good mood and get to Dick's to buy fun things to play with. You've all given me an incredible gift—the entire chamber has. This place is bigger than us, and you are able to fight incredible wrongs and injustices to make a difference for many generations, to shape the future of Florida, and to forge friendships among our caucuses and across the aisle.

I want to point out that time that Senator Burgess is talking about. We met one day at a strip club. I know that sounds crazy, but it's true. There was a time where I had a bill, the human trafficking bill, that was alluded to by Chair Broxson. As many of you know, the bills that are hardest to pass are ones backed by lobbyists. Sorry, Ron Book. This was a human trafficking bill with hotels where people were being trafficked. As many of you also know, there are sometimes invisible walls here. You don't know why they're there, but you just know that your bill's not going anywhere. That was that bill for me. I was so upset about this bill not passing, and it died in grand display, as these things tend to sometimes do. I went to Senator Simpson at the time, and I said, "Senator Simpson, human trafficking is going on in your district." "Not in Pasco County," he said. And I said, "It is. If I go with your sheriff to Pasco, will you promise to let me do whatever I want to do in a bill?" He said, "Yes." I worked with the sheriff's office and put together a trip. We went to West Pasco County, and Amber Mariano was there with her dad and Senator Burgess and Senator Simpson. What we saw there led to a bill that passed, and I was able to do the things that I wanted to do. I think that is a piece of this process that is important—working across the aisle and never taking no. Knowing that it doesn't always happen when you want it, where you want it, how you want it the first time, is sometimes hard for me. If you put in the work, even with people that you don't think are the same as you, you will get it done. I look at Jay Collins, and I say we are the most unlikely of duos. We sit and work together on great pieces of policy because we come from honest places when it comes to adoption and making children safe. Whether it's at a strip club in West Pasco County or on the second floor—all of those things can happen. It's going that extra mile, doing the work, and earning it. It doesn't always happen the first time. Sometimes you have to do more than you think to make it happen, but it was a fun day and, I think, one that Senator Burgess and I will never ever forget.

I just had the ability to fight for the last, the least, the lost, and the forgotten. Advocating for women, for girls, for children, for families, for survivors, for firefighters, for first responders, for families, for gun safety, for children with disabilities, and so much more. I can't tell you. I'll look at the President, who was chairing Education at the time. It was Valentine's Day, and we had a horrific tragedy in our state—the Marjory Stoneman Douglas massacre. I remember walking into Senator Rader's office, and we're watching what's happening on CNN. Children are running, and backpacks are all over the place. At the time, Madam President, you were working on the bill relating to children who have been exposed to drugs—NAS [Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome] babies. I called you at 2 o'clock in the morning. You couldn't come because you had to do the work as many of us women often do here. I took President Galvano and Senator Simpson with us to Parkland to see what happened. They walked around the building. Had we not done that, had we not gone there, had we not reached across the aisle, we never would have had the public safety, the school safety that we have today. We would never have passed the types of legislation that we passed, which was hard. I look at our colleagues on my side of the aisle—it was not popular. I think there were only two Democrats that voted for that bill at the time. It was important, and I can't say that the crazy ride hasn't come with its crazy things, but being your Leader has been one of the most special things in my lifetime.

I'll never forget when I was coming into the legislature pregnant, not knowing what the heck I was doing. Oscar Braynon called and said, "I want you to be my Pro Tem." Coming in as a freshman, as a Pro Tem—not everybody was super pleased with that. Oscar took a chance on me, and I remember I just wanted to do a good job. I just wanted to make him proud. Arthenia Joyner called me, and I was sitting actually in their nursery. I was literally about to have my C-section two days later. I was panicking. If any of you ever get a phone call from Arthenia Joyner, it's the scariest thing in the entire world for those of you who know Arthenia Joyner. Arthenia said, "Lauren." I said, "Yes ma'am." "You have one job." I was like okay, "Keep these kids alive?" "No, your job is to take arrows for him. Your job is to have his back." I said, "Yes ma'am. I'll talk to you later," and we hung up. Taking arrows for all of you and defending and protecting you—we are the dirty dozen—has been the greatest gift of my life. I do feel very maternal about all of you no matter how many years younger I am than each and every one of you. You're all my chickens. I get worried all the time—sometimes I get called to the principal's office more for some of my chickens than some others. It happens all the time. Not necessarily under this presidency, but remember, I've been a Leader here for more than most. It has been the honor of a lifetime, and I hope that you all feel that I have served you well. It's all I've ever wanted to do was to make this place better.

So, now all of the people who've been around for a crazy time, I have to first start with Zoraida Druckman who has been with me since the beginning of time. Again, still pregnant, at Moe's in Aventura—I think that's where we were having lunch. I was like okay, "You want to do this?" You said, "Yes." We drive each other nuts, but I appreciate you. I love you, and I am thankful for you. Sean, thank you. You keep me straight. I know what I'm doing. I look at him and say, "What line item? What appropriation? What have we done? What are we doing?" Sometimes, he knows it better than I, and I'm thankful. For our newest addition to our world, Leisa Wiseman, thank you for making sure that when we are working on policy like lethality and domestic violence, we're trying to do what's best for Floridians. I know it's frustrating when sometimes those things don't cross the finish line, but I'm thankful for you. For all of my staff who have been here throughout the years—J.J. Piskadlo—it was rough this summer because there was no better than J.J. He worked hard, he was always here, and he will be missed. Shirley—an angel who's watching—Jeff Scala, Pat Gosney, Laura, and Diane—I know you're still up there hopefully. I am thankful to all of you because again, like I said, to work in my office, you had to deal with a lot of crazy—sometimes working in one room so that a ball pit would fit, and children were running around with things all over.

To our Democrat Caucus staff—I love you guys. It was an interesting time to come in after the Leader was not anymore the Leader. You all had my back, and I think there were a lot of scary times, at least for me. I don't know about anybody else, but I was scared a lot of those times. You have all been consummate professionals. I'll start with the first man of Tallahassee, John Toman, who always has a great Spotify song list and keeps us bopping with a poem of the day. Margaret Thomas, I always know that if there's an education thing, I could turn around and be like, "What's happening here?" She always knows. Jossie Barroso Garcia, thank you for always keeping us in line and sometimes making great GIFs and videos that make us a little more hip than we are or deserve. I appreciate you. ABM Uddin is new, but thanks for the bill the other day—it's dead so don't worry about it—the one we were talking about in Caucus. It's okay. Don't worry, ABM, we got you. Emily Bruno, who is new to the crew, but I had the ability to work with her on reproductive justice. You are awesome, you are special, and I appreciate you. Dustin Paulsen, I'm not mean, I'm just honest, and I appreciate your calm. I appreciate your demeanor and what you allow us to get done in a day. I've always thought the world of Maggie Gerson and had the ability to pull some articles of cases that she worked on where she was tough as nails. She went after the worst of the worst. Senator Pizzo talks a lot about homicides, but the cases I respect you the most for are your rape cases and the women that you've protected. When that happened, I was glad to pry you away because you have made this special. Every time that I have fought to protect these folks—these dirty dozen—I know that you have my back, and that makes it better. I don't think she liked me the first year or two that we worked together, but I knew that she would always have my back. Thanks for getting me out of jail. I appreciate that.

To my caucus, Shev Jones, you're my brother, and you'll always be my brother, in this place and out of this place. Senator Osgood, I was glad when you joined our crew, and it's been wonderful to have you. I call you my "Queen of Education." I always lean over—"What are we doing on this? How do we feel about this?" I appreciate you. I appreciate the perspective you give to our members. Always remember, it's people over policy and politics, and I appreciate that. Now we got Geraldine Thompson—I remember going to see you in your district, having breakfast, and asking you about the things that are most important to you. We talked about Black history. As I got to preside today, listening to you debating about things today, the reverence I have for you, you'll never know. I think you're special; I think that you're unique. You are a treasure here. Senator Davis, you owe me some things. You're going to be a tremendous Leader for our caucus, and I'm thankful for you. You bring a sense of humor to an otherwise tough place. Senator Stewart, I love you. Sometimes, you come into committee, you're in the wrong committee, and just I'm like, "Where are we going now?" Sometimes, I don't know where you are on policy. I have got to ask, "Where are the Republicans?" Sometimes, I know that's where we may find you. I have to tell you I love you so much. I'll never forget chairing the Environment Committee. Sometimes, when you're the Chair, you have all these folks coming to put their bills on the agenda. You want to put the bills on the agenda, but sometimes you're told you're not allowed or you shouldn't. There was a bear bill, but it was about trash cans and bears. At the time, I remember you went to the other Senator Bradley's district and drove all the way there to talk to him about the bears. I said if we have one more meeting, we'll do the bear bill. I didn't think we were going to have another meeting so I thought it was a fair, honest promise. We did because we were doing Senate Bill 10. I remember Senator Hutson did something—it wasn't something they did in the House with speaker cards—it was a little bit more innocent. He did like Yogi Bear—he didn't do this to you so you should be pleased with that—but it was all the different bear names. Senator Powell, I'm going to miss you. I already got to talk about you, but I love you. Senator Berman and Senator Polsky—these are like my little twins here. I love you both—you're like my moms here even though you say the opposite. You have taught me grace in this process. You have taught me how to be a better version of myself. Senator Berman, I was glad you were there that day. Senator Polsky, I will fight tooth and nail with you on the mat any day. I'm thankful for you. Senator Rouson, I love you. I never want to debate after Senator Rouson. He's the worst to debate after. I love the time that we spend together, but more than anything else—and I'm going to look at my brother—you, like me, carry the things that brought you to this place. I know you've got an anniversary coming up on the 17th. You talk about them, and you're honest about them. You're passionate and you're pure about them. When my family had struggles with substance abuse, you were there. You called every day and, for that, I'll always be thankful for you. Senator Pizzo, this is going to be a hard job now. I often say I'm the pitcher, you're the catcher. I knew that I needed—I'm a good cop by nature, just ask my kids—a bad cop. You are tough, and I am thankful for you because I knew when asking you to be my Pro Tem, you would not only have my back, you would have ours. Sometimes people would go, "Oh, Jason," I would go, "Yeah, but he's our Jason." Wouldn't you rather he be our Jason than their Jason? We are thankful for you. I will call you right before we're about to do this turnover in November, and say to you, "It's going to be your job to take arrows for them." I know you'll do it lovingly and willingly, so thank you. Senator Wright, you have been there—and again, the most unlikely duo—I never asked you, but you give. This is a man that couldn't get on the treadmill, but donated to Lauren's Kids. I'm thankful for you, and I appreciate you. I know that my kids are getting very irritated with me. Senator Broxson, I know I got to talk about you yesterday, but you are kind, loving, sweet, and gentle. I appreciate you. I'm not just saying that because you're the Appropriations Chair. I'm saying it because it's true. Senator Baxley, the first flowers that I ever got when my children were born were from you. This process is special, and sometimes the most unlikely duos are good pairs. Senator Boyd, I appreciated getting to sit down in your office. I am thankful for the time that you got to spend on issues that sometimes are hard for our side of the world. There were roofers in my area that were sending me things, and we got to talk through them. Senator Torres, you know, you have a pure heart, and you fight. I looked at you the other day, and I got up because somebody's chirping at one of my people. He looks at me, and he goes, "You're getting up?" Those are my people, and nobody gets to mess with our people.

Sergeant Kelly, I love you. I loved him before he came here, not in a funny way, in the most honest of ways. The Sergeant was our guy at the commission to protect children. Let me tell you something about our Sergeant. He would go and drive to every single school if they didn't fill out a survey about safety. He would walk into every single school to get answers to make sure our children and our schools were safe. That's who he is. We know what he does here—they make picture frames, they're magicians, they move furniture, they fix potties. They do all kinds of things. They are incredibly special people. You are magicians, you're the elves that make this place work, all of you, and I am thankful to you. When somebody feels like they have a tickle in their throat, there's water there. It's funny how that happens, but people don't know how this place works sometimes. It's y'all. It's guys like Patrick, who make sure that there is breakfast and there are lunches there.

I have had the awesome responsibility to have some fun staff directors—Ellen, Gino, Ryan, who are here. I've talked about how we don't often say thank you to bill drafting. They draft our amendments. I bring them cookies all the time—they need some love sometimes. They're always just like, “Are those amendments done? What’s happening?” They’re really special people.

Everyone in the gallery today who is here—Ron Book had a list that he started working on, and when you turn in a list to Ron Book, you’re all in trouble. I have some special people that are here today. I know the President called her name out—Claire VanSusteren, who’s been with me since the beginning of time. Sometimes, it’s not fun to work with me, and I know that. I appreciate you more than you’ll ever know. There’s law enforcement here, and there’s first responders here. I’m going to call you Major Chandler because that’s what you are to me, but I know that you’re bigger and better now. I had the really cool opportunity to work on a bill with Major Chandler. It’s not Major Chandler anymore, what are you? Lt. Colonel Robert Chandler is apparently better. Lt. Colonel Chandler—you will always be major to me—named the roads for every deceased state trooper in our state from the beginning of time. I saw there’s a road designation bill that you got. I see Trooper Smith, I see Commissioner Glass, I see my firefighters.

The bill that I’m going to talk about I picked as my favorite bill. Now, I haven’t talked about these couple of people yet, but I’m going to start here. I always grew up believing that my dad could do anything, like move mountains. When I got here, he said, “You can’t mess up that badly. This place won’t let you mess up that badly.” The other Senator Bradley was working on a workers’ compensation bill. It didn’t pass that year. It was tough. Workers’ compensation bills are apparently hard to pass around here. Someone came to me—actually, it was my neighbor who is a firefighter. She had gone out on a couple of really bad calls and had seen some really tough things. She needed some counseling. She needed some help. I came to find out that under workers’ compensation, you’re not entitled to PTSD coverage without a co-occurring physical injury. I am not an attorney. I had to learn about all kinds of things. I went to Senator Bradley, and I said, “Senator Bradley, what do you think about this?” He goes, “Keep it really narrowly tailored.” He knew me enough because we got to work on the environment together. My dad was like, “You’re never going to do that. You’re a freshman. You don’t know what you’re doing.” I said, “Okay, underestimate me. That’ll be fun.” We started working. We drafted a bill. I even look at my fire guys. I’m looking at Rocco, Bryan, and Bernie. I remember looking at you both and sort of saying okay this is what we’re doing. At the time, I went over and talked to the Speaker and to the President. They’re like, this is not our priority. There’s other things we have here. I was like, “That’s fine. You can continue to do what you’re going to do. I’m going to do this.” I don’t want to say you had no faith in me, but I wasn’t sure that you thought this was going to happen. I knew that this was important, and PTSD was real. Senator Torres and I had worked on it the session before and knew that this was something that was important. We did it several years later walking around the rubble of Surfside with Senator Garcia and Senator Pizzo. I knew that what we did was right. We got to work on a lot of great pieces of policy.

Senator Burgess, I appreciate you bringing up NICA [Neurological Injury Compensation Association]. What was happening at NICA was wrong, and we were able to fix it. It was your bill, and it was really tough. You are loving, kind, and graceful, and I appreciate you allowing me to work alongside you to get that right.

Diaper tax—I was co-sponsored by the President. She had to introduce the bill for me a couple of times. I was on two weeks of maternity leave I had and, finally, got that over the finish line. I’m blessed. I get to do what I do here because I have a lot of support.

Marifel Anastacio makes these kids do what they’re supposed to do. I’m thankful to my mom. Thank you for creating the best parts of me. It’s not who you guys always see—it’s the holidays, and the cooking, and the fun things. My brother, I appreciate you for allowing me to have a hand in raising you. I appreciate you. I look at you and your son and your wife, and I am thankful every day that you’re my brother. To my sister, who is watching at home, I love her very much and am sad she can’t be with us today. She’s doing the things that she needs to do, and we’re thankful for that. To Quentin, who’s watching, we love you. Ron Book, for being a pain in the butt—I know you all know that too. Maybe sometimes you guys are afraid to say it, but I am who I am because of you. To my kids, you two are the best thing that has ever happened to me in my whole wide life. You’re the closest thing I’ve ever been to God.

You really are. You’re special, you’re funny, you’re crazy, and you keep me on my toes. I know that coming here was tough. They went to school here. A lot of people don’t know we moved them, and they went to Creative Preschool. Dr. Phelps’ wife ran the school, and they went to Creative. We have had a time. I know that Mama’s missed a lot. I know I’ve missed some things like your awards last week. I know I’ve missed some tennis and baseball, but I’m back. So know that y’all are in trouble. I’m back, and I’ve missed you. As you continue to grow and understand the world around you, you’ve seen things that have worked and things that haven’t. While I may have missed a couple of things, it was because I wanted to make the world a better place, and our slice in it a better place for you and your friends. I love you both very, very much.

Madam President, I want to thank you. Working alongside you has been tough sometimes. You are an incredible president. You preside over this chamber in a way that I could never imagine. You have a lot of people at your side pulling at you. You have a lot of people on our side pulling at you. You have people outside this place pulling at you. I know you try to do the right thing for each and every one of us. When I come to you about things that are difficult or troublesome, or issues, you calm me down, explain the policy, and ways to make it better. When there are things that can’t be done, they can’t be done. When things can be done, you make them happen. I will always appreciate you for that because I know that it’s hard. I hope that I didn’t disappoint you in running the chamber today. I’ll do it anytime you’d like. Again, I want to say thank you to everyone who is here in this chamber and up in the gallery. I can’t tell you what it means to me. Commissioner Udine, thank you. Sabrina Javanella, thank you. Thank you for being a part of this. Thank you for when there was injustices for coming and using your voice. I see friends, I see family up there, and community organizations.

When I was getting ready to do this, I sat down with a bunch of different people to learn from and you have taught me. I’m thankful for that. All right, I promise I’ll turn it over now.

Section 1. Paragraph (j) of subsection (1), paragraph (j) of subsection (3), and paragraph (a) of subsection (10) of section 39.001, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.001 Purposes and intent; personnel standards and screening.—

(1) PURPOSES OF CHAPTER.—The purposes of this chapter are:

(j) To ensure that, when reunification or adoption is not possible, the child will be prepared for alternative permanency goals or placements, to include, but not be limited to, long-term foster care, independent living, custody to a relative on a permanent basis with or without legal guardianship, or custody to a foster parent or legal custodian on a permanent basis with or without legal guardianship. Permanency for a child who is transitioning from foster care to independent living includes naturally occurring, lifelong, kin-like connections between the child and a supportive adult.

(3) GENERAL PROTECTIONS FOR CHILDREN.—It is a purpose of the Legislature that the children of this state be provided with the following protections:

(j) The ability to contact their guardian ad litem or attorney ad litem, if one is appointed, by having that individual's name entered on all orders of the court.

(10) PLAN FOR COMPREHENSIVE APPROACH.—

(a) The office shall develop a state plan for the promotion of adoption, support of adoptive families, and prevention of abuse, abandonment, and neglect of children. The Department of Children and Families, the Department of Corrections, the Department of Education, the Department of Health, the Department of Juvenile Justice, the Department of Law Enforcement, the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office, and the Agency for Persons with Disabilities shall participate and fully cooperate in the development of the state plan at both the state and local levels. Furthermore, appropriate local agencies and organizations shall be provided an opportunity to participate in the development of the state plan at the local level. Appropriate local groups and organizations shall include, but not be limited to, community mental health centers; ~~circuit guardian ad litem offices programs for children under the circuit court~~; the school boards of the local school districts; the Florida local advocacy councils; community-based care lead agencies; private or public organizations or programs with recognized expertise in working with child abuse prevention programs for children and families; private or public organizations or programs with recognized expertise in working with children who are sexually abused, physically abused, emotionally abused, abandoned, or neglected and with expertise in working with the families of such children; private or public programs or organizations with expertise in maternal and infant health care; multidisciplinary Child Protection Teams; child day care centers; law enforcement agencies; and the circuit courts, ~~when guardian ad litem programs are not available in the local area~~. The state plan to be provided to the Legislature and the Governor shall include, as a minimum, the information required of the various groups in paragraph (b).

Section 2. Subsection (2) of section 39.00145, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.00145 Records concerning children.—

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, all records in a child's case record must be made available for inspection, upon request, to the child who is the subject of the case record and to the child's caregiver, guardian ad litem, or attorney ad litem, if one is appointed.

(a) A complete and accurate copy of any record in a child's case record must be provided, upon request and at no cost, to the child who is the subject of the case record and to the child's caregiver, guardian ad litem, or attorney ad litem, if one is appointed.

(b) The department shall release the information in a manner and setting that are appropriate to the age and maturity of the child and the nature of the information being released, which may include the release of information in a therapeutic setting, if appropriate. This paragraph does not deny the child access to his or her records.

(c) If a child or the child's caregiver, guardian ad litem, or attorney ad litem, if one is appointed, requests access to the child's case record, any person or entity that fails to provide any record in the case record under assertion of a claim of exemption from the public records requirements of chapter 119, or fails to provide access within a reasonable time, is subject to sanctions and penalties under s. 119.10.

(d) For the purposes of this subsection, the term "caregiver" is limited to parents, legal custodians, permanent guardians, or foster parents; employees of a residential home, institution, facility, or agency at which the child resides; and other individuals legally responsible for a child's welfare in a residential setting.

Section 3. Paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section 39.00146, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.00146 Case record face sheet.—

(2) The case record of every child under the supervision or in the custody of the department or the department's authorized agents, including community-based care lead agencies and their subcontracted providers, must include a face sheet containing relevant information about the child and his or her case, including at least all of the following:

(a) General case information, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

1. The child's name and date of birth.;
2. The current county of residence and the county of residence at the time of the referral.;
3. The reason for the referral and any family safety concerns.;
4. The personal identifying information of the parents or legal custodians who had custody of the child at the time of the referral, including name, date of birth, and county of residence.;
5. The date of removal from the home. ~~;~~
6. The name and contact information of the attorney or attorneys assigned to the case in all capacities, including the attorney or attorneys that represent the department and the parents, and the guardian ad litem, ~~if one has been appointed~~.

Section 4. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) and paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 39.0016, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.0016 Education of abused, neglected, and abandoned children; agency agreements; children having or suspected of having a disability.—

(2) AGENCY AGREEMENTS.—

(b) The department shall enter into agreements with district school boards or other local educational entities regarding education and related services for children known to the department who are of school age and children known to the department who are younger than school age but who would otherwise qualify for services from the district school board. Such agreements ~~must shall~~ include, but are not limited to:

1. A requirement that the department shall:
 - a. Ensure that children known to the department are enrolled in school or in the best educational setting that meets the needs of the child. The agreement ~~must shall~~ provide for continuing the enrollment of a child known to the department at the school of origin when possible if it is in the best interest of the child, with the goal of minimal disruption of education.
 - b. Notify the school and school district in which a child known to the department is enrolled of the name and phone number of the child known to the department caregiver and caseworker for child safety purposes.
 - c. Establish a protocol for the department to share information about a child known to the department with the school district, consistent with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, since the sharing of information will assist each agency in obtaining education and related services for the benefit of the child. The protocol must require the district school boards or other local educational entities to access the department's Florida Safe Families Network to obtain information about children known to the department, consistent with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. s. 1232g.
 - d. Notify the school district of the department's case planning for a child known to the department, both at the time of plan development and plan review. Within the plan development or review process, the school district may provide information regarding the child known to the department if the school district deems it desirable and appropriate.
 - e. Show no prejudice against a caregiver who desires to educate at home a child placed in his or her home through the child welfare system.
2. A requirement that the district school board shall:
 - a. Provide the department with a general listing of the services and information available from the district school board to facilitate educational access for a child known to the department.
 - b. Identify all educational and other services provided by the school and school district which the school district believes are reasonably necessary to meet the educational needs of a child known to the department.
 - c. Determine whether transportation is available for a child known to the department when such transportation will avoid a change in school assignment due to a change in residential placement. Recognizing that continued enrollment in the same school throughout the time the child known to the department is in out-of-home care is preferable unless enrollment in the same school would be unsafe or otherwise impractical, the department, the district school board, and the Department of Education shall assess the availability of federal, charitable, or grant funding for such transportation.
 - d. Provide individualized student intervention or an individual educational plan when a determination has been made through legally appropriate criteria that intervention services are required. The intervention or individual educational plan must include strategies to enable the child known to the department to maximize the attainment of educational goals.
3. A requirement that the department and the district school board shall cooperate in accessing the services and supports needed for a child known to the department who has or is suspected of having a disability to receive an appropriate education consistent with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and state implementing laws, rules, and assurances. Coordination of services for a child known to the department who has or is suspected of having a disability may include:
 - a. Referral for screening.
 - b. Sharing of evaluations between the school district and the department where appropriate.
 - c. Provision of education and related services appropriate for the needs and abilities of the child known to the department.

- d. Coordination of services and plans between the school and the residential setting to avoid duplication or conflicting service plans.
- e. Appointment of a surrogate parent, consistent with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and pursuant to subsection (3), for educational purposes for a child known to the department who qualifies.
- f. For each child known to the department 14 years of age and older, transition planning by the department and all providers, including the department's independent living program staff and the guardian ad litem of the child, to meet the requirements of the local school district for educational purposes.

(3) CHILDREN HAVING OR SUSPECTED OF HAVING A DISABILITY.—

(b)1. Each district school superintendent or dependency court must appoint a surrogate parent for a child known to the department who has or is suspected of having a disability, as defined in s. 1003.01(9), when:

- a. After reasonable efforts, no parent can be located; or
- b. A court of competent jurisdiction over a child under this chapter has determined that no person has the authority under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, including the parent or parents subject to the dependency action, or that no person has the authority, willingness, or ability to serve as the educational decisionmaker for the child without judicial action.

2. A surrogate parent appointed by the district school superintendent or the court must be at least 18 years old and have no personal or professional interest that conflicts with the interests of the student to be represented. Neither the district school superintendent nor the court may appoint an employee of the Department of Education, the local school district, a community-based care provider, the Department of Children and Families, or any other public or private agency involved in the education or care of the child as appointment of those persons is prohibited by federal law. This prohibition includes group home staff and therapeutic foster parents. However, a person who acts in a parental role to a child, such as a foster parent or relative caregiver, is not prohibited from serving as a surrogate parent if he or she is employed by such agency, willing to serve, and knowledgeable about the child and the exceptional student education process. The surrogate parent may be a court-appointed guardian ad litem or a relative or nonrelative adult who is involved in the child's life regardless of whether that person has physical custody of the child. Each person appointed as a surrogate parent must have the knowledge and skills acquired by successfully completing training using materials developed and approved by the Department of Education to ensure adequate representation of the child.

3. ~~If a guardian ad litem has been appointed for a child,~~ The district school superintendent must first consider the child's guardian ad litem when appointing a surrogate parent. The district school superintendent must accept the appointment of the court if he or she has not previously appointed a surrogate parent. Similarly, the court must accept a surrogate parent duly appointed by a district school superintendent.

4. A surrogate parent appointed by the district school superintendent or the court must be accepted by any subsequent school or school district without regard to where the child is receiving residential care so that a single surrogate parent can follow the education of the child during his or her entire time in state custody. Nothing in this paragraph or in rule shall limit or prohibit the continuance of a surrogate parent appointment when the responsibility for the student's educational placement moves among and between public and private agencies.

5. For a child known to the department, the responsibility to appoint a surrogate parent resides with both the district school superintendent and the court with jurisdiction over the child. If the court elects to appoint a surrogate parent, notice shall be provided as soon as practicable to the child's school. At any time the court determines that it is in the best interests of a child to remove a surrogate parent, the court may appoint a new surrogate parent for educational decisionmaking purposes for that child.

6. The surrogate parent shall continue in the appointed role until one of the following occurs:

a. The child is determined to no longer be eligible or in need of special programs, except when termination of special programs is being contested.

b. The child achieves permanency through adoption or legal guardianship and is no longer in the custody of the department.

c. The parent who was previously unknown becomes known, whose whereabouts were unknown is located, or who was unavailable is determined by the court to be available.

d. The appointed surrogate no longer wishes to represent the child or is unable to represent the child.

e. The superintendent of the school district in which the child is attending school, the Department of Education contract designee, or the court that appointed the surrogate determines that the appointed surrogate parent no longer adequately represents the child.

f. The child moves to a geographic location that is not reasonably accessible to the appointed surrogate.

7. The appointment and termination of appointment of a surrogate under this paragraph shall be entered as an order of the court with a copy of the order provided to the child's school as soon as practicable.

8. The person appointed as a surrogate parent under this paragraph must:

a. Be acquainted with the child and become knowledgeable about his or her disability and educational needs.

b. Represent the child in all matters relating to identification, evaluation, and educational placement and the provision of a free and appropriate education to the child.

c. Represent the interests and safeguard the rights of the child in educational decisions that affect the child.

9. The responsibilities of the person appointed as a surrogate parent shall not extend to the care, maintenance, custody, residential placement, or any other area not specifically related to the education of the child, unless the same person is appointed by the court for such other purposes.

10. A person appointed as a surrogate parent shall enjoy all of the procedural safeguards afforded a parent with respect to the identification, evaluation, and educational placement of a student with a disability or a student who is suspected of having a disability.

11. A person appointed as a surrogate parent shall not be held liable for actions taken in good faith on behalf of the student in protecting the special education rights of the child.

Section 5. Present subsections (8) through (30) and (31) through (87) of section 39.01, Florida Statutes, are redesignated as subsections (9) through (31) and (34) through (90), respectively, present subsections (9), (36), and (58) are amended, and new subsections (8), (32), and (33) are added to that section, to read:

39.01 Definitions.—When used in this chapter, unless the context otherwise requires:

(8) “Attorney ad litem” means an attorney appointed by the court to represent a child in a dependency case who has an attorney-client relationship with the child under the rules regulating The Florida Bar.

(10)(9) “Caregiver” means the parent, legal custodian, permanent guardian, adult household member, or other person responsible for a child’s welfare as defined in subsection (57) (54).

(32) “Guardian ad litem” means a person or an entity that is a fiduciary appointed by the court to represent a child in any civil, criminal, or administrative proceeding to which the child is a party, including, but not limited to, under this chapter, which uses a best interest standard for decisionmaking and advocacy. For purposes of this chapter, the term includes, but is not limited to, the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office, which includes all circuit guardian ad litem offices and the duly certified volunteers, staff, and attorneys assigned by the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office to represent children; a court-appointed attorney; or a responsible adult who is appointed by the court. A guardian ad litem is a party to the judicial proceeding as a representative of the child and serves until the jurisdiction of the court over the child terminates or until excused by the court.

(33) “Guardian advocate” means a person appointed by the court to act on behalf of a drug-dependent newborn under part XI of this chapter.

(39)(36) “Institutional child abuse or neglect” means situations of known or suspected child abuse or neglect in which the person allegedly perpetrating the child abuse or neglect is an employee of a public or private school, public or private day care center, residential home, institution, facility, or agency or any other person at such institution responsible for the child’s welfare as defined in subsection (57) (54).

(61)(58) “Party” means the parent or parents of the child, the petitioner, the department, the guardian ad litem or the representative of the guardian ad litem program when the program has been appointed, and the child. The presence of the child may be excused by order of the court when presence would not be in the child’s best interest. Notice to the child may be excused by order of the court when the age, capacity, or other condition of the child is such that the notice would be meaningless or detrimental to the child.

Section 6. Subsection (11) of section 39.013, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.013 Procedures and jurisdiction; right to counsel; guardian ad litem.—

(11) The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem at the earliest possible time to represent a child throughout the proceedings, including any appeals. The guardian ad litem may represent the child in proceedings outside of the dependency case to secure the services and benefits that provide for the care, safety, and protection of the child encourage the Statewide Guardian Ad Litem Office to provide greater representation to those children who are within 1 year of transferring out of foster care.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 39.01305, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.01305 Appointment of an attorney for a dependent child with certain special needs.—

(b) The Legislature recognizes the existence of organizations that provide attorney representation to children in certain jurisdictions throughout the state. Further, the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office Program provides best interest representation for dependent children in every jurisdiction in accordance with state and federal law. The Legislature, therefore, does not intend that funding provided for representation under this section supplant proven and existing organizations representing children. Instead, the Legislature intends that funding provided for representation under this section be an additional resource for the representation of more children in these jurisdictions, to the extent necessary to meet the requirements of this chapter, with the cooperation of existing local organizations or through the expansion of those organizations. The Legislature encourages the expansion of pro bono representation for children. This section is not intended to limit the ability of a pro bono attorney to appear on behalf of a child.

Section 8. Subsection (3) of section 39.0132, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.0132 Oaths, records, and confidential information.—

(3) The clerk shall keep all court records required by this chapter separate from other records of the circuit court. All court records required by this chapter may shall not be open to inspection by the public. All records may shall be inspected only upon order of the court by persons deemed by the court to have a proper interest therein, except that, subject to the provisions of s. 63.162, a child, and the parents of the child and their attorneys, the guardian ad litem, criminal conflict and civil regional counsels, law enforcement agencies, ~~and~~ the department and its designees, ~~and the attorney ad litem, if one is appointed, shall~~ always have the right to inspect and copy any official record pertaining to the child. The Justice Administrative Commission may inspect court dockets required by this chapter as necessary to audit compensation of court-appointed attorneys. If the docket is insufficient for purposes of the audit, the commission may petition the court for additional documentation as necessary and appropriate. The court may permit authorized representatives of recognized organizations compiling statistics for proper purposes to inspect and make abstracts from official records, under whatever conditions upon their use and disposition the court may deem proper, and may punish by contempt proceedings any violation of those conditions.

Section 9. Paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.0136, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.0136 Time limitations; continuances.—

(3) The time limitations in this chapter do not include:

(a) Periods of delay resulting from a continuance granted at the request of the child's counsel, ~~or the child's guardian ad litem, or attorney ad litem, if one is appointed, if the child is of sufficient capacity to express reasonable consent, at the request or with the consent of the child.~~ The court must consider the best interests of the child when determining periods of delay under this section.

Section 10. Subsection (7) of section 39.01375, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.01375 Best interest determination for placement.—The department, community-based care lead agency, or court shall consider all of the following factors when determining whether a proposed placement under this chapter is in the child's best interest:

Section 11. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (4) of section 39.0139, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

The guardian ad litem and any attorney ad litem, if one is or guardian ad litem appointed, must shall have special training in the dynamics of child sexual abuse.~~

(b) At the hearing, the court may receive and rely upon any relevant and material evidence submitted to the extent of its probative value, including written and oral reports or recommendations from the Child Protection Team, the child's therapist, the child's guardian ad litem, or the child's attorney ad litem, if one is appointed, even if these reports, recommendations, and evidence may not be admissible under the rules of evidence.

39.202 Confidentiality of reports and records in cases of child abuse or neglect; exception.—

(2) Except as provided in subsection (4), access to such records, excluding the name of, or other identifying information with respect to, the reporter which may only shall be released only as provided in subsection (5), may only shall be granted only to the following persons, officials, and agencies:

Section 14. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (4) of section 39.4022, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.4022 Multidisciplinary teams; staffings; assessments; report.—

(4) PARTICIPANTS.—

(a) Collaboration among diverse individuals who are part of the child's network is necessary to make the most informed decisions possible for the child. A diverse team is preferable to ensure that the necessary combination of technical skills, cultural knowledge, community resources, and personal relationships is developed and maintained for the child and family. The participants necessary to achieve an appropriately diverse team for a child may vary by child and may include extended family, friends, neighbors, coaches, clergy, coworkers, or others the family identifies as potential sources of support.

1. Each multidisciplinary team staffing must invite the following members:

a. The child, unless he or she is not of an age or capacity to participate in the team, ~~and the child's guardian ad litem~~;

b. The child's family members and other individuals identified by the family as being important to the child, provided that a parent who has a no contact order or injunction, is alleged to have sexually abused the child, or is subject to a termination of parental rights may not participate;

c. The current caregiver, provided the caregiver is not a parent who meets the criteria of one of the exceptions under sub-subparagraph b.;

d. A representative from the department other than the Children's Legal Services attorney, when the department is directly involved in the goal identified by the staffing;

e. A representative from the community-based care lead agency, when the lead agency is directly involved in the goal identified by the staffing;

f. The case manager for the child, or his or her case manager supervisor; and

g. A representative from the Department of Juvenile Justice, if the child is dually involved with both the department and the Department of Juvenile Justice.

2. The multidisciplinary team must make reasonable efforts to have all mandatory invitees attend. However, the multidisciplinary team staffing may not be delayed if the invitees in subparagraph 1. fail to attend after being provided reasonable opportunities.

(b) Based on the particular goal the multidisciplinary team staffing identifies as the purpose of convening the staffing as provided under subsection (5), the department or lead agency may also invite to the meeting other professionals, including, but not limited to:

1. A representative from Children's Medical Services;

2. ~~A guardian ad litem, if one is appointed;~~

~~3. A school personnel representative who has direct contact with the child;~~

3.4. A therapist or other behavioral health professional, if applicable;

3. The department or the community-based care lead agency must provide written notice of the planned move at least 14 days before the move or within 72 hours after an emergency situation, to the greatest extent possible and consistent with the child's needs and preferences. The notice must include the reason a placement change is necessary. A copy of the notice must be filed with the court and be provided to all of the following:

2. - g. Whether the child is a student with a disability under IDEA who is receiving special education and related services or a student with a disability under s. 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 who is receiving accommodations and services and, if so, whether those required services are available in a school or program other than the school or program of origin.
- h. Whether the child is an English Language Learner student and is receiving language services and, if so, whether those required services are available in a school or program other than the school or program of origin.

(m) To receive meaningful case management and planning that will quickly return the child to his or her family or move the child on to other forms of permanency. For a child who is transitioning from foster care to independent living, permanency includes establishing naturally occurring, lifelong, kin-like connections between the child and a supportive adult.

This subsection establishes goals and not rights. This subsection does not require the delivery of any particular service or level of service in excess of existing appropriations. A person does not have a cause of action against the state or any of its subdivisions, agencies, contractors, subcontractors, or agents, based upon the adoption of or failure to provide adequate funding for the achievement of these goals by the Legislature. This subsection does not require the expenditure of funds to meet the goals established in this subsection except those funds specifically appropriated for such purpose.

The transition of the child to the new caregiver may not begin before the expiration of the 5-day period within which the current caregiver may object.

3. Upon the department or community-based care lead agency receiving written notice of the caregiver's objection, the change to the child's physical custody must be placed in abeyance and the child may not be transitioned to a new physical placement without a court order, unless there is an emergency situation as defined in s. 39.4022(2)(b).

4. Within 7 days after receiving written notice from the caregiver, the court must conduct an initial case status hearing, at which time the court must do all of the following:

1. If the parent was advised of the right to receive assistance from any person or social service agency in the preparation of the case plan.

4. All relevant information related to the Road-to-Independence Program under s. 409.1451, including, but not limited to, eligibility requirements, information on participation, and assistance in gaining admission to the program. 1. The department shall complete a multidisciplinary report which must include, but is not limited to, a psychosocial evaluation and educational report if such a report has not been completed within the previous 2 years.

2. The department shall identify one or more individuals who are willing to serve as the guardian advocate under s. 393.12 or as the plenary or limited guardian under chapter 744. Any other interested parties or participants may make efforts to identify such a guardian advocate, limited guardian, or plenary guardian. The child's biological or adoptive family members, including the child's parents if the parents' rights have not been terminated, may not be considered for service as the plenary or limited guardian unless the court enters a written order finding that such an appointment is in the child's best interests.

If the department cannot justify its noncompliance, the court may give the department 30 days within which to comply. If the department fails to comply within 30 days, the court may hold the department in contempt.

(e) If necessary, the court may review the status of the child more frequently during the year before the child's 18th birthday. At the last review hearing before the child reaches 18 years of age, and in addition to the requirements of subsection (2), the court shall:

1. Address whether the child plans to remain in foster care, and, if so, ensure that the child's transition plan includes a plan for meeting one or more of the criteria specified in s. 39.6251 and determine if the child has entered into a formal agreement for an ongoing relationship with a supportive adult.

(a) The Legislature finds that for the past 20 years, the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office Program has been the only mechanism for best interest representation for children in Florida who are involved in dependency proceedings.

(b) The Legislature also finds that while the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office Program has been supervised by court administration within the circuit courts since the office's program's inception, there is a perceived conflict of interest created by the supervision of program staff by the judges before whom they appear.

(d) It is therefore the intent of the Legislature to place the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office Program in an appropriate place and provide a statewide infrastructure to increase functioning and standardization among the local offices programs currently operating in the 20 judicial circuits.

(2) STATEWIDE GUARDIAN AD LITEM OFFICE.—There is created a Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office within the Justice Administrative Commission. The Justice Administrative Commission shall provide administrative support and service to the office to the extent requested by the executive director within the available resources of the commission. The Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office is not subject to control, supervision, or direction by the Justice Administrative Commission in the performance of its duties, but the employees of the office are governed by the classification plan and salary and benefits plan approved by the Justice Administrative Commission.

(a) The head of the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office is the executive director, who shall be appointed by the Governor from a list of a minimum of three eligible applicants submitted by a Guardian ad Litem Qualifications Committee. The Guardian ad Litem Qualifications Committee shall be composed of five persons, two persons appointed by the Governor, two persons appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and one person appointed by the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office Association. The committee shall provide for statewide advertisement and the receiving of applications for the position of executive director. The Governor shall appoint an executive director from among the recommendations, or the Governor may reject the nominations and request the submission of new nominees. The executive director must have knowledge in dependency law and knowledge of social service delivery systems available to meet the needs of children who are abused, neglected, or abandoned. The executive director shall serve on a full-time basis and shall personally, or through representatives of the office, carry out the purposes and functions of the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office in accordance with state and federal law and the state's long-established policy of prioritizing children's best interests. The executive director shall report to the Governor. The executive director shall serve a 3-year term, subject to removal for cause by the Governor. Any person appointed to serve as the executive director may be permitted to serve more than one term without the necessity of convening the Guardian ad Litem Qualifications Committee.

(b) The Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office shall, within available resources, have oversight responsibilities for and provide technical assistance to all guardian ad litem and attorney ad litem offices programs located within the judicial circuits.

1. The office shall identify the resources required to implement methods of collecting, reporting, and tracking reliable and consistent case data.

2. The office shall review the current guardian ad litem offices programs in Florida and other states.

3. The office, in consultation with local guardian ad litem offices, shall develop statewide performance measures and standards.

4. The office shall develop and maintain a guardian ad litem training program, which must be updated regularly, which shall include, but is not limited to, training on the recognition of and responses to head trauma and brain injury in a child under 6 years of age. The office shall establish a curriculum committee to develop the training program specified in this subparagraph. ~~The curriculum committee shall include, but not be limited to, dependency judges, directors of circuit guardian ad litem programs, active certified guardians ad litem,~~

~~a mental health professional who specializes in the treatment of children, a member of a child advocacy group, a representative of a domestic violence advocacy group, an individual with a degree in social work, and a social worker experienced in working with victims and perpetrators of child abuse.~~

5. The office shall review the various methods of funding guardian ad litem offices programs, maximize the use of those funding sources to the extent possible, and review the kinds of services being provided by circuit guardian ad litem offices programs.

6. The office shall determine the feasibility or desirability of new concepts of organization, administration, financing, or service delivery designed to preserve the civil and constitutional rights and fulfill other needs of dependent children.

7. The office shall ensure that each child has an attorney assigned to his or her case and, within available resources, is represented using multidisciplinary teams that may include volunteers, pro bono attorneys, social workers, and mentors.

8. The office shall provide oversight and technical assistance to attorneys ad litem, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

a. Develop an attorney ad litem training program in collaboration with dependency court stakeholders, including, but not limited to, dependency judges, representatives from legal aid providing attorney ad litem representation, and an attorney ad litem appointed from a registry maintained by the chief judge. The training program must be updated regularly with or without convening the stakeholders group.

b. Offer consultation and technical assistance to chief judges in maintaining attorney registries for the selection of attorneys ad litem.

However, a guardian ad litem volunteer may not be required by a guardian ad litem circuit office or ordered by or directed by the program or a court to transport a child.~~

10.8. ~~The office shall submit to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court an interim report describing the progress of the office in meeting the goals as described in this section. The office shall submit to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court a proposed plan including alternatives for meeting the state's guardian ad litem and attorney ad litem needs. This plan may include recommendations for less than the entire state, may include a phase-in system, and shall include estimates of the cost of each of the alternatives. Each year the office shall provide a status report and provide further recommendations to address the need for guardian ad litem representation services and related issues.~~

Section 34. Section 39.8297, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

The court may, by order, require additional evaluations and studies to be performed by the department; the county school system; or any social, psychological, or psychiatric agency of the state. Section 46. Subsection (4) of section 985.441, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

985.441 Commitment.—

(4) The department may transfer a child, when necessary to appropriately administer the child's commitment, from one facility or program to another facility or program operated, contracted, subcontracted, or designated by the department, including a postcommitment nonresidential conditional release program, except that the department may not transfer any child adjudicated solely for a misdemeanor to a residential program except as provided in subsection (2). The department shall notify the court that committed the child to the department and any attorney of record for the child, in writing, of its intent to transfer the child from a commitment facility or program to another facility or program of a higher or lower restrictiveness level. If the child is under the jurisdiction of a dependency court, the department shall also provide notice to the dependency court, ~~and~~ the Department of Children and Families, ~~and, if appointed,~~ the Statewide Guardian Ad Litem Office, Program and the child's attorney ad litem, if one is appointed. 985.455 Other dispositional issues.—

(3) Any commitment of a delinquent child to the department must be for an indeterminate period of time, which may include periods of temporary release; however, the period of time may not exceed the maximum term of imprisonment that an adult may serve for the same offense, except that the duration of a minimum-risk nonresidential commitment for an offense that is a misdemeanor of the second degree, or is equivalent to a misdemeanor of the second degree, may be for a period not to exceed 6 months. The duration of the child's placement in a commitment program of any restrictiveness level shall be based on objective performance-based treatment planning. The child's treatment plan progress and adjustment-related issues shall be reported to the court quarterly, unless the court requests monthly reports. If the child is under the jurisdiction of a dependency court, the court may receive and consider any information provided by the Statewide Guardian Ad Litem Office Program or the child's attorney ad litem, if one is appointed. The child's length of stay in a commitment program may be extended if the child fails to comply with or participate in treatment activities. The child's length of stay in the program shall not be extended for purposes of sanction or punishment. Any temporary release from such program must be approved by the court. Any child so committed may be discharged from institutional confinement or a program upon the direction of the department with the concurrence of the court. The child's treatment plan progress and adjustment-related issues must be communicated to the court at the time the department requests the court to consider releasing the child from the commitment program. The department shall give the court that committed the child to the department reasonable notice, in writing, of its desire to discharge the child from a commitment facility. The court that committed the child may thereafter accept or reject the request. If the court does not respond within 10 days after receipt of the notice, the request of the department shall be deemed granted. This section does not limit the department's authority to revoke a child's temporary release status and return the child to a commitment facility for any violation of the terms and conditions of the temporary release.

Section 48. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 985.461, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

985.461 Transition to adulthood.—

(4) As part of the child's treatment plan, the department may provide transition-to-adulthood services to children released from residential commitment. To support participation in transition-to-adulthood services and subject to appropriation, the department may:

(b) Use community reentry teams to assist in the development of a list of age-appropriate activities and responsibilities to be incorporated in the child's written case plan for any youth who is under the custody or supervision of the department. Community reentry teams may include representatives from school districts, law enforcement, workforce development services, community-based service providers, the Statewide Guardian Ad Litem Office Program, and the youth's family. Such community reentry teams must be created within existing resources provided to the department. Activities may include, but are not limited to, life skills training, including training to develop banking and budgeting skills, interviewing and career planning skills, parenting skills, personal health management, and time management or organizational skills; educational support; employment training; and counseling.

Section 50. Subsection (1) of section 39.302, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.302 Protective investigations of institutional child abuse, abandonment, or neglect.—

(1) The department shall conduct a child protective investigation of each report of institutional child abuse, abandonment, or neglect. Upon receipt of a report that alleges that an employee or agent of the department, or any other entity or person covered by s. 39.01(39) or (57) ~~s. 39.01(36) or (54)~~, acting in an official capacity, has committed an act of child abuse, abandonment, or neglect, the department shall initiate a child protective investigation within the timeframe established under s. 39.101(2) and notify the appropriate state attorney, law enforcement agency, and licensing agency, which shall immediately conduct a joint investigation, unless independent investigations are more feasible. When conducting investigations or having face-to-face interviews with the child, investigation visits shall be unannounced unless it is determined by the department or its agent that unannounced visits threaten the safety of the child. If a facility is exempt from licensing, the department shall inform the owner or operator of the facility of the report. Each agency conducting a joint investigation is entitled to full access to the information gathered by the department in the course of the investigation. A protective investigation must include an interview with the child's parent or legal guardian. The department shall make a full written report to the state attorney within 3 business days after making the oral report. A criminal investigation shall be coordinated, whenever possible, with the child protective investigation of the department. Any interested person who has information regarding the offenses described in this subsection may forward a statement to the state attorney as to whether prosecution is warranted and appropriate. Within 15 days after the completion of the investigation, the state attorney shall report the findings to the department and shall include in the report a determination of whether or not prosecution is justified and appropriate in view of the circumstances of the specific case.

Section 51. Paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section 39.521, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.521 Disposition hearings; powers of disposition.—

(1) A disposition hearing shall be conducted by the court, if the court finds that the facts alleged in the petition for dependency were proven in the adjudicatory hearing, or if the parents or legal custodians have consented to the finding of dependency or admitted the allegations in the petition, have failed to appear for the arraignment hearing after proper notice, or have not been located despite a diligent search having been conducted.

(c) When any child is adjudicated by a court to be dependent, the court having jurisdiction of the child has the power by order to:

1. Require the parent and, when appropriate, the legal guardian or the child to participate in treatment and services identified as necessary. The court may require the person who has custody or who is requesting custody of the child to submit to a mental health or substance abuse disorder assessment or evaluation. The order may be made only upon good cause shown and pursuant to notice and procedural requirements provided under the Florida Rules of Juvenile Procedure. The mental health assessment or evaluation must be administered by a qualified professional as defined in s. 39.01, and the substance abuse assessment or evaluation must be administered by a qualified professional as defined in s. 397.311. The court may also require such person to participate in and comply with treatment and services identified as necessary, including, when appropriate and available, participation in and compliance with a mental health court program established under chapter 394 or a treatment-based drug court program established under s. 397.334. Adjudication of a child as dependent based upon evidence of harm as defined in s. 39.01(37)(g) ~~s. 39.01(34)(g)~~ demonstrates good cause, and the court shall require the parent whose actions caused the harm to submit to a substance abuse disorder assessment or evaluation and to participate and comply with treatment and services identified in the assessment or evaluation as being necessary. In addition to supervision by the department, the court, including the mental health court program or the treatment-based drug court program, may oversee the progress and compliance with treatment by a person who has custody or is requesting custody of the child. The court may impose appropriate available sanctions for noncompliance upon a person who has custody or is requesting custody of the child or make a finding of noncompliance for consideration in determining whether an alternative placement of the child is in the child's best interests. Any order entered under this subparagraph may be made only upon good cause shown. This subparagraph does not authorize placement of a child with a person seeking custody of the child, other than the child's parent or legal custodian, who requires mental health or substance abuse disorder treatment.

2. Require, if the court deems necessary, the parties to participate in dependency mediation.

3. Require placement of the child either under the protective supervision of an authorized agent of the department in the home of one or both of the child's parents or in the home of a relative of the child or another adult approved by the court, or in the custody of the department. Protective supervision continues until the court terminates it or until the child reaches the age of 18, whichever date is first. Protective supervision shall be terminated by the court whenever the court determines that permanency has been achieved for the child, whether with a parent, another relative, or a legal custodian, and that protective supervision is no longer needed. The termination of supervision may be with or without retaining jurisdiction, at the court's discretion, and shall in either case be considered a permanency option for the child. The order terminating supervision by the department must set forth the powers of the custodian of the child and include the powers ordinarily granted to a guardian of the person of a minor unless otherwise specified. Upon the court's termination of supervision by the department, further judicial reviews are not required if permanency has been established for the child.

4. Determine whether the child has a strong attachment to the prospective permanent guardian and whether such guardian has a strong commitment to permanently caring for the child.

Section 52. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 61.13, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

61.13 Support of children; parenting and time-sharing; powers of court.—

(c) The court shall determine all matters relating to parenting and time-sharing of each minor child of the parties in accordance with the best interests of the child and in accordance with the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act, except that modification of a parenting plan and time-sharing schedule requires a showing of a substantial and material change of circumstances.

1. It is the public policy of this state that each minor child has frequent and continuing contact with both parents after the parents separate or the marriage of the parties is dissolved and to encourage parents to share the rights and responsibilities, and joys, of child-rearing. Unless otherwise provided in this section or agreed to by the parties, there is a rebuttable presumption that equal time-sharing of a minor child is in the best interests of the minor child. To rebut this presumption, a party must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that equal time-sharing is not in the best interests of the minor child. Except when a time-sharing schedule is agreed to by the parties and approved by the court, the court must evaluate all of the factors set forth in subsection (3) and make specific written findings of fact when creating or modifying a time-sharing schedule.

2. The court shall order that the parental responsibility for a minor child be shared by both parents unless the court finds that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child. In determining detriment to the child, the court shall consider:

a. Evidence of domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28;

b. Whether either parent has or has had reasonable cause to believe that he or she or his or her minor child or children are or have been in imminent danger of becoming victims of an act of domestic violence as defined in s. 741.28 or sexual violence as defined in s. 784.046(1)(c) by the other parent against the parent or against the child or children whom the parents share in common regardless of whether a cause of action has been brought or is currently pending in the court;

c. Whether either parent has or has had reasonable cause to believe that his or her minor child or children are or have been in imminent danger of becoming victims of an act of abuse as defined in s. 39.01(2), abandonment as defined in s. 39.01(1), or neglect, as those terms are defined in s. 39.01, ~~s. 39.01(50)~~ by the other parent against the child or children whom the parents share in common regardless of whether a cause of action has been brought or is currently pending in the court; and

d. Any other relevant factors.

3. The following evidence creates a rebuttable presumption that shared parental responsibility is detrimental to the child:

a. A parent has been convicted of a misdemeanor of the first degree or higher involving domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28 and chapter 775;

b. A parent meets the criteria of s. 39.806(1)(d); or

c. A parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

(I) The parent was 18 years of age or older.

(II) The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

If the presumption is not rebutted after the convicted parent is advised by the court that the presumption exists, shared parental responsibility, including time-sharing with the child, and decisions made regarding the child, may not be granted to the convicted parent. However, the convicted parent is not relieved of any obligation to provide financial support. If the court determines that shared parental responsibility would be detrimental to the child, it may order sole parental responsibility and make such arrangements for time-sharing as specified in the parenting plan as will best protect the child or abused spouse from further harm. Whether or not there is a conviction of any offense of domestic violence or child abuse or the existence of an injunction for protection against domestic violence, the court shall consider evidence of domestic violence or child abuse as evidence of detriment to the child.

4. In ordering shared parental responsibility, the court may consider the expressed desires of the parents and may grant to one party the ultimate responsibility over specific aspects of the child's welfare or may divide those responsibilities between the parties based on the best interests of the child. Areas of responsibility may include education, health care, and any other responsibilities that the court finds unique to a particular family.

5. The court shall order sole parental responsibility for a minor child to one parent, with or without time-sharing with the other parent if it is in the best interests of the minor child.

6. There is a rebuttable presumption against granting time-sharing with a minor child if a parent has been convicted of or had adjudication withheld for an offense enumerated in s. 943.0435(1)(h)1.a., and at the time of the offense:

a. The parent was 18 years of age or older.

b. The victim was under 18 years of age or the parent believed the victim to be under 18 years of age.

A parent may rebut the presumption upon a specific finding in writing by the court that the parent poses no significant risk of harm to the child and that time-sharing is in the best interests of the minor child. If the presumption is rebutted, the court must consider all time-sharing factors in subsection (3) when developing a time-sharing schedule.

7. Access to records and information pertaining to a minor child, including, but not limited to, medical, dental, and school records, may not be denied to either parent. Full rights under this subparagraph apply to either parent unless a court order specifically revokes these rights, including any restrictions on these rights as provided in a domestic violence injunction. A parent having rights under this subparagraph has the same rights upon request as to form, substance, and manner of access as are available to the other parent of a child, including, without limitation, the right to in-person communication with medical, dental, and education providers.

Section 53. Paragraph (d) of subsection (4) of section 119.071, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

REMARKS

On motion by Senator Mayfield, by two-thirds vote, the following remarks by Senator Stewart were ordered spread upon the Journal.

Senator Stewart: It's always difficult for all of us leaving that we have to stand up. I think it's necessary, but it's hard. So friends and colleagues, you know, as I stand here today, I'm really filled with happiness but also a touch of sadness because I have to say farewell to everybody. It's not fun because I've gotten to know each and every one of you personally, and your families. It's an honor and a privilege that we have had that opportunity to spend all these years to get to know each other. That's why we work so well together. I try my best to be open-minded and listen to your issues. The issues in one part of the state are not the same as in Central Florida or the same as in South Florida. We have to realize that when we talk to one another with respect—that you're going to be there for your constituents that might have a totally different idea of what needs to be done than what is in Central Florida. I understand that, and that's why I just try to come and land at a compromise if that's a possibility.

First and foremost, I wanted to express my deepest thanks to my constituents in Orange County. They have entrusted me year after year for the responsibility of representing them. Their support has been the driving force behind every decision that I make and every vote that I take. I've done this happily because I think that you need somebody there as your advocate. I'm not always right on everything, and I know there are people who sometimes like what I do and others don't like what I do. That's politics—that's just how it is. Hopefully, I've done 80 percent of what they want me to do. I'm keeping my fingers crossed that I've represented some of the bills I've put forward and that they're really happy about. I leave this role with a profound sense of gratitude and for the opportunity to make a positive impact on my community while I was here, and maybe later. I'm not sure.

To my beloved family, my husband, Jerry, I don't know how he puts up with me. He is a retired engineer so anybody that understands that understands there is quite a difference between an engineer and me. We've made it last for many, many years. I have my children, Amanda, Sam, and Courtney, who could not be here because they're working. I have my grandchildren, of course, that are in Georgia—Ben, Liza, and Molly. Brenner is in Orlando, but Owen and Leah are here with me because they're at FSU. They're around here a lot, and they really like me being here when I'm here. They're going to miss me being here to take them out to dinner, because they get hungry every day. I'm so grateful for their tolerance, love, and encouragement. You know, you come home and they don't know what you've done. You try to talk to them and they say, "Oh, I didn't read that so I don't know anything about that." So, sometimes it flows one way, my way, but I do appreciate it. There are times when they will stand up, and they will put me in my place. There's no doubt about that, and I just listen. Your kids and your grandkids do inspire you, and they do give you feedback. It's impossible not to understand that when you go home to your family and you say something to them, they're going to tell you if they like it or not even if they don't understand it—which sometimes happens.

To my wonderful staff and interns, both the former and current ones who have been by my side every single step of the way. I have heard this time and time again from all the others who have stood before me—it's hard work, it's dedication, it's the expertise that they bring to this district office. They're the backbone of our office. I'd like to recognize Monisa Olsen. She's here. Now she came from UCF. I've had a lot of UCF interns. I'm so glad UCF has this program because it really does help them learn the process. All the others too, because FSU and all of them have programs. It's so beneficial to those students that make that legislative scholar and are able to come and serve. I'd also like to recognize on the floor today, Dana Rutledge. Dana is a loyal, loyal friend. She's been with me for over 20 years. She was with me at the county commission, she was with me at the House, and she's with me here. She's a Republican so she gets on my nerves sometimes. We have a bipartisan office, and I get on her nerves a lot. It works both ways. I've got Devin Bleich, who has been in charge of appropriations, and I have a lot of appropriations this year. I'm staying this weekend and being your best friend, because we've had a hard time working this through the committees with the House. We haven't gotten too far as we all know, so it's going to get bumped up to you. He's been the one that's helped me with these appropriations projects. Travis Flinn, everybody knows

Travis. He knows more about the bills and the policies than I do. I have to call him up and ask him particularly about the amendments. You all have people in your office that are your aides that know more than you do. They make time to stay after hours and on the weekends to know the subject matter—to make you look good. He makes me look good. Our staff that's sitting here today and those in the district office—we've done so many things, and they're the ones who have actually put it together. We had diaper drives, food drives, we had all those people that are in need, a shoe collection, basket collections for Thanksgiving, pet food collections, and baking and delivering Christmas rum cakes to the firefighters every single year. We collected, and we are collecting professional clothing for job seekers who want to interview for a job. They need nice clothes to do those interviews. We also were chasing down black bears in downtown Orlando. This commitment on public service goes deep. It's very deep. It's not always up here. Up here is important, but down in your district, there are many needs that you have to take care of. Through everything that we do and tireless efforts, we just have unwavering support. I'm just grateful for that, but I think that it draws attention from my constituents who see what we're doing. They realize we're really doing the best we can for them.

As I reflect on my time in office, I think about the importance. You heard Aretha Franklin saying it loud and clear, "respect." I think one of the most important things that comes to my mind is respect. People always think government is divisive. They think that we're arguing all the time, but respect has been a guiding principle to me. It's enabled me to come together and work towards improving the lives of Floridians. My hope is that we continue to hold respect as a fundamental value in our interactions with one another, even when we disagree. We owe it to those we serve. To my fellow Senators, both past and present, I am extending my heartfelt thanks to each and every one of you for the collaboration, the friendship, and the shared commitment to this process. It has been an honor to serve alongside each and every one of you. For the number of moments we have been able to spend together in your office, on the floor, wherever we are, it has just been very rewarding. I'm just really thankful that we share that respect with one another. I would also like to express my sincere appreciation to the professional staff in the Senate, whose expertise, dedication, and hard work have been essential to the functioning of this institution. From the legislative experts to administrative assistants, from security personnel to the maintenance staff, each member of the Senate team plays a vital role in insuring that the Legislature can operate. Oh, by the way, thanks for wearing yellow for my day. Your professionalism, integrity, and commitment to excellence has not gone unnoticed. I am deeply grateful for your service. Thank you, my dear colleagues for your friendship, for your support, and for your commitment to public service. May the work we have begun together continue to be for the betterment of our community and our state. With deepest respect and gratitude, I say goodbye.

The specifications in this section are derived from the power and authority previously and currently possessed by the Department of Law Enforcement and are enumerated to conform with the mandates of chapter 99-379, Laws of Florida.

Section 2. Section 316.1939, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

316.1939 Refusal to submit to testing; penalties.—

(1)(a) A person who refuses to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath as required under s. 316.1932(1)(a)1.a. is subject, for a first refusal, to suspension of the person's driving privilege for 1 year unless, instead of such suspension, the person agrees to placement, at the person's own expense, of an ignition interlock device approved by the department in the same manner as devices approved by the department in accordance with s. 316.1938 on all vehicles individually or jointly leased or owned and routinely operated by the person for 1 continuous year for a first refusal when the person qualifies for reinstatement of a permanent or restricted driver license. This subsection applies in addition to any other penalties authorized by this section. The ignition interlock device placement period required by this subsection shall run concurrently with any other ignition interlock device placement period required by a court or the department.

(a) Who the arresting law enforcement officer had probable cause to believe was driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle in this state while under the influence of alcoholic beverages, chemical substances, or controlled substances;

(b) Who was placed under lawful arrest for a violation of s. 316.193 unless such test was requested pursuant to s. 316.1932(1)(c);

(c) Who was informed that, if he or she refused to submit to such test in the case of a second or subsequent refusal, his or her privilege to operate a motor vehicle would be suspended for a period of 1 year or, in the case of a second or subsequent refusal, for a period of 18 months;

(d) Who was informed that a refusal to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath or urine, if his or her driving privilege has been previously suspended or if he or she has previously been fined under s. 327.35215 for a prior refusal to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath, urine, or

(4)(3) The disposition of a criminal action under subsection (2) this section does not affect any administrative proceeding that relates to the suspension of a person's driving privilege. Section 3. Subsections (1) and (3), paragraph (a) of subsection (10), and paragraph (b) of subsection (14) of section 322.2615, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

322.2615 Suspension of license; right to review.—

(1)(a) A law enforcement officer or correctional officer shall, on behalf of the department, suspend the driving privilege of a person who is driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle and who has an unlawful blood-alcohol level or breath-alcohol level of 0.08 or higher, or of a person who has refused to submit to a urine test or a test of his or her breath-alcohol or blood-alcohol level. The officer shall take the person's driver license and issue the person a 10-day temporary permit if the person is otherwise eligible for the driving privilege and shall issue the person a notice of suspension. If a blood test has been administered, the officer or the agency employing the officer shall transmit such results to the department within 5 days after receipt of the results. If the department then determines that the person had a blood-alcohol level or breath-alcohol level of 0.08 or higher, the department shall suspend the person's driver license pursuant to subsection (3).

(b) The suspension under paragraph (a) shall be pursuant to, and the notice of suspension shall inform the driver of, the following:

1.a. The driver refused to submit to a lawful breath, blood, or urine test and his or her driving privilege is suspended for ~~a period of 1 year~~ for a first refusal unless, instead of such suspension, the driver agrees to placement, at his or her own expense, of an ignition interlock device approved by the department in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 continuous year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates, or for a period of 18 months if his or her driving privilege has been previously suspended as a result of a refusal to submit to such a test; or

b. The driver was driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle and had an unlawful blood-alcohol level or breath-alcohol level of 0.08 or higher and his or her driving privilege is suspended for ~~a period of 6 months for a first offense or for a period of 1 year if his or her driving privilege has been previously suspended under this section.~~

2. The suspension period shall commence on the date of issuance of the notice of suspension.

3. The driver may request a formal or informal review of the suspension by the department within 10 days after the date of issuance of the notice of suspension or may request a review of eligibility for a restricted driving privilege under s. 322.271(7).

4. A driver who requests a formal or informal review of the suspension for a first-time refusal of a lawful breath, blood, or urine test waives the privilege to agree to the placement, at his or her expense of an ignition interlock device approved by the department for 1 year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely op- erates if the driver requests a formal or informal review of the suspension for a first-time refusal of a lawful breath, blood, or urine test.

5. If the driver agrees to the placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device approved by the department in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates instead of a 1-year suspension for a first-time refusal of a lawful breath, blood, or urine test, the driver must notify the department of his or her agreement to the installation of an ignition interlock device and must have the ignition interlock device installed in such vehicles within 10 days after the date of the issuance of the notice of suspension. If the driver agrees to the placement of an ignition interlock device, such placement shall be entered on the driver's record and have the same effect as suspension for failure to submit to a lawful test of breath, blood, or urine.

6.4. The temporary permit issued at the time of suspension expires at midnight of the 10th day following the date of issuance of the notice of suspension.

7.5. The driver may submit to the department any materials relevant to the suspension.

(3) If the department determines that the license should be suspended pursuant to this section and if the notice of suspension has not already been served upon the person by a law enforcement officer or correctional officer as provided in subsection (1), the department shall issue a notice of suspension and, unless the notice is mailed pursuant to s. 322.251, a temporary permit that expires 10 days after the date of issuance if the driver is otherwise eligible. The notice shall also inform the driver that his or her driving privilege is suspended unless, instead of such suspension, the driver agrees to placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 continuous year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates.

(10) A person whose driver license is suspended under subsection (1) or subsection (3) may apply for issuance of a license for business or employment purposes only if the person is otherwise eligible for the driving privilege pursuant to s. 322.271.

(a) If the suspension of the driver license of the person for failure to submit to a breath, urine, or blood test is sustained, the person is not eligible to receive a license for business or employment purposes only, pursuant to s. 322.271, until 90 days have elapsed after the expiration of the last temporary permit issued and the person has had a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 installed for 1 continuous year, at the person's own expense, on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates. If the driver is not issued a 10-day permit pursuant to this section or s. 322.64 because he or she is ineligible for the permit and the suspension for failure to submit to a breath, urine, or blood test is not invalidated by the department, the driver is not eligible to receive a business or employment license pursuant to s. 322.271 until 90 days have elapsed from the date of the suspension and has had a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 installed for 1 continuous year, at the person's own expense, on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates.

(b) The disposition of any related criminal proceedings does not affect a suspension or ignition interlock placement for refusal to submit to a blood, breath, or urine test imposed under this section.

Section 4. Subsections (2) and (4), paragraph (b) of subsection (8), and subsections (11) and (15) of section 322.2616, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

322.2616 Suspension of license; persons under 21 years of age; right to review.—

(2)(a) A law enforcement officer or correctional officer shall, on behalf of the department, suspend the driving privilege of such person if the person has a blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol level of 0.02 or higher. The officer shall also suspend, on behalf of the department, the driving privilege of a person who has refused to submit to a test as provided by paragraph (b). The officer shall take the person's driver license and issue the person a 10-day temporary driving permit if the person is otherwise eligible for the driving privilege and shall issue the person a notice of suspension.

(b) The suspension under paragraph (a) must be pursuant to, and the notice of suspension must inform the driver of, the following:

1.a. The driver refused to submit to a lawful breath test and his or her driving privilege is suspended for ~~a period of 1 year~~ for a first refusal unless, instead of such suspension, the driver agrees to placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 continuous year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates, or for ~~a period of 18 months~~ if his or her driving privilege has been previously suspended as provided in this section as a result of a refusal to submit to a test; or

b. The driver was under the age of 21 and was driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while having a blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol level of 0.02 or higher; and the person's driving privilege is suspended for ~~a period of 6 months~~ for a first violation, or for ~~a period of 1 year~~ if his or her driving privilege has been previously suspended as provided in this section for driving or being in actual physical control of a motor vehicle with a blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol level of 0.02 or higher.

2. The suspension period commences on the date of issuance of the notice of suspension.

3. The driver may request a formal or informal review of the suspension by the department within 10 days after the issuance of the notice of suspension.

4. A driver who requests a formal or informal review of the suspension for a first-time refusal of a lawful breath or blood test waives the privilege to agree to the placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device for 1 year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates.

5. If the driver agrees to the placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates instead of a 1-year suspension for a first-time refusal of a lawful blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol test, the driver must notify the department of his or her agreement to the installation of an ignition interlock device and must have the ignition interlock device installed in such vehicles within 10 days after the date of the issuance of the notice of suspension. If the driver agrees to the placement of an ignition interlock device, such placement shall be entered on the driver's record and have the same effect as suspension for failure to submit to a lawful test of blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol.

6.4. A temporary permit issued at the time of the issuance of the notice of suspension shall not become effective until after 12 hours have elapsed and will expire at midnight of the 10th day following the date of issuance.

7.5. The driver may submit to the department any materials relevant to the suspension of his or her license.

(c) When a driver subject to this section has a blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol level of 0.05 or higher, the suspension shall remain in effect until such time as the driver has completed a substance abuse course offered by a DUI program licensed by the department. The driver shall assume the reasonable costs for the substance abuse course. As part of the substance abuse course, the program shall conduct a substance abuse evaluation of the driver, and notify the parents or legal guardians of drivers under the age of 19 years of the results of the evaluation. The term "substance abuse" means the abuse of alcohol or any substance named or described in Schedules I through V of s. 893.03. If a driver fails to complete the substance abuse education course and evaluation, the driver license shall not be reinstated by the department.

(d) A minor under the age of 18 years proven to be driving with a blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol level of 0.02 or higher may be taken by a law enforcement officer to the addictions receiving facility in the county in which the minor is found to be so driving, if the county makes the addictions receiving facility available for such purpose.

(4) If the department finds that the license of the person should be suspended under this section and if the notice of suspension has not already been served upon the person by a law enforcement officer or correctional officer as provided in subsection (2), the department shall issue a notice of suspension and, unless the notice is mailed under s. 322.251, a temporary driving permit that expires 10 days after the date of issuance if the driver is otherwise eligible. The notice shall also inform the driver that his or her driving privilege is suspended unless, instead of such suspension, the driver agrees to placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 continuous year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates. The department shall terminate the suspension effective on the date of ignition interlock device placement on such vehicles.

(8) In a formal review hearing under subsection (7) or an informal review hearing under subsection (5), the hearing officer shall determine by a preponderance of the evidence whether sufficient cause exists to sustain, amend, or invalidate the suspension. The scope of the review is limited to the following issues:

(b) If the license was suspended because of the individual's refusal to submit to a breath test:

1. Whether the law enforcement officer had probable cause to believe that the person was under the age of 21 and was driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle in this state with any blood-alcohol or breath-alcohol level or while under the influence of alcoholic beverages.

2. Whether the person was under the age of 21.

3. Whether the person refused to submit to a breath test after being requested to do so by a law enforcement officer or correctional officer.

4. Whether the person was told that if he or she refused to submit to a breath test his or her privilege to operate a motor vehicle would be suspended for a period of 1 year unless the driver agrees to placement, at his or her own expense, of a department-approved ignition interlock device in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 continuous year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates, or, in the case of a second or subsequent refusal, for a period of 18 months.

(11) A person whose driver license is suspended under subsection (2) or subsection (4) may apply for issuance of a license for business or employment purposes only, pursuant to s. 322.271, if the person is otherwise eligible for the driving privilege. However, such a license may not be issued until 30 days have elapsed after the expiration of the last temporary driving permit issued under this section and, if the suspension is for a first-time refusal of a blood-alcohol, breath-alcohol, or urine test and such suspension was affirmed in a formal or informal hearing, such person must have an ignition interlock device installed as approved by the department in the same manner as devices approved by the department in accordance with s. 316.1938 for 1 year on all vehicles that he or she individually or jointly leases or owns and routinely operates.

(15) The decision of the department under this section shall not be considered in any trial for a violation of s. 316.193, nor shall any written statement submitted by a person in his or her request for departmental review under this section be admissible into evidence against him or her in any such trial. The disposition of any related criminal proceedings shall not affect a suspension or ignition interlock placement imposed under this section.

Section 5. Present subsection (5) of section 322.2715, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (6), a new subsection (5) is added to that section, and subsection (1) of that section is amended, to read:

322.2715 Ignition interlock device.—

(1) Before issuing a permanent or restricted driver license under this chapter, the department shall require the placement of a department-approved ignition interlock device for any person convicted of committing an offense of driving under the influence as specified in subsection (3), or for any person who refused to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath as specified in subsection (5) and who chooses ignition interlock placement in lieu of suspension of the person's privilege to operate a motor vehicle for a period of 1 year, except that consideration may be given to those individuals having a documented medical condition that would prohibit the device from functioning normally. If a medical waiver has been granted for a convicted person seeking a restricted license, the convicted person shall not be entitled to a restricted license until the required ignition interlock device installation period under subsection (3) or subsection (5) expires, in addition to the time requirements under s. 322.271. If a medical waiver has been approved for a convicted person seeking permanent reinstatement of the driver license, the convicted person must be restricted to an employment-purposes-only license and be supervised by a licensed DUI program until the required ignition interlock device installation period under subsection (3) or subsection (5) expires. An interlock device shall be placed on all vehicles that are individually or jointly leased or owned and routinely operated by the convicted person.

(5) If a person refused to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath as required by s. 316.1932(1)(a)1.a., and it is the first time he or she refused to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath, in lieu of suspension of the person's privilege to operate a motor vehicle for a period of 1 year, the person may choose to install, at his or her own expense, a department-approved ignition interlock device on all vehicles individually or jointly leased or owned and routinely operated by the person for 1 continuous year.

Section 6. This act shall take effect October 1, 2024.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete everything before the enacting clause and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to refusal to submit to a breath, urine, or blood test; amending s. 316.1932, F.S.; requiring that a person arrested for driving or being in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence who refuses to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath incidental to a lawful arrest be told that he or she is subject, for a first refusal, to the suspension of the privilege to operate a motor vehicle unless the person agrees to the placement for a specified timeframe, at the person's own expense, of an ignition interlock device on all vehicles that are individually or jointly leased or owned and routinely operated by the person for 1 continuous year; amending s. 316.1939, F.S.; requiring that a person arrested for driving under the influence who refuses to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath be subject, for a first refusal, to the suspension of the privilege to operate a motor vehicle for a specified period unless the person agrees to the placement for a specified timeframe, at the person's own expense, of an ignition interlock device on all vehicles that are individually or jointly leased or owned and routinely operated by the person for 1 continuous year when the person qualifies for reinstatement of a permanent or restricted driver license; providing applicability; authorizing certain placement periods for ignition interlock devices to run concurrently; requiring reporting to the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles; specifying application of prohibitions and penalties; requiring the department to annually post on its website certain information; conforming provisions to changes made by the act; amending s. 322.2615, F.S.; requiring that a notice of suspension contain certain information; prohibiting eligibility to receive a license until certain actions are performed; providing construction; amending s. 322.2616, F.S.; requiring that a notice of suspension issued to persons younger than a specified age contain certain information; requiring that a certain notice of suspension include certain information; revising the scope of a formal review hearing; revising the requirements for issuance of a license after the last temporary driving permit was issued; requiring the department to terminate the suspension effective on the date of ignition interlock device placement on such vehicles; amending s. 322.2715, F.S.; directing the department to require placement of an ignition interlock device before issuing a permanent or restricted driver license to a person who refused to submit to a lawful test of his or her breath; requiring the person to install the device at his or her own expense for a specified period; providing an effective date.

For the purposes of this subsection, an investigation ~~is shall be~~ considered active as long as it is continuing with a reasonable, good faith anticipation that an administrative finding will be made in the foreseeable future. An investigation ~~is shall be~~ presumed to be inactive if no finding is made within 45 days after the complaint is filed.

(c) Notwithstanding ~~other provisions of~~ this section, the complaint and information ~~must shall~~ be available to law enforcement agencies, criminal agencies, and state attorneys in the conduct of a lawful criminal investigation.

~~(6)(2)~~ A law enforcement officer or correctional officer has the right to review his or her official personnel file at any reasonable time under the supervision of the designated records custodian. A law enforcement officer or correctional officer may attach to the file a concise statement in response to any items included in the file identified by the officer as derogatory, and copies of such items must be made available to the officer.

However, this subsection does not limit a law enforcement or correctional officer's ability to gain access to information under paragraph ~~(5)(a)~~ ~~(2)(a)~~. Additionally, a sheriff, police chief, or other head of a law enforcement agency, or his or her designee, is not precluded by this section from acknowledging the existence of a complaint and the fact that an investigation is underway.

Section 3. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 112.532, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

112.532 Law enforcement officers' and correctional officers' rights.—All law enforcement officers and correctional officers employed by or appointed to a law enforcement agency or a correctional agency shall have the following rights and privileges:

(b) Notwithstanding s. 112.533(5) ~~s. 112.533(2)~~, whenever a law enforcement officer or correctional officer is subject to disciplinary action consisting of suspension with loss of pay, demotion, or dismissal, the officer or the officer's representative ~~must shall~~, upon request, be provided with a complete copy of the investigative file, including the final investigative report and all evidence, and with the opportunity to address the findings in the report with the employing law enforcement agency before imposing disciplinary action consisting of suspension with loss of pay, demotion, or dismissal. The contents of the complaint and investigation ~~must shall~~ remain confidential until such time as the employing law enforcement agency makes a final determination whether ~~or not~~ to issue a notice of disciplinary action consisting of suspension with loss of pay, demotion, or dismissal. This paragraph does not provide law enforcement officers with a property interest or expectancy of continued employment, employment, or appointment as a law enforcement officer.

Section 4. Section 166.0486, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

166.0486 Establishment of civilian oversight boards.—

Section 5. This act shall take effect July 1, 2024.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete everything before the enacting clause and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to law enforcement and correctional officers; creating s. 30.61, F.S.; authorizing county sheriffs to establish civilian oversight boards to review the policies and procedures of the sheriff's office and its subdivisions; providing for membership of such boards; amending s. 112.533, F.S.; providing legislative intent; revising the definition of "political subdivision"; prohibiting a political subdivision from adopting or attempting to enforce certain ordinances relating to the receipt, processing, or investigation of complaints against law enforcement officers or correctional officers, or relating to civilian oversight of law enforcement agency investigations of complaints of misconduct by such officers; making technical changes; amending s. 112.532, F.S.; conforming a cross-reference; making technical changes; creating s. 166.0486, F.S.; authorizing the chief of a municipal police department to establish a civilian oversight board to review the policies and procedures of the chief's department and its subdivisions; providing for membership of such boards; providing an effective date.

Senator Ingoglia moved the following substitute amendment which was adopted:

Substitute Amendment 2 (855090) (with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 30.61, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

30.61 Establishment of civilian oversight boards.—

(1) A county sheriff may establish a civilian oversight board to review the policies and procedures of his or her office and its subdivisions.

(2) The board must be composed of at least three and up to seven members appointed by the sheriff, one of which shall be a retired law enforcement officer.

Section 2. Section 112.533, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

112.533 Receipt and processing of complaints.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature to make the process for receiving, processing, and investigation of complaints against law enforcement or correctional officers, and the rights and privileges provided in this part while under investigation, apply uniformly throughout this state and its political subdivisions.

(2) As used in this section, the term "political subdivision" means a separate agency or unit of local government created or established by law or ordinance and the officers thereof and includes, but is not limited to, an authority, a board, a branch, a bureau, a city, a commission, a consolidated government, a county, a department, a district, an institution, a metropolitan government, a municipality, an office, an officer, a public corporation, a town, or a village.

(3) A political subdivision may not adopt or attempt to enforce any ordinance relating to either of the following:

(a) The receipt, processing, or investigation by any political subdivision of this state of complaints of misconduct by law enforcement or correctional officers, except as expressly provided in this section.

(b) Civilian oversight of law enforcement agencies' investigations of complaints of misconduct by law enforcement or correctional officers.

(4)(a) Every law enforcement agency and correctional agency shall establish and put into operation a system for the receipt, investigation, and determination of complaints received by such agency from any person, which ~~shall~~ be the procedure for investigating a complaint against a law enforcement or ~~and~~ correctional officer and for determining whether to proceed with disciplinary action or to file disciplinary charges, notwithstanding any other law or ordinance to the contrary. When law enforcement or correctional agency personnel assigned the responsibility of investigating the complaint prepare an investigative report or summary, regardless of form, the person preparing the report shall, at the time the report is completed:

1. Verify pursuant to s. 92.525 that the contents of the report are true and accurate based upon the person's personal knowledge, information, and belief.

2. Include the following statement, sworn and subscribed to pursuant to s. 92.525:

"I, the undersigned, do hereby swear, under penalty of perjury, that, to the best of my personal knowledge, information, and belief, I have not knowingly or willfully deprived, or allowed another to deprive, the subject of the investigation of any of the rights contained in ss. 112.532 and 112.533, Florida Statutes."

The requirements of subparagraphs 1. and 2. ~~must~~ be completed ~~before~~ ~~prior to~~ the determination as to whether to proceed with disciplinary action or to file disciplinary charges. This subsection does not preclude the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission from exercising its authority under chapter 943.

(b)~~1~~ Any political subdivision that initiates or receives a complaint against a law enforcement officer or correctional officer ~~shall~~ ~~must~~ within 5 business days forward the complaint to the employing agency of the officer who is the subject of the complaint for review or investigation.

~~2. Notwithstanding the rights and privileges provided under this part or any provisions provided in a collective bargaining agreement, the agency head or the agency head's designee may request a sworn or certified investigator from a separate law enforcement or correctional agency to conduct the investigation when a conflict is identified with having an investigator conduct the investigation of an officer of the same employing agency; the employing agency does not have an investigator trained to conduct such investigations; or the agency's investigator is the subject of, or a witness in, the investigation and such agency is composed of any combination of 35 or fewer law enforcement officers or correctional officers. The employing agency must document the identified conflict. Upon completion of the investigation, the investigator shall present the findings without any disciplinary recommendation to the employing agency.

1. ~~Concluded the investigation with a finding~~ Not to proceed with disciplinary action or to file charges; or

2. ~~Concluded the investigation with a finding~~ To proceed with disciplinary action or to file charges.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, the officer who is the subject of the complaint, along with legal counsel or any other representative of his or her choice, may review the complaint and all statements regardless of form made by the complainant and witnesses and all existing evidence, including, but not limited to, incident reports, analyses, GPS locator information, and audio or video recordings relating to the investigation, immediately before beginning the investigative interview. All statements, regardless of form, provided by a law enforcement officer or correctional officer during the course of a complaint investigation of that officer ~~must shall~~ be made under oath pursuant to s. 92.525. Knowingly false statements given by a law enforcement officer or correctional officer under investigation may subject the law enforcement officer or correctional officer to prosecution for perjury. If a witness to a complaint is incarcerated in a correctional facility and may be under the supervision of, or have contact with, the officer under investigation, only the names and written statements of the complainant and nonincarcerated witnesses may be reviewed by the officer under investigation immediately ~~before~~ ~~prior to~~ the beginning of the investigative interview.

(b) This subsection does not apply to any public record which is exempt from public disclosure pursuant to chapter 119. For the purposes of this subsection, an investigation ~~is shall be~~ considered active as long as it is continuing with a reasonable, good faith anticipation that an administrative finding will be made in the foreseeable future. An investigation ~~is shall be~~ presumed to be inactive if no finding is made within 45 days after the complaint is filed.

(c) Notwithstanding ~~other provisions of~~ this section, the complaint and information ~~must shall~~ be available to law enforcement agencies, correctional agencies, and state attorneys in the conduct of a lawful criminal investigation.

(6)(3) A law enforcement officer or correctional officer has the right to review his or her official personnel file at any reasonable time under the supervision of the designated records custodian. A law enforcement officer or correctional officer may attach to the file a concise statement in response to any items included in the file identified by the officer as derogatory, and copies of such items must be made available to the officer.

(7)(4) Any person who is a participant in an internal investigation, including the complainant, the subject of the investigation and the subject's legal counsel or a representative of his or her choice, the investigator conducting the investigation, and any witnesses in the investigation, who willfully discloses any information obtained pursuant to the agency's investigation, including, but not limited to, the identity of the officer under investigation, the nature of the questions asked, information revealed, or documents furnished in connection with a confidential internal investigation of an agency, before such complaint, document, action, or proceeding becomes a public record as provided in this section commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. However, this subsection does not limit a law enforcement or correctional officer's ability to gain access to information under paragraph (5)(a) ~~(2)(a)~~. Additionally, a sheriff, police chief, or other head of a law enforcement agency, or his or her designee, is not precluded by this section from acknowledging the existence of a complaint and the fact that an investigation is underway.

Section 3. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) of section 112.532, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

112.532 Law enforcement officers' and correctional officers' rights.—All law enforcement officers and correctional officers employed by or appointed to a law enforcement agency or a correctional agency shall have the following rights and privileges:

(4) NOTICE OF DISCIPLINARY ACTION; COPY OF AND OPPORTUNITY TO ADDRESS CONTENTS OF INVESTIGATIVE FILE; CONFIDENTIALITY.—

(b) Notwithstanding s. 112.533(5) ~~s. 112.533(2)~~, whenever a law enforcement officer or correctional officer is subject to disciplinary action consisting of suspension with loss of pay, demotion, or dismissal, the officer or the officer's representative ~~must shall~~, upon request, be provided with a complete copy of the investigative file, including the final investigative report and all evidence, and with the opportunity to address the findings in the report with the employing law enforcement agency before imposing disciplinary action consisting of suspension with loss of pay, demotion, or dismissal. The contents of the complaint and investigation ~~must shall~~ remain confidential until such time as the employing law enforcement agency makes a final determination whether ~~or not~~ to issue a notice of disciplinary action consisting of suspension with loss of pay, demotion, or dismissal. This paragraph does not provide law enforcement officers with a property interest or expectancy of continued employment, employment, or appointment as a law enforcement officer.
